REAGAN TAX FOES STRESS INFLATION

State Bonds Pinch Hits School Building; Post Urges Mandatory Tax Withholding

Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post warned that inflation has forced interest rates so high that California is unable to sell any of its bonds at the 5 per cent maximum allowed by law. (Other Sacramento stories, page 30.)

As a result, there soon will be no money to build schools or university and state college facilities or go ahead with the California Water Project he told a joint legislative committee today.

Post said $276.9 million is needed in the next 15 months to meet existing construction contracts — and he proposed a financing plan that immediately drew administration opposition.

And he recommended the governor adopt mandatory withholding of state personal income taxes — a tax collection method that brings in more than the current system.

Reagan insists on giving Californians the tax rebate and is adamantly opposed to compulsory withholding, proposing his own voluntary plan instead. It

Hamilton Not Closing, Air Force Holds

Marinites Study Impact; Airport Takeover Urged

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

Military officials at Hamilton Air Force Base today said the closure of two major headquarters and the combat center at the base does not foreshadow the entire elimination of the base.

Novato area business and government leaders, meanwhile, expressed hopes that the base — a major prop of North Marin's economy—would remain.

A former member of the Marin County Aviation Commission, however, predicted that the closures were the first step in a complete phasing out of the base and urged the county to take steps to turn Hamilton into a major civilian airport.

Defense Secretary Melvin Laird announced at the Pentagon today that the combat center and the headquarters of the Fourth Air Force and the North American Air Defense Command's Western Region would be deactivated by September.

The Independent-Journal reported the expected closings yesterday.

The Hamilton closings were among 36 across the country which Laird said would save $95 million annually.

The annual payroll of the personnel attected at Hamilton is $5.7 million, $4 million military and $1.7 million civilian. Hamilton officials stressed, however, that some of the affected personnel would stay at Hamilton.

Personnel being reassigned to other installations will start leaving the Base after August 15.

At Hamilton, the closings will affect 637 military and 204 civilian personnel, some of whom will be assigned to other units at Hamilton, but most of whom will be transferred.

Air Force officials said the civilian employees will be offered employment elsewhere.

Hamilton officials said the base's home unit, the 78th Fighter Wing, its component units — including the Convair F106 Delta Dart — equipped 84th Fighter Interceptor Squadron — and other organizations at the base will remain.

"This definitely does not mean the Defense Department intends to eliminate Hamilton," one official said.

Ben Ostlind, former Marin aviation commissioner and long an advocate of civilian use of Hamilton, said of the closings: "I am convinced the base is being slowed down to a halt and units pulled out one at a time. The Air Force will not keep

Seven-Cent Letter Postage Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Richard M. Nixon today asked Congress to boost the price for mailing a first class letter to 7 cents. Post cards, and second and third class mail would also be raised in an effort to slash the nation's postal deficit.

In a message to Congress, Nixon said his proposals would reduce the record $1.2 billion 1970 postal deficit by more than $600 million.

The President said the only alternative to the rate increases would be to add $600 million "to the already considerable burden of our taxpayers."

Nixon proposed:

Raising the rate for first class letters and post cards 1 cents to 7 and 6 cents, respectively, effective July 1, 1969. The 10-cent air mail letter rate would remain unchanged.

Second class mail, newspapers and magazines circulating outside the county in which they are published, would be raised by 12 per cent July 1, 1970. This would be in addition to the 8 per cent increase scheduled to take effect next Jan. 1.

Third class mail, used by direct advertisers for so-called junk mail —would be increased by 16 per cent effective Jan. 1, 1970. The minimum single piece third class rate would go up 1 cent July 1. Bulk rates for third class mail are scheduled to be increased on July 1.

Faced with the "unhappy fact" of a record deficit, Nixon noted the Post office had been able to trim its $7.5 billion fiscal 1970 budget by only $140 million.

While a comprehensive review aimed at modernizing the Post Office is under way, Nixon said, "It is essential that financial pressures should not impair or reduce available services."

Nixon said Postmaster General Winton M. Blount had implemented some reforms but specific proposals requiring congressional action will be sent to Congress within the next 45 days.

The across-the-board increases, if adopted, will have

Unruh Not In Favor Of Sirhan Death

"I personally would have preferred that the jury decide to put Sirhan away for the rest of his life rather than to send him to the gas chamber," added Unruh in a statement.

It was the former state Assembly speaker's first comment on the Sirhan trial except from the witness stand. Unruh was near Kennedy's side last June 6 when the New York senator and presidential candidate was shot to death.

Unruh said today, "I mean to imply no criticism of the jury when I say now that I disagree with the jury on the final verdict for the death sentence for Sirhan.

"To close out the career of Robert Francis Kennedy by exacting the life of another human being — sane or insane, mad killer or demented exhibitionist — is not the last chapter that ought to be written in the brilliant public record of a gentleman who bore hate for no man . . ."

Cornell Moves To End Campus Strife

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cornell University faculty has reversed its earlier decision and quashed disorder charges against three Negro students, but the Ithaca, N.Y., campus hasn't yet returned to normal.

The situation was the same today at City College of New York where classes remained closed. However, two Washington, D. C., universities and Princeton University resumed classes while protests continued at some other schools.

On another major unrest front today, Harvard President Nathan M. Pusey broke public silence on the three-week-old turmoil on his Cambridge, Mass., campus and told more than 800 Business School students that "disruption and coercion has absolutely no place on this campus or any campus."

The decision late yesterday at Cornell, a reversal of a previous stand by the faculty, was denounced by some professors as a surrender to intimidation. But James A. Perkins, president of the Ivy League school, declared: "My optimism for the immediate and long range future of Cornell has enormously increased."

However, a number of classes were suspended again today to permit discussion of the issues raised by the five days of campus turmoil.

Perkins said the university should now try to find out "how black and white brothers and sisters are to work out in dignity and equality their respective values and missions."

Dr. Allan P. Sindler, chairman of the school's government department, submitted his resignation following the faculty vote, which he described as "a complete capitulation to coercion."

Blockbusting Suit Filed In Baltimore

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department filed its first suit today under the anti-blockbusting provisions of the 1968 Civil Rights Act, charging a Baltimore real estate company with discriminating against Negroes.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said the civil suit moved for an injunction to order Baltimore's Castle Realty Co. to "take such affirmative steps as may be necessary and appropriate to correct the effects of past unlawful practices."

The complaint, filed in U.S. District Court in Baltimore, marked the second blockbusting case taken up by the Justice Department under the Nixon administration.

The first came in Chicago March 28 when the government entered a suit, brought by a group of Negro homeowners, as a "friend of the court."

Blockbusting is the practice whereby speculators create a panic situation in a white community disturbed by the entry of Negroes, thereby inducing homeowners to sell at far below actual value. The homes are then resold to Negroes at prices above actual value with the speculator often realizing a huge profit from the deal.

Named in the Baltimore suit were Allen S. Mintzes and his wife, Elaine, who jointly own and operate the real estate company.

Lodge Urges Practical Troop Talks

PARIS (AP) — The United States today urged North Vietnam to join in practical steps immediately to begin withdrawing outside forces of both sides from South Vietnam.

Speaking at the 14th enlarged session of the Vietnam peace talks, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge declared that this could start a series of events to end the war. He said he saw "no good reason why that process should not begin soon."

North Vietnam representative Xuan Thuy, however, replied that the only foreign troops in South Vietnam were those of the United States and its allies and what is needed is their withdrawal.

Thuy's statement seemed to rebuff, at least for the present, Lodge's appeal to end "historical" exchanges and get down to practical problems.

Tran Buu Kiem, representative of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front, also continued to press a hard-line policy. He insisted that the way to end the war was for the United States to withdraw its forces and stop clinging to the present Saigon administration.

"If the United States refuses to follow this trend," Kiem said. "and instead continues to intensify its war of aggression, it will sustain still heavier losses."

Thuy denied at the four-hour and 50-minute session that his government was trying to drive the United States into a corner by insisting on the unilateral withdrawal of U.S. forces.

South Vietnam's Pham Dang Lam told his adversaries that the Saigon government would take a sympathetica attitude toward the Vietnamese who are now bearing arms against it.

"The government of the republic of Vietnam," he added, "only demands that they abandon violence in order, along with other citizens, that they may participate in the democratic political life within the legal and constitutional framework and in a spirit of great national unity and national reconciliation."

This appeared to be in line with previous statements that

Inflation Outracing Workers' Paychecks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department reported today that last month's biggest rise in living costs in 18 years wiped out large pay gains of some 45 million workers, but a department spokesman insisted that the fires of inflation will start cooling.

The Bay area, already one of the most expensive places in the nation to live, got even more costly during the past four months.

Charles Roumasset, regional director of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said the cost of living in the San Francisco Metropolitan area was 5.1 per cent higher than in April 1968; he said the consumer price index rose 1.7 per cent since December.

Roumasset said goods and services costing $10 in 1957-59 now cost $12.89.

The March rise of eight-tenths of 1 per cent in consumer prices, nationwide, showed a continuing inflationary psychology on the part of the American people, said Asst. Commissioner Arnold Chase of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The price hikes pushed the Labor Department's consumer price index to 125.6, meaning it cost $12.56 last month for every $10 worth of typical living expenses in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

Chase said he is confident that fiscal and monetary restraints previously imposed by the government, including the 10 per cent federal income tax surcharge, will soon show a slowing effect on the nation's sharpest price rise since the Korean War.

"No fuel has been added to the fire," Chase said. "The fire will just have to burn itself out and I am confident it will do so."

A White House source said earlier that the Nixon administration is giving no consideration whatever to any type of wage-price controls, such as the government imposed in 1951 to halt a wartime inflationary spiral.

The bureau's price report for March said food increased four-

B52s Pound Reds In Heaviest Raids

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers made their heaviest raids of the Vietnam war last night near the Cambodian border, dropping more than 2,000 tons of bombs along a 30-mile stretch northwest of Saigon, the U.S. Command reported.

The targets of the giant Stratofortresses were enemy bases in the Viet Cong's War Zone C, where the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have built a network of camouflaged roads and infiltration routes on which to move supplies and troops from Cambodia into Vietnam. Some of the bombing was within a mile and a half of the border.

Meanwhile, the Viet Cong offensive dwindled to 11 rocket and mortar attacks last night, with over-all damage and casualties reported light as usual.

Ground fighting again was scattered, but in one fierce clash yesterday five miles south of the demilitarized zone, eight U.S. Marines were killed and 19 wounded by North Vietnamese troops firing heavy weapons from caves. The bodies of 14 North Vietnamese were found after the fight.

Two more U.S. helicopters were shot down yesterday, killing nine Americans and wounding three. This raised the total of U.S. helicopters reported lost in the war to 2,551.

The casualty totals last week were 216 Americans killed in action, 1,602 U.S. troops wounded, 329 government soldiers killed, 884 wounded, and 3,379 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed.

This brought the total casualties reported for the first eight weeks of the Viet Cong offensive to 2,360 Americans and 2,618 South Vietnamese killed in action, 14,321 U.S. troops and 10,207 South Vietnamese soldiers wounded, and 34,75 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed.

Detroit Loses 15 Catholic Schools

DETROIT (AP) — Acting on an investigative report citing extreme costs to run schools, Archbishop John F. Dearden announced yesterday that six Roman Catholic high schools and nine elementary schools in his archdiocese must close in June.

He said it was with "extreme regret" that he made the announcement affecting 1,600 high school and 1,800 grade school pupils. The new closing order brings to 47 the number of archdiocesan schools scheduled to shut down.

Accident Claims A Fourth Victim

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A fourth person died yesterday of injuries suffered last week when a speeding car crashed into a crowd of pedestrians and a bus at a Mission Street intersection.

Danilo Melo, 21, San Francisco, a hotel valet, never regained consciousness following the April 15 crash. He died at a local hospital.

The driver, chauffeur Robert Rivers, 32, remained in city jail in lieu of $25,000 bond. He faces a preliminary hearing May 2 on charges of manslaughter, drunk driving, driving on the wrong side of the street, and going through a stop light.

Congressional Revamping Gains Favor

WASHINGTON (AP- — Speaker John W. McCormack, never known in the past to favor congressional reorganization, says he is delighted that a serious effort is under way to streamline House procedures.

Several reorganizations bills have been introduced this session, but the first serious move toward getting an acceptable measure didn't come until Tuesday when House Rules Committee Chairman William D. Colmer, D-Miss., appointed a subcommittee to come up with appropriate legislation.

McCormack, D-Mass., said in an interview:

"I have asked them to come up with a reorganization bill. I've been after them about it all along and I'm delighted that they're going to do something about it."

House sources said this is the first time the speaker has actively worked for a reorganization measure. In the past, they said, he never openly opposed such bills, but by refusing to put the prestige of his office behind reorganization efforts he virtually caused their defeat.

The subcommittee will study all reorganization proposals at its disposal, including three bills introduced this session and proposals made in the past by Republicans.

The Aid to Families with Dependent Children task force will hold its final meetings next Tuesday and on May 13. Both meetings will begin at 8 p.m. at the Civic Center.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Growth Pattern

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau says the race to the suburbs seems to be tapering off but the Negro population of cities is growing while some whites still are moving out of town.

The rate of growth in the suburbs in the 1960s has been 2.8 per cent compared with 4 per cent in the 1950s, the bureau reported yesterday.

From 1960 to 1968 the entire U.S. population rose 20 million with 14 million of the growth in suburban areas. Only one million of the suburban settlers were non-whites.

In that same period the Negro population of U.S. cities increased by almost 23 per cent while the number of city whites was off 4 per cent.

With flags and placards and cheers the citizens of this City of Little Men — a haven for neglected, delinquent or orphan boys — greeted him as a heroic son.

Speaking to some 500 Boys Town High School students in their dining room last night, the skipper of the USS Pueblo told the boys, "Each of you is a brother to me."

Forgotten GI Ends Up Jailed

PORTERVILLE (UPI) — A Porterville soldier who said the Army forgot about him for 15 months today was lodged in the Porterville City Jail.

Pfc. Richard G. Beaty, 21, was arrested last night on charges of speeding and drunken driving. Police said he refused to take a blood alcohol test, which could result in the loss of his driver's license.

Beaty was to report to Fort Ord tomorrow to find out if the Army has decided to discharge him and pay him some 11 months back pay.

He said he was given a 30-day leave in November, 1967, and told to await orders to ship out to Vietnam, but the orders never came.

War Continues

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — The end of the Nigerian civil war is not in sight despite the reported capture yesterday of Umuahia, Biafra's provisional capital.

One high-ranking Nigerian officer said he expected five more years of fighting before federal forces subdue the Ibo tribesmen of Eastern Nigeria who seceded from the federation on May 30, 1967.

The Biafrans are expected to make their capital now in Orlu, 36 miles northwest of Umuahia. It is near the two airstrips by which they receive arms and other supplies.

Uneasy Quiet

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Scattered violence punctuated an uneasy quiet in Northern Ireland last night after the government agreed to the Roman Catholic demand for universal suffrage in local elections.

Shortly after midnight saboteurs blew up a water pumping station near Belfast airport. The blast reduced water supplies to the capital, where water already is being rationed because of two pipe explosions last week.

Lebanon Riots Kill 16 Over Palestine Issue

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A new clash broke out between Palestinians and troops in Lebanon today and four persons were reported killed despite a state of emergency designed to keep the nation calm.

Several thousand Palestinian refugees, protesting restrictions on Arab guerrillas operating in Lebanon against Israel, broke through a cordon of troops in the southern town of Tyre and attacked a police station.

Twelve persons were killed and 62 were wounded in scattered clashes yesterday. The imposition of a state of emergency was accompanied by curfews in Beirut and five other major towns.

One witness said the Palestinians burned a Lebanese flag at the police station before being driven back to Tyre's Rashidien refugee camp. The camp holds 10,000 Palestinians uprooted from homes in Israel.

Strict military censorship has been imposed under the state of emergency laws. All security forces were placed under the command of the army chief, Gen. Emile Bustani.

In the north of the country armored cars sealed off the Christian village of Zhorta near Tripoli for fear of clashes between Christians and Moslems.

In Beirut's Palestinian quarter many people defied the curfew to carry on normal business. Police dispersed gatherings of more than two or three but there was no violence.

Premier Rashid Karami considered resigning but was persuaded by cabinet colleagues to remain in office, government sources reported. He made a dramatic midnight appeal for national unity and pledged the government would take all necessary measures to maintain law and order.

The premier said the entire country supports the Palestinian cause and noted that the government approved a new conscription law last night.

Lebanon's population is about half Christian and half Moslem, and the government generally has tried to steer clear of involvement in the Middle East fighting.

In line with this, it has tried to prevent Palestinian commandos from using Lebanon as a base for operations against Israel, but in reprisal for an Arab attack on a Israeli El Al airliner at Athens last December, Israeli commandos attacked Beirut International Airport and destroyed 13 Lebanese planes.

GOP-Dixie Union Still Has Strength

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Republican-Southern Democratic coalition, showing it can still call some legislative shots has passed a bill limiting extension of federal aid to schools for two years.

In joining the Republican, the Southern Democrats brought about the defeat of the three-year extension sought by their party leaders.

In past years, even during Democratic administrations, the Southerners formed with Republicans in a coalition to stop what they considered too liberal legislation.

House Democratic leaders found yesterday they were powerless to stop the coalition even in this time of a Republican in the White House.

Besides limiting aid extension to two years, a move supported by President Nixon, the coalition, with help from a key northern Democrat, Rep. Edith Green of Oregon, also moved another step forward in its drive to provide lump-sum grants instead of funding specified programs.

The bill, sent to the Senate floor after three days of debate would bring together four programs which now require separate applications and separate grants.

Defeat of the House Democratic leadership on the bill was especially bitter because it went to great lengths to hold the southerners in line.

Democratic leaders, who met for several days with southern representatives had trimmed their own bill to meet demands.

But on the final roll call vote that put the Green-sponsored package over and sealed their defeat, they lost 235-184, with 60 Democrats deserting to the Republicans. Only nine Republicans supported the version backed by the Democrats.

The House then joined to give final approval to the bill 400-17.

The bill continues until fiscal 1972 the Elementary and Secondary Education Act that funnels more than $1 billion a year into school districts that have a high concentration of children from low-income families.

The bill also make funds available for library materials, experimental educational programs and aid to migrant and handicapped children. A total of $5 billion a year is authorized for the programs, but the actual money appropriated has been less than half that amount.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Amnesty is being demanded for "all students arrested in the San Francisco State College rebellion."

A scribbled demand was handed yesterday to acting president S. I. Hayakawa by a delegation of 10 demonstrators.

Hayakawa told the delegation he was "glad to receive this peaceful protest" and would prepare an answer.

The judge said the only evience to support disciplinary action against the two was a police report that more than 400 suspects had been arrested and booked.

Nixon Pays Chief Justice Dinner Salute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren, accepting a White House salute from one-time political foe Richard M. Nixon, says he will leave his post "without malice in my heart toward anyone."

Warren, who retires in June, was hailed yesterday by the President at a black tie dinner at the White House, where champagne toasts washed down some bitter memories.

Among the 108 guests Nixon gathered to honor Warren's 50 years of public service, were the chief justice's family, friends, court colleagues, government officials and seven men often mentioned as candidates for the top seat on the Supreme Court.

Before his 1953 appointment as chief justice by the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Republican Warren was a political power in California, serving in several state offices, including three terms as governor.

In 1948 he was Dewey's vice presidential running mate.

During that time Nixon criticized Warren's political stand as too liberal. He also has attacked many of the decisions of the Supreme Court under Warren, on the same grounds.

But since winning the presidency, Nixon's relations with Warren have warmed and he asked the chief justice to administer his oath of office last Jan. 20.

$1 Million Gift

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Immaculate Heart College announced a $1 million gift today from Mr. and Mrs. Bing Crosby for construction of a science building at the school's planned new campus in Claremont.

school's South Campus, which they barricaded Tuesday.

Gallagher said he would meet with protest leaders today, and said he had gained one concession: "They have told me I can sleep in my own home tonight" —inside the occupied area. He spent Tuesday night off campus.

About 50 white radicals occupied Klapper Hall, adjacent to South Campus, to support the Black and Puerto Rican Student Coalition demands for greater enrollment of minority group students among the college's 20,000 undergraduates and for a separate school of black studies.

About a dozen students, led by Students for a Democratic Society, stormed the administration building at American University in Washington, D.C., and evicted the president. Eight hours later they were forced out by a band of youths led by fraternity members. There was brief scuffling but no reported injuries.

At Washington's Georgetown University, 30 SDS members ended at 3:15 a.m. a takeover of the Institute of Sino-Soviet Studies after the administration gave them 15 minutes to clear the building or it would enforce a court restraining order. During their five-hour protest, the students smashed furniture, broke windows and ripped up files.

They demanded abolition of the institute, the Reserve Officers Training Corps program, the Naval Logistics Research Laboratory and the Human Resources Office and sought open enrollment for Negroes.

SDS members at Princeton blocked the entrance to the Institute for Defense Analyses, which does Defense Department research, but left after three hours when police arrived. In several scuffles between students, the dean of students was knocked on the ground. Classes, however, were being held today.

Meanwhile, Columbia University marked the anniversary of last spring's major disorders with a peaceful rally by whites to support black student demands for a larger role in reviewing applications from blacks.

At other campuses:

Cambridge — Officials at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology promised to look into MIT's link with defense projects. Defense Department figures show MIT led all universities in fiscal 1967 with $92.4 million allocated for military work.

Syracuse, N.Y.—Hundreds of students boycotted classes to protest an increase in tuition. No incidents were reported.

At Fordham, a Roman Catholic school, 100 students remained in the outer office of the college president to demand abolition of ROTC. Rev. Michael Walsh said a court injunction would be served on them today.

The sit-in at Queensborough awaited a decision by a state Supreme Court justice on whether to grant a school application for a restraining order. The protest is aimed at the refusal to rehire a leftwing English professor. President Kurt Schmeller, who has refused to meet with the protesters, fired three professors for joining the sit-in.

The Queens College sit-in appeared to be losing support, and its organizers, the Ad hoc Committee to End Political Suppression, said "other action is planned."

Atlanta, Ga.—The board chairman of Morehouse College said the trustees consider null and void two concessions they granted students who imprisoned them last week. But student government leaders has already decided to repudiate the entire pact, which was signed with about 100 students of the school's 1,000.

Lafayette, Ind.—Students called off a boycott of Purdue University after President Frederick L. Hovde said he would ask legislators for more state funds. The week-old protest was aimed at scheduled tuition increases.

IT'S NOW THE FEDERAL BUILDING

The old Mission Branch of the San Rafael Post Office — now the Federal Building — reopens tomorrow at third and D streets after eight months of renovation. Several federal offices and armed forces recruiters will share space with the post office in the remodeled building. The Mission post office has been temporarily located in the Albert Arcade. Local offices of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Civil Service Commission, Selective Service and Internal Revenue Service will also occupy quarters in the new building. Cost of the renovations was about $270,000. (Independent-Journal photo) tenths of 1 per cent, housing nine-tenths, clothing eight-tenths, transportation 1.9 per cent, and medical care eight-tenths.

COST

The two largest single factors were a further increase in home mortgage interest rates, up 3.5 per cent last month and 10 per cent higher over the past nine months, and a 6 per cent rise in used car prices which followed a 6.5 per cent jump in February.

Living costs rose 1.5 per cent fort he first quarter of this year, the steepest climb of any calendar quarter in some 13 years.

But Chase said other economic indicators showed that the nation's economic rate is slowing, which should bring a corresponding slackening in price increases.

There has been a general expectation of price increases on the part of the public; this inflationary psychology prompts them to buy things before prices go up, "and in turn helps bring about more price increases," Chase said.

The bureau also reported a substantial rise in wholesale prices of food and industrial raw materials. The wholesale price index went up five-tenths of 1 per cent in March, to 111.7, and preliminary April figures indicate a further rise of two-tenths, the bureau said.

The rise in living costs included substantial rises in property taxes, ranging from 1.5 per cent to as much as 33 per cent in some cities, but Chase said "they are supposed to be deflationary" although reflected in the consumer price index.

Retail gasoline prices went up 1 cent per gallon or more in many cities and there were increases in air fares, intercity bus and fail fares that, combined with the used car price hikes, contributed to the big jump in transportation costs.

Sausalito Man To Face Charges

A Sausalito man, who was declared insane and has spent several months in a state mental hospital, has returned and will face charges of burglarizing a Mill Valley doctor's office on Dec. 28.

A preliminary hearing for Daniel Heber Lightsey, 32, was set yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for Tuesday.

Office Burgled

An electric typewriter and a tape recorder were taken from an office in the Community Mental Health Center Tuesday, sheriff's deputies said today, but the tape recorder later was found by a deputy in brush behind the center.

Air Force Explains Removals At Hamilton

Hamilton as a flying base for long."

He urged Marin officials to "get something going out there," adding: "We should work with the military . . . for a joint air traffic pattern. Once they say yes to that, it will not take long to get commitments from the necessary people to get the financing to make a go as a major airport.

"I do not want them to leave suddenly. I just want them to give us time enough to pick up the ball. It is our only hope for a major airport in the county."

Other civic and business leaders were optimistic that the base would remain. Richard Nave, president of the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau and a member of the aviation commission, said, "We have gone through this before. Of course, any decrease in the number of personnel in Hamilton, which is our number one industry, is not good for our economy . . . (but) I feel that Hamilton is going to be there for a long time. Other units will be sent to take their place to keep Hamilton going."

In its announcement, the Air Force said there is no planned movement of replacement units into Hamilton but officials added that many functions already there will be beefed up. No firm figures were available, however.

The combat center building at the base will be placed in a "housekeeping status" pending future requirements, the air force said. The equipment of the affected organizations will be redistributed to other sites, or fill authorized requirements in the Air Force, Army or Navy or other federal requirements, an Air Force statement said.

J. Wayne Womack, former Novato Mayor and a present member of the Novato City Council, said the cutback would have some effect on the area's economy "but it should not be major because of the terrific housing shortage at this time."

He added, "I hate to see them go, but I feel there will be a replacement for the Fourth Air Force with another operation."

George Barnwell, president of the Novato Chamber of Commerce, said Novato and Marin County will feel the impact of a reduction in Hamilton's payroll, but he added that reductions at the base had been rumored for some time.

Barnwell said increased efforts should be made to work out joint civilian use of the base.

The Fourth Air Force headquarters was activated at Hamilton in 1946 when it was moved from San Francisco. It was responsible for the air defense of the entire western United States. The unit was deactivated from 1960 to 1966 when the 28th Air Division at Hamilton served the same functions.

The Western Norad Region was activated at Hamilton when the Fourth Air Force was reactivated on April 1, 1966. The headquarters was responsible for the aerospace defense of the 11 western states and the two western Canadian provinces.

Air Force spokesmen said the functions currently handled by the affected units at Hamilton will be transferred to headquarters of the Tenth Air Force at Richards-Gebaur Air Force Base near Kansas City. The Central NORAD Region currently headquartered at Richards-Gebaur will become the Western NORAD Region.

Other commands at Hamilton include the Western Communications region, the Western Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Center, the Sixth Air Force Reserve Region, the 349th Military Airlift Wing, the 41st Rescue and Recovery Squadron, and the Aerospace Defense Command's Noncommissioned Officers Academy.

The Air Force announced earlier this year that the 349th would be transferred to Travis Air Force Base in July.

The base also has small units of the Military Airlift Command, the Tactical Air Command and the Air Force auditor General's office.

Army Maj. Gen. James R. Winn, commander of the Western NORAD Region, and Air Force Maj. Gen. Robert W. Burns, Fourth Air Force commander, said in a joint statement today:

"The realignment is part of a phased modernization of the nation's air defense system and the remaining radar and command and control system in the conitnental United States will provide the necessary effective coverage of the nation's vital peripheral zone."

The Air Force said the deactivations across the nation are part of an "extensive reorganization of NORAD's ground environment and command and control structure designed to achieve more survivability and to provide an effective, modernized follow-in system."

The announcement added: "This reorganization is part of the Department of Defense decision, reported last year, to begin a phased modernization of the air defense system.

"The concept is to phase down to a smaller and less costly system, while taking advantage of technical advances, improve operational concepts and the integration of Federal Aviation Administration facilities."

Slavery was abolished in New York State July 4, 1827.

TAX

Posts' report is expected to be cited by Democrats and Republicans in the legislature seeking to kill or revise Reagan's plan.

Finance Director Caspar Weinberger, speaking for the administration, rejected withholding. "I disagree with it strongly," he said. "It is not a solution."

Weinberger said, "there is a danger we may overplay the seriousness" of the bond problem, and said it was "temporary" — caused only by inflation.

Post warned that "if the state is unable to market its water bonds or issue bond anticipation notes or obtain some other sources of financing, then the State Water Project will come to a halt this fall."

Alan Browne, a vice president of the Bank of America, told the committee that "the effect on California of a halt in the construction program would be catastrophic."

Issuing of bond anticipation notes — short term bonds — was another solution advanced by Post. Others included boosting the maximum interest rate and issuing revenue bonds that could be repaid with revenues from state projects.

He also said the average life of current bond could be reduced, allowing their sale at somewhat lower interest rates.

Later, the legislature moved ahead with a partial solution. The Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee approved a package of legislation by Sen. Gordon Cologne, R-Indio, to raise from 5 to 6 per cent the interest rate the state is allowed to pay.

individual members of the Viet Cong could participate in future elections if they renounced the use of force and did not label themselves as Communists.

The U.S. representative said the talks had spent 13 weeks going into the history of the Vietnam conflict and that it is now time to begin serious negotiations.

"Let us, therefore, now get down to the task of bringing the war in Vietnam to an end," he said. "Let us seek practical solutions to practical problems."

Lodge repeated that the United States is "prepared to begin the withdrawal of U.S. forces from South Vietnam simultaneously with the external forces on your side."

the effect of making those who use the postal service most bear the costs more adequately, the President said.

Blount told reporters at a White House briefing that in 1792 when Benjamin Franklin was the nation's first postmaster general, it also cost 6 cents — but to mail just one sheet of paper 30 miles — by pony express or stage coach.

The rates declined through the 19th century to reach a low of 2 cents for a half ounce in 1883 and 2 cents for one ounce in 1885.

The rate went to 5 cents in 1963 and to 6 cents at the beginning of last year for first class mail. Other classes have been raised by varying amounts.

Petition Decries Speeding Traffic

Laurel Grove Avenue in Kentfield is becoming a "hazardous speedway" and should be controlled by arterial stop signs at Cypress Avenue and Mann Drive, according to a petition filed yesterday.

A petition, with 105 signatures, was submitted to the Marin County Board of Supervisors by E. J. Hennessy of 107 Laurel Grove Avenue.

"Many automobiles atta in rates of 40 and 55 miles per hour on the stretch between Fay Drive and Palm Avenue," said Hennessy. "It is the contention of the petitioners that arterial stop signs must be installed northwest bound and southeast bound in the area of Cypress and Mann."

In the past three years, said Hennessy, he has had to call an ambulance three times because of traffic injuries.

Music Room Looted Of Stereo Speakers

The room, in the Fine Arts Building, was apparently entered in late afternoon.

Ecumenical Housing Group Elects Slate

Douglas P. Ferguson, Mill Valley attorney, was elected last night as president of the Ecumenical Association for Housing in Marin.

Directors of the nonprofit corporation, meeting at the Civic Center, adopted bylaws and set annual dues at $25 per member.

Vice president, Mrs. L. L. Schaeffer of Mill Valley Community Church; secretary, Edwin Weed of St. Stephens Church of Belvedere; treasurer, Robert Macgowan of Redwood National Bank; members at large, Lawrence Livingston Jr. of Marin Fellowship of Unitarians, Rev. Francis Geddes of First Congregational Church of San Rafael and Elmo Cerruti of St. Sebastians Church of Greenbrae.

Westminster Presbyterian Church of Tiburon and St. Anselm's Church of San Anselmo joined the association last night to bring total membership to 23.

Martin Mackey, executive director, reported that the association has applied for funds from various foundations to support sponsors of low-income housing.

One such sponsor is the First Congregational Church in Los Ranchitos, which is planning a housing project on church property at North San Pedro Road and Merrydale Road. The board of supervisors last week approved rezoning of the church property from agricultural to apartment zoning, with a density of 19 units per acre.

"Our role is to serve as a catalyst for such sponsors of housing," said Ferguson. "Our role is to give professional advice, short term financial assistance to sponsors, and to encourage smaller housing projects that may not come under federal housing aid."

Mother, Young Children Slain

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A mother and her two young daughters were shot to death today and police took their father into custody after he pointed a rifle at himself.

Police officials identified the victims as Mrs. Sadako McQuiston, 37, and her daughters, Lillian, 11, and Ana, 10.

Court records showed that the Japanese-born Mrs. McQuiston filed yesterday for divorce from her husband, Albert, 35.

Officers said McQuiston, a truck driver, and neighbors called police to the family home early today. Seven squad cars and some 15 policemen arrived and flushed McQuiston from the house with tear gas.

Warning On Pill Use By Students

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A clinical toxicologist has warned that use of barbiturate pills in San Francisco public schools has become a "virtual epidemic" which police say may be fueled by the theft of 250,000 pills from a warehouse.

"It gives them a cheap drunk," said Dr. Richard Rappolt Sr. "Under the influence of these pills, the children become quite bold. Their inhibitions are lowered, and they say and do things they wouldn't normally do—such as steal cars or commit burglaries."

He said the pills, seconal, nembutal and tuinal, are prescribed by doctors as sleeping pills.

Vandalism Reported To Office Building

Vandalism totaling $200 to the Del Prado building, 880 Las Gallinas Avenue, San Rafael, has been reported by Leon Wachter of San Diego, part owner of the building, police said.

Wachter reported yesterday that several light fixtures were torn off the building and flood lamps destroyed Friday.

Seeking Rentals

Switchboard of Marin is seeking rooms, apartments and homes in the $50 to $150 range to assist persons who call Switchboard in search of housing, officials of the information service have reported. Persons who can add to the Switchboard's available housing file may contact the service in San Rafael.

Big Profit On Land By Reagan Pals

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A group of aides and former aides to Gov. Ronald Reagan is reselling 2,000 acres of undeveloped Sierra foothill land for $1.5 million — a profit of about 50 per cent.

"We're very, very pleased," said the spokesman for the group, Curtis C. Patrick of Los Angeles. "We made a real, fair profit."

The sale was reported today by Martin Salditch of the Riverside Press and Enterprise and confirmed by Patrick in a telephone interview.

Patrick is the former Reagan assistant who arranged the purchase of the land in 1967. It is being sold now to a Los Angeles investment group of physicians. The sale is in escrow and should become final by July 1.

The land is in Nevada County about 50 miles northeast of Sacramento.

Although Reagan was not in on the purchase and resale, he sometimes went to the ranch to ride horses.

Patrick has resigned from the governor's staff since the purchase was made. Other former Reagan aides who were part of the purchase group were Philip M. Battaglia, Richard Quinn, Mrs. Lee Holt and Lyn Nofziger. They formed the Grass Valley Land Co. under Patrick. The firm now is being dissolved, he said.

Present Reagan aides who were members of the group are Arthur F. VanCourt, Reagan's travel secretary and security guard, and Charles P. Tyson, a special assistant in the governor's office.

Windshield Broken

Albert William Gannon, a teacher at San Rafael Military Academy, reported yesterday someone had thrown a bottle through the windshield of his truck while it was parked near the academy, police said. Damage was $150.

Heart Resuscitation Course Is Scheduled

The Novato Fire District board agreed last night to be host to a cardio-pulmonary resuscitation course sometine in May, according to Fire Chief Jack Kidder.

The three-hour course will be conducted by the Marin County Heart Association, he said.

In attendance at the main fire station will be the Novato firemen and police, Hamilton Air Force Base emergency personnel, base hospital staff members and the Marinwood Fire Department, according to Kidder. The exact date of the course has not yet been set, he said.

The Novato Fire District Board Also:

REFUND — Received a $6,624 refund from the state compensation insurance for fiscal 1966-67 when the district did not have any injury accidents.

OPEN HOUSE — Set May 10 for open house honoring Fire Service Day. There will be open house at each fire station and the snorkel will be set up various shopping centers to give demonstrations.

JOINT DRILL — Agreed to hold a joint drill with the Hamilton Air Force Base Fire Department on fighting structural fires with a date to be set later.

PERSONNEL — Named fireman John Rentz to the fire prevention bureau and accepted the resignation of fireman James Bowers who is leaving the city after being employed by the department for 11 years.

HYDRANT — Authorized installation of a new fire hydrant on Mirabella Avenue between First and Fourth streets, costing $300 and also authorized purchase of six first aid kits at $102 and seven canteens at $30.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday to go over the preliminary budget.

Couple Hurt In Collision Of Cars

A San Rafael couple was treated at Marin General Hospital last night following a collision between their car and one driven by Ernest E. Adnerson, 66, of Redwood Drive, Woodacre on Second Street at the intersection with the Highway 101 on-ramp, San Rafael.

Paul Gagnon, 62, of 11 Bret Avenue, the driver was treated for a back strain and broken rib, while Dorothy Gagnon, 58, was treated for multiple bruises and a broken rib, hospital officials said.

Meeting Not Held

The Kentfield Fire District board did not meet last night for lack of a quorum, Fire Chief Kenneth Kamp said. The next meeting, to review the proposed 1969-70 budget, will be at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the firehouse.

San Rafael Sewer Pact Worked Out

Members of the San Rafael City Council and San Rafael Sanitation District board agreed informally last night on settlement of jurisdictional problems.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini said a proposal was made for the city to take over operation of sewer lines while the sanitation district would take control of the pumping station and build a new one.

The plan will be presented at a city council meeting for approval in the near future, Bettini said.

The mayor said the city's sewer operation has been muddled in the past because of overlapping ownership of street lines.

Earlier, the district board met and agreed to an engineering study on relocation of the pumping station along Francisco Boulevard.

Under consideration is a site at Second and Irwin streets, where the city expects to obtain land from the state Division of Highways.

Directors requested that Dominic Selmi of Dan Coleman and Associates be invited to attend their next meeting at 5 p.m. May 14 at city hall to discuss the proposed study and fee.

Special Meeting

The Petaluma Planning Commission will meet in special session at 8 a.m. tomorrow at city hall to consider the final map for the Foothill Manor subdivision on South McDowell Boulevard and site designs for duplexes planned by Norman Rollins on Cherry Street and Magnoli Avenue and for a proposed triplex planned by Wes Gehrke at 424 Seventh Street.

Air Force Motorist Now Out Of Danger

A 21-year-old Travis Air Force Base man, thrown from his car after a crash on Highway 37 in Southern Sonoma on April 15, was reported out of danger today at Letterman General Hospital after being listed in serious condition since the accident.

The man, Jimmie L. Johnson, suffered spinal injuries and a fractured jaw in a head-on collision.

$17,000 In Bookstore Funds Urged For Needy Collegians

By FRANK FARRARA

Marin Junior College District trustees will be faced tonight with an urgent request to free $17,000 in estimated student bookstore profits to aid needy students on an emergency basis.

The cry to help students in need of immediate funds, sometimes angry and sometimes loud, but always persistent, came last night at a meeting of a special committee on financial aid to students.

There was a tense moment when student Del Mar Jackson, said he had been insulted by acting president Louis H. Herkenhoff and called Herkenhoff a 12-letter name.

"I'm going to slay the — out of you," Jackson said as he arose from his chair and faced the seated Herkenhoff.

"I didn't insult you," Herkenhoff replied.

Faculty member Noel Nelson, a committee member rose from his chair, as did Trustee Charles W. Gray, a spectator, and the incident passed.

Charles Sizemore, a counselor and committee member, urged the group to decide the issue in a constructive, positive way."

Educators "learn to use the word game and how to confuse people, and people who don't relate get up and get mad," he noted.

A co-ed criticized the reaction to Jackson's outburst saying that when there was talk about students starving, there was no reaction, but upon hearing a few words: "You all freak out."

Through the long discussion, including reports of hungry students and students sleeping in cars for lack of funds, the issue boiled down to seeking immediate aid.

Student O'Herrow Marshall, a committee member, moved that the committee recommend that the board restore to the student fund the percentage of bookstore profits, taken from the fund last fall.

Business Mgr. Norman Bird explained that there would be about $17,000 involved, $14,000 previously anticipated profit and $3,000 in additional profit.

Trustee Robert E. Oliver suggested that the committee could ask for the additional $3,000 tonight, and consider the $14,000, which the district has already allocated in its budget, at next Wednesday's committee session.

(The board will meet at 8 p.m. in Room G-1 of the physical education plant.)

Trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy wanted to wait until after next Wednesday's session before bringing a recommendation to the board.

She said she wanted to make sure that the committee's recommendation would be effective, and meet the student needs.

The vote to bring the recommendation to the board tonight was 3-2 with Sizemore and students Marshall and Bill Acosta for it, and Oliver and Mrs. Deedy opposing.

Abstaining were Herkenhoff, Irwin P. Diamond, dean of students, and faculty members, Nelson and Charles N. Willis.

Student Michael McGinn contended the students were vehement because the board "isn't flexible." He suggested that "in light of the human need and the importance of the problem" the board dip into its reserve fund."

Sizemore charged that the committee was "organized against the students, otherwise the students wouldn't have to fight so hard."

Students shouldn't have to fight," he said. "We're fighting each other over some pennies, all of us."

Money has to be used for life and the committee "has to consider the entire community including students," Sizemore asserted.

He said he wasn't opposed to the work-study program, but that "work-study alone" wasn't financial aid, and that the needs of the students relate to attending school, not "to personal luxury."

Committee members talked about the need for food housing, transportation, and medical assistance and books, and Herkenhoff said local tax money couldn't be used for student aid.

Charles Herndon, financial aids officer, reported that 290 students have received financial assistance, and the committee agreed one of its goals is to find funds for the 1969-70 college year.

One student said when students have "to live in cars for three or four months," next to $50,000 homes in Kent Woodlands "that's bad."

Student John Turner admittedly taking a "revolutionary posture" said the college "now serving the white middle class" has to meet the needs of the black community. He asked why the college couldn't provide funds for "a brother starving. Until you provide financial assistance to him, he's starving."

Students said with the college spending $19,000 for signs, there should be money for student aid. "We just want the money," one girl said. "We have left ourselves vulnerable and placed out trust to the committee. It's up to you to figure out how to get the money."

Acosta, who contended that students weren't being listened to, asked why students have to resort to saying or else."

McGinn said that some students need immediate financial aid or they will have to drop out of college.

Students also charged the non-student members of the committee were being evasive. Mrs. Deedy said it wasn't a matter of being evasive, but that the financial problems were extremely complex.

Sizemore said as "first as a man and as a black man" he "resented the kind of treatment I'm getting here tonight," and said he was "confronted with a kind of racism."

He said he wouldn't be an accessory "to destroying students or acceding to my own destruction."

One woman said she couldn't conceive of anyone starving in California, and advised speakers to avoid "straight Students for a Democratic Society rantings." She was met with some hoots.

Marshall said the push for student aid wasn't only for black students, but all needy students. The bookstore profits should "be given back to students and dispersed to the financial aid program," he said.

Harry Gilbert, vice president of Associated Students, suggested that the college turn over the bookstore to the students, so the profits could be used for financial aid.

"We can't make the mistakes made on other campuses around the country," Sizemore concluded.

There also was some comment that the cafeteria could become a student operation and profits used for financial aid.

All agreed that any emergency funds would only be the start of meeting the problem, and that other sources of funds will be sought to meet needs next year and beyond.

Defense Sprays Hearing Slated

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, announced yesterday his consumers subcommittee will conduct public hearings next month to warn the public about chemical sprays sold for self-defense.

The sprays are similar to the chemicals Mace used by law enforcement agencies for riot control, Moss said. But he said the hearings, scheduled for May 21, would consider public use.

"I want to bring to the attention of the American public the dangers of buying and relying upon these chemical sprays," Moss said.

Water Panel, Seeger Clash On Bay's Fate

Seeger reported to the board he had received a communication from former supervisor Peter H. Behr of Citizens to Save San Francisco Bay asking for support for bay controls

He asked for board authorization to write a letter to local legislators asking that a bill to preserve the bay be passed or the life of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission be extended.

"Is this really our province?" asked Jordan L. Martinelli Jr.

"It's a community interest thing," Seeger replied.

"I think they're going a little too far," said Dr. L. L. Stanley, pointing out only a few birds live on the marshlands they're trying to save. The land is needed of people, Stanley maintained.

Martinelli pointed out that people own the marsh property and are paying taxes on it but can't develop it.

Chairman Robert G. Anderson and Stanley agreed that development of the marshland could benefit the water district because those people would have to have water.

"I think we should soft-pedal this," said Stanley firmly.

William A. Marcus, attempting to stop the unusual exchange, pointed out the directors were not against BCDC, but may be against its principles, a clarification that brought a low roar from other directors who quickly decided Seeger could write a letter, without a formal board position.

The Marin Municipal Water District board also:

VEHICLES — Agreed to buy a total of $37,868 worth of heavy automotive equipment from three firms, Marin Dodge, DeLong Chevrolet and S and C Motor Co. of San Francisco.

BEACON HILL—Accepted the low bid of A. Herb Saxton of San Rafael for $2,400 to clear and excavate for a Beacon Hill tank off Waldo Grade.

RELOCATION — Approved the low bid of Soiland Co. of Novato for $11,655, about $3,500 under the engineer's estimate, for relocation of a water main in conjunction with widening Magnolia Avenue in Larkspur.

SWIG TANK — Accepted the bid of Pacific Wood Tank Co. of Healdsburg for $4,445 to build a 50,000 gallon tank on property owned by Melvin Swig.

DISASTER — Agreed to apply for $20,000 in federal disaster funds to make repairs in a slide area near the Bon Tempe Treatment Plant.

PUMPS, TANKS — Received the 1969 pump and tank report and learned that of 145 pumps three do not meet district standards and of 129 tanks, nine are below standard. Seeger said some of them would be brought up to standard this year.

PIPELINES — Approved pipeline extensions for Pacific Coast Holdings Management Corp. for the El Marioneor office building near the Civic Center for $16,291, and Charles Paganini on San Pedro Road near Loch Lomond Yacht Harbor at $20,472, with all costs to be borne by developers.

BENEFITS — Amended a district ordinance to permit the district to pay full cost of health benefits for directors, attorneys and auditors, to conform with a state law passed in 1959.

MEETING — Adjourned to 1:30 p.m. May 12 at the district office instead of May 14 because Seeger will be out of town.

Dispenser Looted

Petaluma police reported yesterday that thieves has pried open a soft drink machine Tuesday night and had taken $3.50 in change at Ray Howard's Phillips 66 service station, Fourth and B streets.

Water District Ends Marin Insurance Ties

After 40 years with local firms, Marin Municipal Water District directors yesterday agreed to buy its liability insurance for the next three years from a San Francisco firm offering a lower price.

Directors unanimously approved a contract with the Fred S. James Co. for Harbor Insurance Co. at $47,635 for the first year.

Independent Insurance Agents Association of Marin, with whom the district has dealt for 40 years, presented a proposal from Minto and Wilkie Insurance Agency Inc. of San Rafael for $54,710.

The district's bill for liability insurance this year is expected to be $48,635.

James Weider, representing the Marin group, said the reason for the premium increase is that "the existing carrier knows the district policy regarding handling of claims . . . because of the number of incidents which you wish processed as claims."

David Oliver of the San Francisco firm said claims handling policies had been included in the specifications.

Weider also argued that Harbor Insurance Co. did not rate as high as previously required by the district. Oliver replied that among the firm's customers is the state Department of Water Resources, the Los Angeles water utility and other major water firms.

Weider persisted. "I would recommend checking on Harbor Insurance Co." before deciding.

William R. Seeger, general manager of the water district, said he had faith in the James company and pointed out "they are putting their reputation on the line."

Director Jordan L. Martinelli Jr., commented, "If we accept a bid and give away $7,000, we'd be open to question."

Weider maintained the premium cost was secondary to the service provided by the local firms, but board chairman Robert G. Anderson said that to him buying insurance is like buying a bunch of pipe.

Driectors agreed some time ago to seek bids on the open market. Previously, the district had left it up to the independent agents group to seek bids among themselves and come up with a package.

Lighting On Agenda

The Fairfax Design Review board will meet at 10 a.m. Monday at Pacific Gas and Electric Co., San Rafael, to discuss proposed street lighting fixtures for the city's underground utility district.

India Will Buy French Missiles

NEW DELHI — Teh Indian government has signed a multi-million-dollar deal with a French firm to manufacture ground-to-air and air-to-air missiles, it was revealed yesterday.

The French firm's bid was accepted because the terms were better than British firms could offer to the Indian Defense Ministry.

Informed sources said India had decided to buy French missiles, since the armed forces found Russian missiles not very effective.

The leading daily Hindu said that Russian surface-to-air missiles had failed to intercept Pakistan Air Force planes near Delhi in the 1965 war.

Midwest Flood Loss Set At $100 Million

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Damage in part of the Midwestern flood zone was placed at more than $100 million yesterday as Illinois and Iowa braced for the approaching crest of the Mississippi River.

The flood threat appeared to be over for Minnesota and Wisconsin, and officials were optimistic that damage in Illinois and Iowa would be minimal because of flood preparations.

The Army Corps of Engineers said damage for northern Iowa, eastern North Dakota, western Wisconsin and all but the southwestern edge of Minnesota was $109.4 million. They added that $7.5 million for emergency dike construction prevented an additional $145-million loss in these areas.

The Army engineers' estimate included $40 million in farm losses, $29 million in transportation losses, $16 million in flood preparations and cleanup and $24 million in urban damages.

Marijuana Suspect To Juvenile Court

The case of Pamela Ann Sickles, 18, of Portola Valley, accused of marijuana possession, has been referred to Marin Juvenile Court, it was reported yesterday in municipal court.

Viet Veteran Reveals He Tried Stockade Suicide

FORT ORD (UPI)—A young combat veteran told an Army court-martial board yesterday he attempted suicide because "I couldn't take any more" of the stockade at the San Francisco Presidio.

Pvt. Richard L. Gentile, 20, of Hampton, Va., is among 14 GI prisoners on trial for mutiny as the result of a sit-in demonstration at the stockade by 27 inmates last Oct. 14.

Gentile was confined to the stockade one day before the demonstration for participating in a San Francisco peace march, despite an order that all Presidio soldiers were restricted to the post that day.

The witness said he became a "complete pacifist" after serving one year in Vietnam as a machinegunner. He said he participated in the peace march because he felt "I had a constitutional right to exercise freedom of assembly."

Gentile showed each of the five members of the court a red scar running from his wrist to the crook of his elbow which he said was the result of a suicide attempt.

Gentile, the son of a career Air Force noncommissioned officer, said he considered the Presidio stockade commander, Capt. Robert Lamont, "a very poor officer."

"If Lamont were doing a good job he would have taken the list of grievances and said he would look into them and try to change the things that were wrong," Gentile said.

The Bering Sea and Strait were named after explorer Vitus J. Bering.

Racism Seminar Times Announced

Cuts Seen For Pentagon By ABM Foe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington says Congress may cut Pentagon spending across the board unless the Senate Armed Services Committee defers deployment of President Nixon's Safeguard missile defense system.

The Missouri Democrat spoke out yesterday as the committee completed two days of public hearings proposal to protect U.S. missile sites.

Symington said that in the past 22 years he had never seen the committee reject a single proposed weapons system.

"If on this particular system we can't just once show this should be deferred, I predict that the Senate will recommend —and very possibly the House also—a major across-the-board cut" in the $80 billion Pentagon budget, Symington said. He exempted the $400 million in missile defense research which he believes should continue.

HEARING RESULTS

Symington said the hearings had bolstered his position opposing Safeguard, but Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., saw the sessions as strengthening the proposal. Eight witnesses appeared.

"All eight have some respect for it," Stennis said. "All eight argue it's the most advanced system we have despite its deficiencies."

To delay deployment, Stennis said, would "burn up precious time" needed to developing a defense against a possible Soviet threat in the mid-1970s.

Stennis also challenged Symington's contention the committee has always rubber-stamped Pentagon requests for new weapons systems. He noted some funds were blocked for the controversial TFX fighter-bomber and the Nike-Hercules, one of the first antimissile systems.

SYSTEM DROPPED

"The overall system Nike-Ajax was deployed and abandoned," Symington retorted. "Nike-Hercules was deployed and should be abandoned."

There will be three or four weeks of closed hearing before the committee gets down to voting on the military procurement authorization bill, first of four with Safeguard funds. The measure probably won't get to the full Senate until mid-June at the earliest.

Home Burgled

Estes John Smyrni of 20 Loma Linda Road, San Rafael, reported yesterday his house had been burglarized sometime during the day. Missing were a television and a set of flatware valued at a total of $350, police said. Entry was gained by kicking in a door.

SIRHAN'S NEXT HOME?—If Sirhan B. Sirhan is brought to San Quentin, this is the type of Death Row cell he will occupy while awaiting execution for the murder of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. (AP Wirephoto)

DEATH ROW QUESTION

Sirhan May Not Be Held In San Quentin

If Sirhan B. Sirhan is brought to San Quentin Prison, he will be jailed separately from other condemned inmates, but visible to them through a screen.

What makes Sirhan's trip to San Quentin uncertain, however, is a bill by Assemblyman Carlos J. Moorhead, R-Glendale, which would enable the state Department of Corrections to confine prisoners under sentence to the gas chamber at other facilities than San Quentin.

A hearin on the bill, which contains an urgency clause, was held yesterday in Sacramento before the Assembly Criminal Procedures Committee. Raymond K. Procunier, director of the Department of Corrections, testified that Sirhan would be taken to the State Medical Facility at Vacaville, bypassing San Quentin until the execution, if the bill passed the Legislature and were signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Committee members greeted the bill coolly, howerver, with Asssemblyman W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, saying, "I think Sirhan should be treated just the way we treat every other prisoner."

Sirhan is to appear again in Los Angeles Superior Court May 14 for motions on a new trial and formal sentencing. He was sentenced to die by a jury yesterday for the murder of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

If Sirhan is brought to San Quentin, he will be placed in a four-by-nine-foot cell in an isolation area at the end of one of the two condemned units at the prison, according to Associate Warden James W. L. Park. The isolation area consists of six cells, but three will be screened from Sirhan and the other two will be locked.

From his location, Sirhan will look down the corridor through another screen at the 30 cells occupied by other condemned inmates.

Warden Louis S. Nelson said Sirhan would receive no privileges. Like other Death Row inmates, he will be permitted exercise outside his cell.

At Vacaville, meanwhile, three cells, one containing a shower, are scheduled to be prepared for Sirhan's use. The unit will be screened from other prisoners.

Newton Parole Plea Is Denied

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Huey Newton, co-founder of the Black Panthers and now serving a two to 15 year prison term for the fatal shooting of a policeman, yesterday was denied his application for parole by the California Adult Authority.

Newton, 26, was convicted last Sept. 8 of voluntary manslaughter in the death of Oakland policeman John Frey, 23, who was shot with his own pistol after he stopped Newton for a routine traffic violation.

He has been serving his time at Los Padres Correctional Institution in Southern California.

Newton will not be eligible to apply again for parole until April 1970.

Jurors 'Don't Buy' Sirhan Psychiatrists' Testimony

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The jury believed Sirhan Bishara Sirhan's mind was impaired, says juror George Stitzel, but not to a degree to affect its verdict—death in the gas chamber for the assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

What of the month-long testimony from psychiatrists and psychologists as the defense tried to prove Sirhan lacked the mental capacity to form a mature and meaningful plot against Kennedy?

"It stunk—I don't buy that stuff," said Albert N. Federico, another juror. He expressed his view to newsmen after the verdict was announced in court yesterday.

Stitzel, 57, a pressroom foreman at the Los Angeles Times, was asked: What was the overriding consideration that made him vote the death penalty?

"The gravity of the crime," he told newsmen. "The cold-blooded murder of an individual. A planned murder."

Did he believe the jury would have decreed death if the victim had not been Kennedy, a candidate for president? "I think we would . . . as long as it was this cold-blooded, heinous crime."

Other jurors said the same thing.

Also in Los Angeles, one of the five persons Sirhan wounded said of the young Arab sentenced to die in California's gas chamber: "Death is too good for him."

Ira Goldstein, 20, said after the jury's verdict yesterday "It would be better for him to stay in jail for good and know why he's there." He said he expected the death penalty, however, in the case.

William Weisel, 31, another of those wounded in the attack, said the death penalty was appropriate.

In Jordan, the death sentence was viewed as unjust but the only thing to be expected from the United States, a spokesman for the Palestinian guerrilla organization Al Fatah said today.

Many Jordanians expressed the same sentiment when told that a California jury had recommended that Sirhan die in the gas chamber. There was sorrow for the young Arab and bitterness toward the United States but little surprise.

"How else would you expect the Americans to treat the Palestinians?" said a university student.

Stiffer Penalties On Bay Pollution

I-J Special Report

NAPA — Tough new penalties against water polluters, including court action to bar a violating public agency from granting building permits and from annexing new areas, were adopted yesterday by the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board.

"For years we've gone just so far, and could go no further," said director Sidney S. Lippow of Martinez. "Without teeth, you can do nothing," he said, adding that some violating public agencies even have declined to show up at board meetings to report what they were doing to stop polluting the bay.

Under previous policy, all the board could do is issue a cease and desist order against polluters, but the possibility of contempt of court was the only penalty in that procedure.

Under the new policy adopted yesterday in the Napa City Hall, the board will certify cease and desist orders to the appropriate district attorney "whenever it finds that a discharger is not proceeding with due diligence."

If a district attorney failed to heed the board's request that he take court action, the board then could turn the matter over to the attorney general for legal steps.

Strong objections to the new penalties were voiced by the City and County of San Francisco, but no one else opposed them.

City Engineer Robert C. Levy testified he was "somewhat fearful" of the language of the new policy, declaring it would "stop the normal economic life of a city." His fears were confirmed when the board told him that San Francisco could be barred from issuing a building permit for a high-rise if it were subjected to the new panalty.

(San Francisco was ranked number 1 on the priority list of violators in the nine-county region in 1968 by the control board staff.)

"The city is committed to cleaning up the bay," said Levy, "but there may be some disagreements timingwise and standardwise"

Director Edward A. Teresi of San Jose assured Levy that the board was not going "to sit here and take no action while a city goes on its merry way."

Levy also objected unsuccessfully to the new penalty policy's provision that a violator would be negligent if it failed to submit a progress report to the regional board within 45 days of a date required by a cease and desist order. Under the San Francisco Board of Supervisors' committee system, he said, it is "very difficult" to act within 45 days.

But Lippow shot back that "the way San Francisco wants to operate is their business — let them change their committee meetings. We have got to have guidelines to force your committees to meet and act," Lippow argued.

"I think we feel we're not progressing fast enough," said chairman William C. Weber of San Mateo, "but I don't think we're going to bring the city (San Francisco) to a standstill at all.

"All we can do is request the district attorney to act. Hopefully, this will be changed by the Legislature." He favored empowering the board to act on its own without having to go through a district attorney.

The board's executive officer, Fred H. Dierker, noted that about 30 districts and cities are under cease and desist orders against dumping polluted water into the bay. In Marin, orders have been issued against the Novato Sanitary District and the Bolinas Community Public Utility District.

The new penalty policy also provided that a violator may be found negligent if it misses any deadline in a cease and desist order by 90 days, or if it "significantly increases" the amount of waste flow.

Another penalty, a fine of $100,000 a month against polluters, is being considered by the Legislature.

San Quentin Promises Pollution Halt

I-J Special Report

NAPA — San Quentin Prison, a prominent bay polluter for several years, promised yesterday to do something about its mess by the end of this year.

And the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board promised to take the state to court if the new treatment facilities are not in operation at the prison by Jan. 1, 1970.

The regional board has been prodding the state to stop pollution form the prison's sewage and industrial wastes, but with no luck. The prison consistently has violated the board's standards on floating sewage, water discoloration, odors, grease, settleable matter and disinfection, the board's staff reported yesterday.

The regional board voted three years ago to have the prison submit a time schedule by January, 1968, for meeting water quality standards. The board later granted the prison additional time to evaluate a 1967 study of sewage problems throughout the county.

The state Department of General Services, the prison's engineering consultant, has agreed to replace some treatment and pumping facilities at the prison, the board's staff reported yesterday. Also, secondary treatment facilities will be built next year "should experience prove these items necessary," the state advised the board.

Also scheduled by the end of the year at the prison is an extension of the discharge pipe to ensure that wastes will be submerged, the staff reported.

If the prison were not a state agency, the regional board's staff report noted, "we would have recommended adoption of a cease and desist order, especially since the prison was one of the top 14 violators of requirements since 1968." The act that created the regional board, however, does not allow it to issue orders against state agencies.

The county's master plan for sewerage, the staff said, anticipates eventual abandonment of the prison's sewage treatment plant. Instead, the prison wastes would be treated by a larger plant also serving adjacent sanitary districts.

The resolution adopted unanimously by the board declared that "failure by the prison to take any step in accordance with this schedule will be cause for the board to take other appropriate remedies."

The schedule called for completion of plans by June 15, award of construction contracts by July 15, completion of construction by Dec. 15, and demonstration of compliance with the board's standards by March 15, 1970.

A report from the San Rafael Sanitation District on its progress in meeting board standards was postponed to the board's next meeting on May 22.

Burglary Case Sent To Juvenile Court

The case of Anthony Robert Battaglia, 19, of San Rafael has been referred to Marin Juvenile Court, it was reported yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

He is accused of burglary and was arrested by San Rafael police who said they saw him attempting to enter a car on April 7.

Juvenile Court Refuses Weed Case

The case of James Kott, 19, of Mill Valley, accused of marijuana possession, has been refused by Marin Juvenile Court and a preliminary hearing was set yesterday for June 10 in Municipal Court.

Kott is a codefendant with Peter Bruce Winston, 22, and Gayle Cecilia Solon, 24, all of whom were arrested in a raid March 25 at the Diaz Ranch on Panoramic Highway near Mill Valley.

British Guest Speaks On Abortion Laws

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Jill Knight, conservative member of the British Parliament for three years, is a charmer.

One of the youngest of the 25 women among the 630 members, she has a sparkling personality, ready wit and quick intelligence. It is easy to understand why she was chosen from 215 candidates to represent the 75,000 people in the Edgbaston constituency in Birmingham — famous for years as that of the former prime minister Neville Chamberlain.

In private life Mrs. Knight is the wife of Montague Knight, an optometrist, and mother of 18 and 15-year-old sons. She is in the Bay Area paying a return visit to friends among the 60 outstanding American woman who made the woman-to-woman personal diplomacy tour of Russia, Hungary and Czechoslovakia last fall after stopping in London, where they entertained the women members of the British Parliament.

TUESDAY SHE was the guest at a luncheon at the Metropolitan Club in San Francisco given by Mrs. Constant M. Van Vlierden of Sausalito, one of the organizers of the tour, and another member, Mrs. Roland Pierotti of San Francisco, with 12 other members of the tour present.

Mrs. Knight spoke informally, since her visit on the West Coast is a personal and social one, but what she said was of wide interest, especially on the results of the liberal legal abortion laws in Britain after one year of operation.

A former practicing attorney, she had been invited by a group of doctors and lawyers in Chicago, Ill., to come to this country to speak on this subject.

"If you go down the road of legal abortion, you open a box of snakes!" she warned vehemently. "We have learned a disastrous lesson in Britain. The answer is not legal abortion but contraception and planned parenthood.

"MY OBJECTIONS are not religious. I think that if a women's health is in danger in pregnancy and a choice must be made, you must save the woman because of her husband and possibly other children."

Her first objection to legal abortion, she said, is that though two doctors have to agree that the danger to the mental or physical health of a pregnant woman is greater if the pregnancy is continued than if it is terminated, it is almost impossible to determine this.

Her next objection, she said, is that, "Once you make abortion legal, many women stop bothering with birth control. A study of one group showed that 75 per cent were not even trying to stop birth.

ONE REASON for this, she pointed out, is that many quite normal married women don't want another child at first, and if abortion is available will take advantage of it immediately, whereas they might not later.

And part of the problem is with doctors, Mrs. Knight explained. She said that all of the registration and other procedures with a woman who wants an abortion take so long that many doctors are saying they just don't do abortions.

"Illegal abortions have not stopped," she went on, "and what is happening is that nursing homes are set up wholly for this purpose. For $360 a woman can get an abortion. It has become a frightening business. A woman can go in in the morning and be on the train back home in a couple of hours. People are in it for the money."

The situation is so bad, Mrs. Knight said, that many women are coming in from other countries, and an attempt is being made to arrange a regular flight from Paris for this purpose.

ANOTHER BAD problem she described was that because of the number of legal abortions, hospitals are having trouble accommodating those women who need operations for other gynecological reasons.

Eighty-five per cent of abortions are done in two categories, she said, for unmarried young girls who say their lives would be ruined, and for "the over-burdened mum with too many children."

The difficulty with the unmarried young girls is that many come back for the second, third and more times wanting abortions, she said.

For the "over-burdened mum" Mrs. Knight feels the answer is sterilization, because this is available to a man or woman if they have had enough children, or if a woman has health reasons, such as a lot of bad miscarriages.

THE MOST horrifying aspect of the abortion law in Britain, Mrs. Knight charged, is the lack of a time limit for abortions.

"Either have a limit on the time you can abort or go all out for planned parenthood," she urged, citing one 26-week pregnancy aborted that almost resulted in death of a living infant.

The distinguished visitor had a few comments on women in politics.

"I'M NOT an aggressive feminist," she said. "I want to see women in politics only if they are qualified. I don't think they should be chosen because they are women, but if they are as good as men they should have a chance to be elected."

She said that in Britain women do a great deal of campaigning and helping with party fund raising that pays most of the expenses of candidates.

A candidate may legally contribute no more than 25 pounds, or about $60 to his own campaign, she said. She feels that the American system in which candidates have to spend enormous amounts of money deprives government service of highly qualified persons.

By RUTH YOUNGBLOOD

HONOLULU (UPI)—An attractive blue-eyed blonde has some advice for any would-be female motorcycle drag racers, "Forget you're a girl, have guts and practice."

Miss Sharon Lee Kornyei, a trophy-winning motorcycle drag racer, is getting anxious for this summer's racing season to begin.

If any of her male colleagues had doubts about her drag racing proficiency, the 25-year-old Miss Kornyei proved by her performances that a girl "who is serious about it" is sturdy competition.

MISS KORNYEI, the first female to participate in organized drag races in Hawaii, highlighted the winter season by racing her Yamaha 180 to second place in the South Pacific Championships, beating out motorcycles in all other classes.

She has trophies from other races she participated in at Hawaii Raceway Park and a smaller motorcycle, a Yamaha 80, which she uses to get around town.

"I never thought about drag racing when I first got a bike," she said. "I needed transportation for a newspaper route, and a motorcycle was all I could afford."

Miss Kornyei said a few months later she and a friend were watching a drag race, and he commented that she was a better driver than any of the others.

"I THOUGHT, if I'm so good, why aren't I out there? That was the beginning because two weeks later, I was in my first drag race," the 1967 Labor Day Championships.

She concedes that a female drag racer probably will have rougher going than a male when she first starts racing.

"Everyone watches a girl," she said. "The pressure is greater because people are just waiting for you to make a mistake and fall.

A drag strip is no place for frills, however. While racing, she wears a helmet with racing number 23 painted on it, a leather jacket, heavy pants, gloves and boots.

MALE RACERS never have shown any hard feelings after she beat them, and she is treated with "respect and good will."

The driver, who goes as fast as 70 miles per hour over the finish line of the one-fourth mile drag strip course, said she has no time to worry.

"It's while I'm waiting in the pits that I'm nervous," she said, "but as soon as the race starts I'm too busy thinking about my reflexes and coordination."

As editor of the Hawaii Motorcycle Association's bulletin, Miss Kornyei is concerned with improving motorcyclists' image and fighting Hawaii's compulsory helmet law.

"WE WANT to combat the stereotype that some people have of a bearded guy in a denim jacket with cutoff sleeves and emblems all over it. A lot of worthy people ride motorcycles."

Miss Kornyei said the association's case asking for the repeal of the state helmet law which makes it illegal to operate a motorcycle without a helmet is pending before the Hawaiian Supreme Court.

"I wouldn't ride without a helmet," she said, "but I think it's unconstitutional to force people to wear them."

Gaily Decorated Lagoon Fleet Reeps Generous Judges Awards

By MOLLY MARIN

Echoes are heard of the opening of the Belvedere Lagoon boating season, highlighted by a large parade of gaily decorated craft circumnavigating the Belvedere Bayou on Sunday afternoon.

Judges, enchanted with the scene, were generous with awards for the decorated fleet, according to Richard Stoehrs, chairman of the day.

In the non-sail category, Lou Hymans, most beautiful, "Viking Ship;" Frank Davidson, "Alligator," most unusual. The "most disreputable" award went to Mrs. Shirley McRae, "Onassis' Christina."

The Lido fleet was voted the best fleet in decoration and participation. Honorable mentions were given to the James Levorsens and Thomas Eubanks, for their colorful jibs; the Gerald Stratfords and Charles Pattersons, for the best of Lido fleet; the Robert Abbots, "Canoeful of Indians," Dick Solinsky, children's honorable mention, "USS Peacemaker;" Gerald Jampolskys, "Wreathed FJ," Craig Patterson's surfboard.

And, surprisingly, that innocent vessel, "The Good Ship Lollipop," featuring four young girls in Shirley Temple outfits, cannot be identified. The names of the young ladies are unknown to the committee. Femmes fatales on the Lollipop?

COL. (RET.) and Mrs. Chester A. Iverson Jr. of Novato are vacationing in the Hawaiian Islands.

CAPT. RONALD D. Herzog returned to Mill Valley early this month from Vietnam and, following his marriage to June Shuler of South Carolina on April 8, has left for Fort Bliss, Tex., where the couple will live. The marriage took place at Peace Lutheran Church, in Tennessee Valley, and the reception was held at the Mill Valley home of his aunt, Mrs. Carl E. Woltmann.

Captain Herzog is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Herzog of Nokomis, Ill., and the bride is the daughter of Mrs. Cobia B. Shuler of Charleston, S.C.

Vietnamese Orphanage Survives And Grows In War Torn Village

By HORST FAAS

Without shoving or pushing, they fell in line and crouched low, heads between their arms.

"IT'S AN unusual way to run an orphanage," said Nguyen Van Su, "but we have to do our best to keep these poor children alive when the shooting starts around here."

The village 15 miles east of Saigon was carved from the jungle by Su and voluntary helpers —Buddhist monks and nuns, Catholic social workers, members of half a dozen Vietnamese sects—almost two years ago.

DESPITE THE presence of huge U.S. Army bases, a Thailand army division and Vietnamese outposts less than a mile away, the war is still being fought at the doorstep of the children's sanctuary.

"Every other day woodcutters working in our area see Viet Cong soldiers in the jungle—but we can't tell the Americans because they may start a battle here, and the war could easily spill over into the orphans' village," said Su.

He recounted how two months ago the Viet Cong ambushed a Vietnamese convoy right outside the gates of the orphans' village on Route 15.

"When four wounded soldiers dragged themselves through our gate to get medical aid from the monks, the Viet Cong fired after them. Some days later a truck full of American soldiers was blown 30 feet high on the same spot, when a Viet Cong mine exploded.

"FOR SEVERAL days American soldiers fired into the brush when they passed. Many bullets flew overhead. But we were lucky. So far only one child has been wounded."

Last week the elders of the orphans' village wrote President Nguyen Van Thieu and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front, asking both to take the site of the orphange out of their combat zones for the duration of the war. Neither has replied yet.

Now the only protection for the children is the slit trenches and large signs posted around the village reading "Please Don't shoot at the Orphans' Village." They are Vietnamese, English, Thai and Korean.

REFERRING TO these multilingual signs a Buddhist nun said, "I wish the soldiers knew that their own kids are living here, we have eight American babies, some Koreans and two Filipinos. Three French children and a German boy, all 15 years old, were left over from the French-Indochina War. Three Japanese kids were born when Japanese engineers built the power plant north of here five years ago."

Most of the 1,630 children—ranging from a few months old to 18 years of age—were orphaned by the war. Many do not know what happened to their parents. Some were brought by desperate mothers who found themselves with too many children and no means of support after their husbands were killed.

Tran Tri Tru, a 7-year-old boy, and his three younger sisters were brought here by an uncle after their parents were killed during fighting in Saigon's Gia Dinh suburb last year.

A 13-year-old girl, who looks like she is 7, wept bitterly during her first day with the other children in the orphanage. Her mother, a war widow from Saigon said she had to give up at least one of her three children because of her husband's death.

SINCE INTENSIFIED fighting resumed with this year's Viet Cong spring offensive, the population of the orphan village has grown rapidly. Often as many as 25 children are admitted in a day.

From the beginning, the village has not sought monetary help from anyone. Gifts of lumber, tin roofing, medicine or machinery are welcomed but not money.

"Money is the beginning of all corruption," Su told an American officer who asked how his soldiers could help.

The Americans have cleared some land, sent cement and lumber. Medics come over occasionally. All toys in the village were donated by Americans.

Today the daily profit of the village is a comfortable 56,000 piasters, $500. It comes from a soybean curd factory, a rice mill and the sale of handwoven mats and oil lamps made of empty C-ration cans. These pay for the 1,800 pounds of rice eaten daily.

THE VEGETABLES for the exclusively vegetarian menu are grown in the village. Su says, "The orphans' village serves humanitarian purposes only. We do not recognize divisions of religions or nationalities. We want to give love, to build the peace."

TEARS ROLL DOWN the face of 13-year-old South Vietnamese girl on her first day in the classroom at Nguyen Van Su's village for orphaned and abandoned children in the war-torn country. Not an orphan, the girl was brought to the village because there was not enough food for all the children at home. Her mother, a food peddler in Saigon, promised to visit her regularly. Her father is in the army. (AP Wirephoto)

Teen Blames Parents For Start That Has Him Out Of 'Swim'

DEAR HELEN:

I'm a 15-year-old boy with an unusual hang-up. My problem is that I never have anything to look forward to or anything to live for.

I blame my parents because they started me off this way. Monday through Friday I go to school, do homework, household chores, and on Saturdays I help my father and sister with housework while my mother goes shopping and gets her hair done! My parents, both teachers, are kind of dead anyway. They never play tennis or golf or ski with the family, and they have set my life in an awful rut.

The real problem is that since I have nothing to look forward to, I procrastinate and daydream, so I don't finish my school work, and its wrecking my grades. I'm smart and am told I have high potential, but I don't know whether I can't study because I'm depressed or depressed because I don't study.

I know what you're going to say: Take up a sport. But how? I'm so terrible at sports that nobody will practice with me. I never really learned any games as I'm not actually interested in them, but now I realize sports and recreation are mandatory for mental and physical health.

Please give me some suggestions on how I can get myself back into the swing of things. — WASTING AWAY

DEAR W. A.

For heavens sake, get off your apathy, and stop looking at life through the small end of a funnel. You've beamed in on a phony excuse for your failure ("My parents!"), a fine dodge for a fellow who won't face the truth.

Expert counseling (or a strong re-think program on your own) might prove what I suspect: It's fear, not dead parents that keeps you home daydreaming. You won't try — sports, making friends, relating — because you are afraid of rejection, and it's easier to load the blame on your folks than say, "I'm responsible for my own life. With a little help and a lot of effort, I can learn to like myself and then others will like me too."

Perhaps your parents could provide that help if you'd ask them. Leave off the resentment and tell them the real reason for your depressions — loneliness, isn't it? — and I think your funnel vision will be cured. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am 18 years old and this married woman is 23. We worked together last summer. She told me she was going to get a divorce. I saw her a lot after hours, and then she left me to take up with a good-for-nothing.

Now I am a good friend of her husband's, and have found out he isn't what she said. I feel guilty about that affair, but I don't really want to cause her trouble. She wrote and said she was sorry for dumping me, but I think it was because she didn't want me in court for the divorce. If I tell about us, she will probably lose her three children as her husband wants to prove her an unfit mother. If I don't tell, he will hate me, and if I do, she will.

I guess you can't make up my mind for me, but if you print this letter it may be a warning to guys that they should stay away from married (but willing) women! — JERRY.

DEAR JERRY:

No, I can't make up your mind, but you might find it easier if you answer one question honestly: Which parent will do best for the kids? — H.

Group Forming To Aid Handicapped

Teen-agers and young adults interested in aiding the handicapped are invited to attend a meeting tonight from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at 70 (K and L) Woodland Avenue in San Rafael. The meeting is to form the organization to be called Marin County Youth Volunteers to Help the Handicapped.

"I didn't know there was such a need in this field," said Carol Bullock, who is spearheading the formation, "until I attended Youth California Council for Retarded Children conference last November.

CAROL, who is a senior at Marin Catholic High School, hopes to attend Sonoma State and San Francisco State Colleges and receive a teaching degree in special education.

"I might change my mind, but right now I would like to work toward teaching autistic children."

An autistic child, she explained, is one who is emotionally disturbed to the extent of not speaking at all or speaking but only in an uncommunicative way.

CITING A real need in Marin County and elsewhere for such a youth organization, she said, "I know of a handicapped child who so wanted to attend a circus to which he received a free ticket but didn't go because there was no one to take him. Parents," she said, "are often times busy with other things or just may not feel like wrestling with a wheelchair, crutches or braces on a particular day. This is where we can help."

The teen-ager became interested in the handicapped when she was hired to sit for a mentally retarded child and has spent a good part of her time doing volunteer work for the mentally and physically retarded.

"There are just not enough people at the present time to help," she said.

THERE ARE many youths now who work with the handicapped in a meaningful way, she feels, but there is a need to unify, expand, exchange ideas and work toward and fulfill worthwhile projects.

Part of the letter sent to youths between the ages of 13 and 25 stated, "How does youth help? By a phone call to someone for whom the phone never rings . . . by a trip to the zoo with little kids who rarely go out of their own back yard . . . by a game of pitch and toss with a 15-year-old who has never learned to catch a ball . . . by a postcard to a girl in an institution who loves pictures but can't read . . . by understanding the needs and capabilities of the mentally and physically handicapped and sharing that understanding with others."

"We, of course, haven't begun to reach the youth in the county with the letters we sent to 250 teen-agers inviting them to the meeting," she said, "but we had to start somewhere with the names we could gather." She is hoping that anyone who is interested will attend the meeting.

MUSIC REVIEW

Russian Cellist Excellent

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

SAN FRANCISCO — A never-to-be-forgotten musical experience was the San Francisco Symphony concert last night at the Opera House because of the phenomenal artistry of Russian cellist Mstislav Rostropovich.

At the end of the Dvorak Conerto in B Minor for Violencello and Orchestra he received standing acclaim, the like of which I have seldom heard at the Opera House. Even the musicians were enthralled.

In response he finally played what is almost unheard of, an encore at the end of a concerto. He complimented the audience by playing musicians' music, the Bach Sarabande in D Minor, unaccompanied.

I have never heard such a powerful sound from a cello, and yet he could produce the most ethereal effects. I didn't know it was possible to play trills so rapidly and delicately that they were like the flutter of hummingbird wings.

A ravishing sonority resulted from each note having its maximum tonal color and beauty, and despite all the technical perfection, his music had soul and rhapsodic lyricism and well as elemental force.

The orchestra was fortunate in having Lewis as guest conductor in place of Joseph Krips, who would have conducted a different program, except for the Dvorak Concerto, had his wife not died recently in Vienna. Krips returns to his conducting chores next month.

Lewis's youthful exuberance and his rhymthmic vitality may have produced a better reading than Krips's.

It was fortunate that Lewis was available, for he has conducted the orchestra before with excellent rapport and results.

It was easier to focus on the orchestra and Lewis in the major work, the Sibelius Symphony No. 2 in D Major. Lewis brought out in turn its pastoral, introspective and sombre moods, building the finale to a wildly exultant climax that gave credence to the report that the work is accepted by the Finns themselves as the expression of their revolt against oppression and final triumph.

Flood Peril Hangs Above The Valleys

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A serious flood threat is in cold storage in California's High Sierra in the form of a record snowpack. How bad the flooding gets depends on how good the weather is.

A long hot spring means the snow will melt quickly and flood the rivers that carry the water out of the Sierra and through the rich farmlands of the San Joaquin Valley.

Cool weather will ease the crush of the runoff.

The critical period probably will be sometime in May.

"We're going to have a lot of water," said Charles P. Sampson, state disaster officer. His office is working with various governmental agencies to minimize damage if serious flooding occurs.

$10 MILLION LOSS

Already the Kings, Tulare and Tule rivers have poured 700,000 acre-feet of water into Tulare Lake in the southern San Joaquin Valley, covering an estimated 75,000 acres of farmland. Crop loss is estimated at $10 million so far in this area, largely reclaimed lake basin land which often floods in wet years.

Many of the levees in Central Valley areas are saturated from the high river flow caused early this year by the heavy January and February storms.

Carl L. Stetson, state Water Resources Department official in Fresno, said that aside from the Tulare Lake basin "the rest of the valley is in fair shape as long as we get reasonable distribution oft he runoff."

"The rivers are running high and the levees are saturated. But barring levee failure I think we can get through all right," Stetson said.

The storms earlier this year caused up to $500 million damage and took more than 100 lives in California, mostly in the heavily populated south.

RECORD SNOWS

It was those storms that dumped record amounts of snow in the central and southern Sierra.

In some areas, the snow totally covered 20-feet-high measuring stakes for the first time in history.

The forecast runoff on the Kings and Kern rivers into the San Joaquin Valley was as much as four times the average.

Robert Miller, forecaster for the Federal State Flood Control Center in Sacramento, said the outlook has improved somewhat since March 1. Snowfall was not quite as heavy as usual in March he noted.

"The valley dried out a great deal and a lot of land started to be put into agriculture," he said, adding that farmers began to use some water for irrigation."

FARMERS HIT

Rivers are running high as experts draw down reservoirs so they will have flood storage room for snowmelt. But this causes problems for some valley farmers.

"When they keep the water high in the river, higher than in the fields, the water starts seeping in under the levees after a while," said Tony Cardoza, who farms 750 acres along the San Joaquin River near Manteca.

"I've got 400 acres under water by now and there won't be any way to drain it out until the river goes down," he said.

The damage to farmlands and the storms—delaying farm work—already is resulting in higher store prices for fruit and vegetables. Agricultural losses are estimated conservatively at $50 million statewide this year because of the weather.

Driver Hurt In 5-Car Accident

A 59-year-old Mill Valley man was reported in satifactory condition today at Marin General Hospital following a five-car accident on Fourth Street in San Rafael yesterday.

Police reported Joseph C. Brewester of 14 Manzanita Place said he blacked out in the 800 block of Fourth Street at 12:39 p.m. and regained consciousness after the accident.

Brewster's car, according to police, sideswiped a parked car owned by Angela A. Corallo of 195 Los Robles, Novato; collided with another parked car owned by Unitours of San Francisco Inc., 62 Princess Street, Sausalito, and caused a chain reaction with two other cars, owned by Dorothy V. Scottolini of 30 Bret Harte Road, San Rafael, and Jerry Gillespie of 1741 Pine Avenue, Petaluma.

Juvenile Commission Aide Cut In Budget

A full-time person to work with the Marin County Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission, included in the probation department's budget requests, has been cut by the county administrator's office, the commission learned last night.

The coordinator is being sought by the commission to plan and execute programs developed by it.

The Marin County Juvenile Justice Commission also met yesterday, reported Chairman Rex. T. Silvernale.

He said Brewer reported on the probation department activities since he became chief April 1 and noted that among priorities are proper personnel deployment and final plans for the new girls wing at Juvenile Hall. Supervisors approved preliminary plans Tuesday and authorized the department to proceed with final drawings.

Girls Want To Raise Fund To Buy Seashore Acreage

Two San Rafael High School girls head a group that wants to show how it feels about Point Reyes National Seashore by raising money toward purchase of additional acreage for the park.

The girls, Tami Patterson of Inverness and Newtza Cornelius of San Rafael, both juniors, don't expect their money-raising effort to buy any acreage, but they hope it will get the ball rolling — and perhaps help convince congressmen and senators that Marinites want the park expanded to its original projected size.

Their way of starting things was to organize two bake sales, money from which will go to the National Park Service to be used — if possible — toward addition to Point Reyes National Seashore. First sale will be held Sunday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Inverness Store; second on May 3 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Co-op of Marin in Corte Madera.

Miss Patterson described the objective as "to alert the public to the fact that there is beautiful land (the Lake Ranch) out in West Marin up for sale that is to be subdivided unless prompt action is taken by the people."

Miss Patterson urged that Marinites write Wallace Hickel, secretary of the interior, urging that the Bureau of Land Management exchange land it owns in Northern California or Oregon for Lake Ranch, to preserve the latter for enlargement of the national seashore.

She said several adults have joined the girls' effort to promote a show of public interest in Point Reyes Seashore expansion and prevention of subdivisions on the land earmarked for the park.

Plans Approved

The Cotati Planning Commission last night gave approval to plan of Commissioner Kenneth Garner to construct a 24-unit apartment house on East Cotati Avenue.

Youth Treated For Cuts From Glass Ramming

A 20-year-old San Rafael youth, who reportedly rammed his hands through glass panes while police placed him in a search position, was treated for multiple cuts at Marin General Hospital early today.

The youth, Doanld Robert Hurd of 1614 Lincoln Avenue, was then booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of disturbing the peace and malicious mischief.

Police said Hurd allegedly fought with another man at the Bermuda Palms, 737 Francisco Boulevard, and then got into his car. He allegedly tore off the open door of a car owned by William Roche of 1256 Lohrman Lane, Petaluma, narrowly missing the man with whom he had just fought, police said.

Police arrived and were told by witnesses that Hurd had a knife. As he was placed in the search position, Hurd forced his hands and arms into the panes of a door, police said.

Hurd was held on bail of $315 to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

New Organ Transplant Aid Tested

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Two Houston transplant experts removed the heart and lungs from a youth killed in a traffic accident and flew them 200 miles last night in new organ transplant chamber.

A spokesman for Wilford Hall, an Air Force hospital at San Antonio, said the donor was a 19-year old son of an Air Force master sergeant. The hospital would not disclose his name.

It was believed to be the first attempt to fly such organs from one city to another. Houston transplant surgeons have decried for some time the lack of donor organs at their hospitals and have sought ways to fly organs to the surgical team from other cities.

Flying to San Antonio from Houston's Methodist Hospital and returning were Drs. Edward B. Diethrich and John Liddicote to perform the organ removal.

"We don't have a recipient to match yet." Diethrich said before he left Methodist Hospital. "We have three prospective recipients outside the hospital, but their blood types do not match."

He said he did not know if St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital here had any suitable donors.

Two sets of human hearts and lungs were tested for some time recently in the chamber but those were taken from donors at Methodist Hospital and kept there.

In the first test of human organs in the chamber for 22 hours, the lung function started to deteriorate. Adjustments were made in the chamber, and Diethrich said the second trial, which lasted 34 hours, left both the heart and lungs in "excellent" condition.

Volpe Wants Action On Supersonic Jet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Transportation Secretary John Volpe has reshuffled his department's priorities, putting two controversial airways projects ahead of—solving mass transit problems.

The former Massachusetts governor reportedly has told President Richard M. Nixon he wants administration approval for either the Supersonic Transport — SST — or an airways and airports bill before action on increasing other programs, including mass transit.

ART REVIEW

Irving Amen's Work Shows Odd Contrast

By LAURA DEVENDORF

Irving Amen has been an internationally recognized artist for some years. His etchings and woodcuts of people and literary and religious themes grace museum collections throughout the world and his credits include membership in many international art societies and inclusion in publications such as "Who's Who in American Art."

The reason for all this acclaim is only partially evident in the prints loaned by Sausalito's Shelby Galleries and shown through May 2 at the Marin Jewish Community Center, 200 North San Pedro Road in San Rafael.

The contrasts within the group are disquieting. About half the work seems old and dated, even coming closer to what has been adopted now as commercial, rather than fine art. Into this category fall most of the woodcuts, the Don Quixote series and those figures which are maudlin or otherwise obvious.

The other half, including most of the etchings, is tender, probing and convincing both visually and as character study. In other words, when Amen is good he is affecting. When he is less his work is about as unmoving and unsubtle as motel art.

Part of this is because, for a working artist, some of these prints are really ancient. It is doubly disturbing since some, especially the most recent, are excellent from their technical perfection right through to their smallest nuance of mood.

When Amen treats folksingers, students, youthful musicians and especially, young girls within their dream-drawn world at the threshold of womanhood, he is completely and gently attuned. And when he presents faces such as "Jeremiah," in strong, clean lines, he can be heroic.

Amen's storytelling ability is equally acute and it threads through many scense of poverty, family gatherings, religious ceremonies and studies of the young.

Andin general, the mood is enhanced when Amen limits his tones to gray, sepia or pastel washes that do more than just outline his subjects.

There are many negatives and positives in Amen's work which seem to both question and reinforce the reasons for his success a rather strange situation for an artist who has enjoyed so much of it for so long.

The exhibit is open weekdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Ouster Protested

BUDAPEST (UPI)—Hungary has protested to Communist China the expulsion from Peking of a correspondent for the Hungarian news agency MTI, the agency said yesterday. China had said that dispatches written by the journalist, Karoly Patak, were "unfriendly to China."

Musical Comedy To Be Presented

"The Impossible Mission," a musical comedy written and directed by Rev. Miles Riley of St. Paul's Catholic Church, San Francisco, will be presented at 8 p.m. May 17 and 18 at San Rafael High School.

The cast members are from Teenagents for Action, a community youth group in San Francisco's Mission District.

The group plans to take the musical, along with bilingual workshops in drama, folk music, light shows, dance, film and art on a goodwill summer tour of Mexico.

Black Folklore To Be Presented

Homeowners To Aid Novato In Cleanup

The Lynwood Park Improvement Association board has voted to clean up that portion of South Novato Boulevard to Rowland Boulevard this weekend as its share of the cleanup campaign of the City of Novato, according to Secretary Marilyn Haskell.

The board received a report Tuesday that a car had run over seven sprinkler heads in the center islands last week. It costs the association btween $300 and $400 annually to replace these, according to Mrs. Haskell. The association is going to ask for more police patroling of the area, she said.

Red Cross Youth Project Finished

It was the final stage of a project by Red Cross youth and pupils of Allen Johnson's industrial arts class at Davidson Junior High School.

The chests, made by the industrial arts class, were filled with notebooks, rulers, compasses, chalk erasers, balls and other school supplies as well as schoolbags made by Red Cross youth.

The chapter's dental auxiliary provided 48 dental hygiene kits for the chests.

Once emptied, the chests will be used by the refugees to make desks and other school furnishings, the chapter reported.

Tam Creek Ditch Hit; Engineers Call It Necessary

Kent Woodlands Resident Calls Flood Solution Heavy-Handed

By BRUCE COLEMAN

A Kent Woodlands resident today charged the Army Corps of Engineers with "heavy handedness" and "insensitivity" in planning of the concrete ditch to be erected for controlling floods on Tamalpais Creek.

"The thing that disturbs us is the heavy-handed style by which this new capacity is being installed," said management consultant Fred B. Graham.

Graham said the 400-foot, block-long ditch was an "insensitive and very expensive solution" and should be replaced with a more orderly and "common sensical" approach.

Watkin asked for "fresh ideas" to solve flood control problems and said the City of San Anselmo, for example, had used riprap work and had also widened narrow places in the Corte Madera Creek, thus alleviating floods.

Col. Frank C. Boerger, district engineer for the Army Corps of Engineers in San Francisco, argued that alternative plans on Tamalpais Creek have been discussed time and time again and said that, in this instance, the proposed concrete-type structure was necessary.

Boerger said that one alternative would be to evacuate residents. He also explained that there will be very little visual loss of beauty to the four families who live on the creek.

Concurring with Boerger was Donald R. Frost, head of the Marin County Public Works Department.

The four men were panelists today on the 900th KTIM Sounding Board, which will be rebroadcast at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

Work was begun by the engineers April 15 on the second phase of the Corte Madera Creek portion of the flood control project and work is to begin on the Tamalpais Creek segment as soon as utilities have been relocated.

On the day that work began, the Ad Hoc Citizens Committee to Save Tamalpais Creek marched to the Corte Madera Creek site and halted the project for an hour by standing between a tractor and a clam shell machine. The committee, headed by Marty Kent Jones of Kent Woodlands, then retreated to their first line of defense — Tamalpais Creek — where they have been picketing ever since.

Congress approved the flood control project in 1962, Boerger said and it was later approved by the Marin County Board of Supervisors, the Town of Ross, the College of Marin and the Ross Valley Flood Control District.

Boerger cited two interventions regarding the Tamalpais Creek "stub" of the plan. He said that attorney Roger Kent, also of Kent Woodlands, voiced opposition to the ditching in February 1968 and engineers, in response, designed an alternative diversionary channel to run under Woodland Road.

The difference in cost was $100,000 but this plan was scrapped because neither federal nor local funds could be obtained.

Then, this week Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., asked that the Tamalpais Creek project be delayed and Gen. William M. Glasgow of the engineers, Cranston and Boerger met in Los Angeles to discuss other proposals.

The engineers decided, with Cranston's approval that the work should go ahead, Boerger told the Independent-Journal yesterday.

Boerger also said that in an interview yesterday if Tamalpais Creek were not included in the project, there would be flooding in College park and on properties northwest of Kent Avenue.

The colonel said phase one of the overall $5 million project has been completed. Phase two— between Bon Air and College Avenue bridges — is now under way and phase three, between College Avenue and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Ross, is to begin next year.

Work on Tamalpais Creek, part of phase two, is to begin "very soon."

The Tamalpais Creek concrete channel will be 10 feet wide with 13-foot high walls and a six-foot chain link fence with green vinyl woven into it will border the stream.

The three largest trees adjacent to the channel will be preserved while smaller trees will be removed and replaced with vines, shrubs and trees.

The creek will go under Kent and College avenues in a boxed culvert and join the already installed underground channel running through College of Marin land to Corte Madera Creek.

Fencing is necessary as a county safety requirement, said the colonel.

There is $196,000 in the overall project for "beautification," the colonel explained, and this is in addition to what is being spent to snake the channel back and forth to avoid cutting trees.

Both Graham and Watkin claimed that there has never been any real flooding in the Tamalpais Creek area, other than when some obstructions have temporarily jammed up one of the creek areas.

Boerger and Frost stressed that the project was necessary to avert a bad flood.

THE WILD AND THE TAMED — From the stone bridge at 100 goodhill Road in Kent Woodlands, Tamalpais Creek winds through a tiny forest of oak, elm and hawthorne trees in the photograph, (left). When the creek is tamed by 13-foot-high concrete walls, it is expected to look like the Corps of Engineers drawing (right). The large oak, (left) and two other trees will remain. 'Fantasies Of Love' Again Lead To Courtroom Glare

"Fantasies of love" were responsible for the generosity of an octogenarian who had been a penurious broom seller until he met two young women in the twilight of his life, an attorney claimed today.

The description of Max Bootzin was made by attorney Leroy W. Rice in his opening statements today in Marin Superior Court in a trial in which the Bootzin estate is trying to get back money and property allegedly given to two women.

The three children of Bootzin, a former Mill Valley man who died at 83 in 1966, are continuing a case he filed in 1965 against two women he said conducted a four-year campaign to gain his possessions.

The women, Charmaine Klenman and Joan Saylor, still live at the Mill Valley house which Bootzin gave to Miss Klenman. They also own two adjoining lots, with other property and cash, the heirs are attempting to regain.

Rice, attorney for the estate, said today that Miss Klenman had "promised Bootzin that if he treated her right monetarily, she would marry him." After four years and no marriage, Bootzin decided he had been taken, Rice said.

The women met the old man when he was despondent over the death of his wife, Rice said. After their friendship flourished, "one or both of the women was present ever time Max was separated form his property," the attorney added.

He also characterized the old man as having spent most of his life selling brooms to hardware stores which netted him about $600 a year.

He was so frugal, Rice claimed, that his wife had to account to him for the small amounts of money he gave her to run the house.

Rice traced the long history of the suit for Judge Joseph G. Wison, who is hearing the trial without a jury, saying that at one time Bootzin decided to withdraw his suit after the "girls got their hooks into him again."

But the action was never withdrawn, and the women later filed a cross-complaint charging that Bootzin owed them $40,000 for such services as housekeeping and chauffeuring.

Rice also claimed that an attorney who has since been disbarred drew up an agreement where Bootzin signed over property to Miss Klenman, and that Bootzin's brother-in-law, who had always hated the old man, took part in the negotiation in order to get even.

Vincent Halliann, executor for the estate, will also testify, Rice said.

The women, who are represented by Marvin Lewis of San Francisco, exchanged looks of astonishment today as Rice described their alleged activities.

Lewis asked today that the suit be dismissed on the grounds that Bootzin had wanted it dropped and also on grounds that Hallinan at one time resigned as executor of the estate.

Judge Wilson took the motion under submission.

Wilson Promises Decision Soon On Rehiring Overweight Teacher

By MARY LEYDECKER

A Marin Superior Court judge who said he was "troubled about this case" promised yesterday to make a decision soon whether to order the Tamalpais High School District to rehire its overweight gym teacher, Elizabeth R. Blodgett.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson heard closing arguments yesterday in the suit in which Miss Blodgett askes that she be rehired because the decision to let her go was made solely on the basis of her excess weight and that this is not "cause" under the law.

A hearing officer from the state Department of Eduation conducted a hearing and upheld the district in releasing her.

Judge Wilson yesterday indicated that the hearing was conducted in a fair manner and that while he deplored newspaper advertisements and petitions signed by Redwood teachers and students which backed Kreps' decision, he doubted they affected the hearing officer.

The judge pondered, however, whether or not a school district could impose a weight requirement.

Miss Blodgett's attorney, A. Leonard Bjorklund, contended that the law protects teachers from "whims of principals who may prefer their women rounded or slim."

Richard V. Godino, county counsel who is representing the school district in the suit, added that if weight were the only issue in the case, "the hearing would have been over in an hour. All we would have done would have been to bring in a scale and put Miss Blodget on it."

Godino maintained that Miss Blodgett's weight made her ineffective as a teacher.

Miss Blodgett, who tipped the scales at 253 pounds in January 1968, but had dropped to 211 by June of last year, sat quietly in court yesterday listening to arguments about her shape and size.

After the hearing was concluded, she said that she has been unable to get a regular teaching job this year because "no one believes that overweight was the real reason I was not rehired. . . . They all say, 'what was the real reason?' . . . When I can't give any other answer, fertile minds supply reasons."

Her attorney said in court that Miss Blodgett has only been able to earn about $600 since September as a substitute teacher in districts outside Marin County.

Judge Wilson gave no date yesterday as to when he will announce his decision on what he called a unique case.

Ex-Model Held In Probe Of Hiring Slayer

NEW YORK (AP) — A former bathing suit model was arrested last night after she offered an undercover detective $10,000 to murder her 50-year-old husband, police said.

Barbara Shampain, 38, was seized at her swank Sutton Place South apartment hours after she met detective Louis Di Pasqueale—who she thought was "a tough Mafia-type"—and allegedly asked him to kill Seymour Shampain, vice president of a Manhattan textile firm, police said.

They said another detective had heard a tip that the attractive blonde was "reaching out for someone to murder her husband." Di Pasqueale called her and they met on a street corner. He said he would have been paid after Shampain's estate was settled.

Police said the 5-foot-4, 115-pound woman had suggested to the detective several places in which he could slay her husband. She was held for Criminal Court arraignment.

Angler Sought Near Hamilton

A Concord man was reported lost off the Marin shore of San Pablo Bay last night and the Coast Guard has found no trace of him today.

Peter Boyle, 46, of 3276 Fitzpatrick Drive, left at 8 a.m. yesterday to fish in the vicinity of Hamilton Air Force Base and China Camp, his wife reported to the Coast Guard. He was expected to return at 5 p.m. yesterday.

Mrs. Boyle notified the Coast Guard at 6:49 p.m. yesterday and checks with all harbors in the area failed to turn up the missing man.

Today, harbor checks were made again and a helicopter was assigned to search for Boyle from the Benicia Bridge to Angel Island, the Coast Guard said.

SACRAMENTO SUMMARY

Interest Conflict Curb To Senate

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The fate of a watered-down conflict of interest statute that still affects nearly all public officials in the state rested today with the Senate.

It could have a short future.

The Assembly approved the bill by Assemblyman Jess Unruh, D-Inglewood, yesterday by a 64-7 vote. It is designed to disclose to the public who is paying campaign expenses for public officials, and the extent of the office holder's wealth.

Much of the bill's original muscle had been taken away in the Assembly Governmental Organization Committee but Unruh still characterized it as "tough."

Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, one of two Democrats who voted against the bill, argued that it contained a provision to jail a public official who simply forgot to report his financial standing.

"It's absolutely mind boggling to me that someone will have committed a felony if he doesn't file something that is legally required," Crown said.

The original vote on the bill was 62-6 but enough legislators added their names to the roll call later in the day to bring it to 64-7.

The bill applies to all public elected and appointed officials and candidates for office as well as top grade civil service personnal and chief staff officials of the Legislature and governor's office.

It requires them to file each April 15 a statement of their financial worth and investments that exceed $10,000.

In addition, it requires that candidates for office list contributions of more than $500 before the election.

The original bill prohibited officials from acquiring any interests that amounted to more than .1 per cent of any business regulated by government agencies. This was stricken in the committee.

JOB CHIEF MOVES

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Peter Weinberger, state employment director has been chosen by Gov. Ronald Reagan to become the new state industrial relations directors. His old job is being eliminated.

Weinberger, a former San Francisco business executive, succeeds Albert C. Beeson, 61, who is resigning May 1 to return to the management consulting business.

The brother of Finance Director Caspar W. Weinberger, has been employment director since the Reagan administration took office in January 1967.

The Employment Department will be absorbed into the new Human Resources Development Department headed by Gilbert L. Sheffield, the Republican governor noted in making the announcement.

BATTLE DELAYED?

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The swirling controversy over Gov. Ronald Reagan's thoughts on a federal grant for Sacramento antipoverty forces has suddenly calmed down — but a renewal of the storm may be less than two weeks away.

Reagan's office announced last night that "by general agreement, an extension of 10 working days has been granted by the Western Regional Office of Economic Opportunity for the governor to consider the grant . . ."

The deadline for the decision on the $1.9-million grant to the Sacramento Area Economic Opportunity Council has been yesterday. As it approached, tempers flared.

On Tuesday, about 75 demonstrators caused a minor uproar in Reagan's outer office. The governor did not meet the demonstrators, as he entered and left the office through a side door.

LABOR BILL DIES

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A law which organized labor has been seeking for several years has died again in a legislative committee.

The Assembly Labor Relations Committee refused yesterday to approve a bill which would make it illegal for a company to hire a professional strikebreaker to replace an employee on strike.

The bill by Assemblyman David A. Roberti, D-Los Angeles, also would make it a misdemeanor for a person to make himself available for work as a strikebreaker professionally.

A similar bill has been introduced in previous sessions but each time has failed to get out of committee.

VOTE PETITION

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A petition drive to lower the voting age from 21 to 18 has been sanctioned by Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan.

Jordan announced yesterday he had approved circulation of petitions to qualify the question for the 1970 ballot. The sponsors of the drive need about 520,000 valid signatures by Aug. 6 to put it before voters.

PICKET BAN BILL

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill banning picketing and demonstrations in the Capitol advanced to the Assembly floor today after winning the approval of the lower house Criminal Procedure Committee.

After a heated debate, the committee yesterday endorsed on a split voice vote a measure which makes it a misdemeanor to enter either house of the legislature without authorization, disrupt legislative proceedings or picket in the Capitol.

Assemblyman Don Mulford, R-Piedmont, author of the bill, said it would prohibit demonstrations such as the one Tuesday in which 300 sign-carrying persons surged into Gov. Ronald Reagan's office to protest his anticipated veto of an antipoverty grant.

Chamber Sends Views On Taxes To Lawmakers

The Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau has gone on record as endorsing Senate Bill 35 and opposing the proposed withholding of state income tax.

Senate Bill 35 — which would repeal the authority for school districts to set tax rates beyond a maximum without a vote by the people — is now pending before the State Assembly.

The chamber's endorsement was made in letters to Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan, R-Stockton, Assemblyman Victor Veysey, R-Brawley, chairman of the Assembly Education Committee and Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The chamber registered opposition to the proposed withholding of state income tax in letters to Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, and Bagley.

"We heartily disapprove of devices, such as withholding, intended to ease the pain of payment and accelerate collection," Chamber president Richard P. Nave wrote.

Army Gives Bike Trail Connect Nod

Army officials at the Presidio of San Francisco have notified the Marin County Parks and Recreation Department that a proposed bicycle trail over Golden Gate Bridge may connect to existing military roads on both ends of the bridge.

Col. Robert E. McMahon, commanding officer at the Presidio, said the Army will permit a temporary bicycle trail to tie in with Bridge Road and Conzelman Road in Fort Baker and cross under the freeway to connect to the Sausalito lateral on the east side of Highway 101.

Colonel McMahon said the temporary access is granted with the understanding that Marin will construct a permanent bicycle route apart from military roads west of Highway 101 as soon as economically feasible.

Brian Wittenkeller, county park planner, said the route of the permanent bicycle trail will probably follow trails along the hills on the west side of Highway 101 to the Waldo Tunnel and cross over the mouth of the tunnel into Sausalito.

"However, this permanent route will require extensive field study and is subject to further consideration," said Wittenkeller.

Juvenile Court Refuses Case

Clemons was arrested April 8 in Tamalpais Valley.

School Boosters Report Survey On Attitudes

Members of Your Elementary Schools Committee in San Rafael reached about two-thirds of the registered voters in its recent survey to determine voter attitudes about elementary school programs, committee chairman Paul K. McMullen has announced.

About 200 persons participated in the survey and it will be a monumental job to tabulate the findings, and when the task will be completed is uncertain, McMullen said.

The survey was undertaken after the defeat of the elementary district's $2.1 million bond proposal Feb. 18.

The committee, backing the $2.1 million measure which will be before voters again June 10, will make campaign plans at 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday at the San Rafael Schools Administration Building, Third and E Streets.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Youngster's Bladder Ailments May Smolder Hidden For Years

VAN DELLEN

Infants and children often develop bladder infections that smolder for many years unless treated properly. Girls are more susceptible, possibly because of anatomical reasons.

One authority reported that many of his young female patients are habitual bubble bath takers. The exact relationship between the two is not known, but the physician in question advises against these baths for children with proven urinary tract infection.

INFLAMMATION is not always easy to recognize. The infants may be irritable and cry whenever urinating. In addition, they hold back until the urge becomes too strong. Fever may coexist. In some there is vomiting, diarrhea, lack of appetite, or failure to gain weight.

Urinalysis is advised when these symptoms occur.

Older children are more likely to develop frequency and painful or burning urination.

Now and then, the 'urge' is so acute they cannot hold back; at night, they may wet the bed, even though previously trained. Chills, fever, abdominal pain, nausea, and vomiting may also ensue.

When the bladder is infected, the urine usually is loaded with pus cells and bacteria. The wise physician wants to know what microbe is responsible and what sulfonamide or antibiotic will kill the critter.

The latter is determined via a sensitivity test in which different drugs are applied to the causative bacteria growing in a flat dish. Then the most effective drug is prescribed.

TREATMENT IS prolonged to make sure that the infection is gone. Now and then, the medicine must be changed to eliminate all traces of the bacterial invasion.

Long-term follow-up is a must; even mild recurrences or chronic bouts can, in time, destroy vital renal tissue.

More tests also are advisable in the bladder infection returns, once in a boy; twice in a girl. Special instruments and X-rays will be needed to detect a urinary tract abnormality that is contributing to the infection (and vice versa).

PAINFUL COLLARBONE

S. T. writes: My collarbone hurts whenever I move a certain way. Could this be arthritis?

REPLY

Yes, but the pain must be at one of the ends of the bone because arthritis is a disease involving the joints. The collarbone (clavicle) joins in front with the breastbone and on the outside with the shoulder girdle. The ribs also connect with the breastbone, forming joints that are susceptible to arthritis.

GRAVEL IN BLADDER

REPLY

Certain chemicals in the urine crystalize and form solid particles the size of a grain of sand. Stone formation occurs when a number of these particles adhere. This tends to occur when urine is too acid or is concentrated or stagnant because of a partial obstruction.

ALLERGIC TO ASPIRIN

A reader writes: Can a person be sensitive to aspirin?

REPLY

Yes. Some are so sensitive they almost die after taking one tablet. This, however, is an extreme example. The most common reactions of these kinds are asthma, allergic rhinitis, and a rash.

COLD DRINKS, FEVER

A reader writes: Is it harmful to give cold drinks to a person who is running a fever due to a bad cold?

REPLY

No. Not only are cool drinks refreshing, but now and then they lower the temperature.

San Francisco's Gun Law Upheld

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The California Supreme Court yesterday ruled San Francisco's gun control law is a "valid" exercise of local police power.

The ordinance calls for registration of firearms, with a description of the gun, payment of a $1 fee and the name and address of the owner. Violation of the law carries a fine of $500 or six months in jail or both.

The court unanimously ruled against John Galvan, who said the ordinance enacted last year violated his constitutional rights to bear arms.

Tax Exemption Hike Cost Told

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top tax policy spokesman testified today that doubling the amount of the personal income tax exemption to $1,200 would cost the government $17 billion in lost revenue.

The law now permits a taxpayer to claim a $600 exemption for himself and each of his dependents.

Testifying before the House Ways and Means Committee on the administration's broad array of tax reform proposals, Edwin S. Cohen, assistant secretary of the Treasury for tax policy, said it is obvious that the bulk of tax revenues must come from middle income taxpayers because they are the largest group in the population.

Brundage Still Waiting For Olympic Medals

CHICAGO (AP) — President Avery Brundage of the International Olympic Committee, demanding return of all Alpine skiing medals because they were tainted with commercialism in the 1968 Winter Games at Grenoble, France, was caught in a ground swell today.

Earl Walters, president of the U.S. Ski Association, implied in Salt Lake City that the trail of commercialism leads throughout the entire Olympic program.

"You could probably eliminate all Olympic competitors on one score or another by sticking strictly to the rules," said Walters.

"The big difference between the skiers and other Olympic participants is that skiers make a little less effort to conceal it than some of the others.

"The truth of the matter is that all athletes in all Olympic sports are receiving financial aid from one source or another, even if its just from their grandmother, in order to prepare themselves for Olympic competition.

"There really isn't that much difference between government subsidy and industry subsidy."

Walters said he didn't think Brundage would be able to get the medals returned and that his attempt will "just create more problems."

Brundage said he has asked the Federation International du Ski (FIS) to reclaim Alpine ski medals won in Grenoble a year ago.

"It is obvious that Alpine skiing has not been properly controlled . . . and it is doubtful if it should be on the Olympic program," said the 81-year-old Chicago millionaire, IOC president since 1952.

Brundage said the future of the Olympic Winter Games will be considered by the IOC meeting in Warsaw, Poland, June 6-10.

Brundage said:

"Articles have been printed listing the payments made by ski manufacturers for Olympic medals.

"In nearly every Olympic Winter Games this sport has been surrounded by scandal and this is inevitable as long as many racers admittedly are in the employ, one way or another, of equipment manufacturers."

France's triple gold medal skier Jean-Claude Killy, said in Paris, "Let Brundage come over here himself and take the medals from me. He would have to go to my home town of Val d'Isere to get them—and I've got a lot of friends there."

Marc Holder, president of the FIS, said in Innsbruck, Austria that his organization may part with the IOC some day.

"It wouldn't surprise me," he said. "If it happens, the world ski championships would be held every two years instead of four years."

Holder suggested that Brundage deal through the Olympic associations of the various countries involved and Brundage said he intends to do so.

"I want the return of all medals won by athletes who were not properly certified under Olympic rules," he said. "The determination of that would be up to each country's association."

JIM GILMARTIN

Manager Anselmo Has High Goals

THE OPTIMIST—For a guy who's 0-1 in the won-lost column, Manager Joe Anselmo of the semi-professional San Rafael Braves baseball club has fairly energetic ambitions.

"We'll shoot for the state championship in June and then the national title at Wichita, Kan., in August," he said over lunch, trying to digest Sunday's season opener 6-3 loss to Hatzell Radio of the East Bay.

JOE ANSELMO

You can kiss that one off as "just one of those games" because the Braves were still conducting tryouts, several regulars were missing from the lineup and the team made seven errors. Anselmo-managed teams just don't boot the ball around like that.

"We'll be in good shape this season," Joe offered. "I feel this will be the best club we have ever fielded," said the man who has managed semi-pro powerhouses here for 10 years. "I may be going out on the limb, but I'll say we will be in Wichita shooting for that $15,000 first prize."

Anselmo's Braves won the Western Baseball Association in 1967, finishing second last year and placing second twice in the state tournament in 1967-68.

The Trips Too Costly

The Braves have quit the WBA because of the high costs of travel and currently are seeking financial support from local businessmen and fans. A special "Baseball Daze" show by Marin barbershop quartets May 10 at Dominican College Auditorium in San Rafael will benefit the Braves. They'll try to raise some do-re-mi.

The 40-year-old Anselmo, who scouts for the Atlanta Braves and lives in San Hislastname, says the 1969 S.R. Braves will be "hand picked from our last three teams. We'll have several outstanding college players like Novato's Tom Corder of San Jose State, some former pros and we sincerely hope to get a few high school standouts like infielder Rick Denning of Marin Catholic and pitchers Russ Dillon of Novato and Mike Timmel of Terra Linda. I feel these kids can benefit a great deal by associating with our older, established players."

Anselmo is still conducting tryouts each Sunday in search of a few more men to complete his roster. In 10 years the popular, personable paisano's semi-pro teams have batted out a winning percentage in excess of .800 so you can bet he'll produce another winner. Maybe all the way to Wichita.

WHILE DISCUSSING the deportment of kids' groups at Candlestick Park each baseball season, Giant executive Walter Mails gave a gold star to the offspring of military personnel at the Army Presidio.

"If a kid raises his hand to go to the bathroom they send a soldier with him," hee-hawed Mails.

Sunday Fishing This Year

MARIN MUNICIPAL Water District lakes, which have been closed to fishing on Sundays in the past, will be open to anglers on Sabbaths this trout season. Instead, they'll be closed on Tuesdays this season, which opens May 3.

Nicasio lake will remain open seven days a week as in the past, the MMWD said.

TWO MARIN COUNTY high school products are going great guns for the Menlo College baseball team.

The fleet Thomas, who has been clocked at 9.9 seconds in the 100-yard dash, was the fourth draft choice of the California Angels in the free agent draft in January.

Edson was drafted by Kansas City in the regular baseball grab bag last June and by the Angels in January.

West Hits 53 Points, L.A. Wins

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Boston's John Havlicek said it the only way it could be said:

"Jerry West was fantastic and he really killed us."

Not only did the veteran star of the Los Angeles Lakers score 53 points against the defending National Basketball Association champion Celtics in their opening playoff game last night but night but he had 10 assists.

As it turned out, the Lakers needed all the West contributions to pull out a 120-118 decision and take a 1-0 lead in the best of seven title series.

NO CHANGES

"West was the difference, but with a two-point loss here in the opening game, I'm not going to change a thing," Russell said.

"It wasn't the 53 points that beat us, it was the 10 assists."

West's previous playoff high total was 52 points but not in a championship series. In eight previous seasons, the Lakers never have won the title, losing to Boston on five occasions.

A MISSION

Jerry played like a man with a mission before the 17,554 fans, hitting shots from 25 feet out and on several occasions driving in under Russell and coming back with a reverse lay-up.

"I suppose it' s one of the greatest games I've ever played," West commented. "However, there have been games when I've scored a lot fewer points and still felt I helped the team more with assists and playing defense."

Havlicek, with 37 points, paced the Celtics who led 58-56 at the half and 84-82 in a game which saw the lead change hands 21 times.

The key came with less than two minutes to play when West hit two jumpers from the side for a three point lead at 113-110. Four times the Celtics cut the margin to one, but never again went ahead.

24 FOR ELGIN

Elgin Baylor scored 24 for the Lakers while Sam Jones had 21 for the Celtics. In the rebound department, Russell collected 27 and Wilt Chamberlain 22. In their personal scoring duel, Russell got 16 points and Chamberlain 15.

"I'm sure Wilt must have intimidated some of their shooters," commented Laker Coach Bill Van Breda Kolff of the 7-foot-2 Chamberlain, who's playing his first season in Los Angeles.

Frazier Vs. Quarry Bout Set In June

The Philadelphia kid with the now-you-see-it and now-you-don't left hook has been guaranteed $250,000 to defend his heavyweight title June 23 in New York City's Madison Square Garden against Jerry Quarry.

He earned $500 a second or $48,000 for his 96-second knockout of outclassed Dave Zyglewicz in Houston Tuesday night.

ALL WORTH IT

"I have to work hard but it's all worth it," grinned the bearded Frazier yesterday as he played a fast game of cards with a fistfull of bills while awaiting announcement of his fourth title defense.

Harry Markson, president of Madison Square Garden Boxing Inc., said the 24-year-old Frazier will receive 35 per cent of the net gate receipts and 40 per cent of the ancillaries. Markson said a capacity Houston would draw in excess of $750,000.

Markson said the fight will be seen nationally on closed circuit television although it will be blacked out in New York.

SERIES FINALE

A's, Twins In Rematch

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Oakland Athletics faced the Minnesota Twins today in the last of a four-game series.

The Twins clobbered A's pitching for 13 hits yesterday in scoring a 7-6 victory. John Roseboro and Rod Carew each blasted two-run homers against loser Catfish Hunter.

Yesterday Roseboro wiped out a 5-4 Oakland lead in the sixth inning with a 390-foot blast over the right field fence, scoring Leo Cardenas, who had singled.

Carew batted in a run in the second with a sacrifice bunt and another with a single in the eighth.

2-0 LEAD

Uhlaender had four hits but dropped a deep fly to center by Dick Green in the third, allowing Sal Bando and Cater to score after they had singled.

"I kept hoping that wouldn't lose the game," Uhlaender said later. "It was my fault. I just dropped the ball. I've made other errors in the major leagues, but that's the first ball I ever remember dropping."

The win went to Jim Perry, the third Twins' pitcher. Ron Perranoski finished the final 2 1-3 innings.

Perranoski, hitless since moving from the Los Angeles Dodgers to Minnesota in 1968, led off the ninth with a single. He scored what turned out to be the winning run after Uhlaender and Carew singled off Oakland reliever John Wyatt.

Giants, Braves Try Again

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Manager Clyde King of the San Francisco Giants had his "Kiddie Korps" ready to go but rain interfered.

Beset by injuries and the need to give centerfielder Willie Mays a rest, the rookie skipper planned to start Frank Johnson, Dave Marshall and Bobby Bonds in the outfield and Willie McCovey, Don Mason, Hal Lanier and Cesar Gutierrez in the infield last night against the Atlanta Braves. Only Bonds, McCovey and Lanier are regulars.

RAIN

However, a heavy downpour forced the Giants to postpone the contest. It was only the ninth rainout for the Giants since moving to San Francisco from New York in 1958. The game will be rescheduled later in the season, probably as part of a twi-night doubleheader Sept. 16.

Orioles' Cueller Outduels McLain

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

But last night he was as hot as he's ever been and the temperature was a crnmy 40 degrees.

Before only 5,432 shivering fans in Baltimore's Memorial Stadium, Cuellar held the Detroit Tigers hitless over the last 8 1-3 innings, facing the minimum of 25 batters as the Orioles outlasted the Tigers, 3-2 in 10 innings.

And the 31-year-old southpaw had to be that good, because he caught Denny McLain on one of his better nights. McLain retired 21 batters in a row before Elrod Hendricks doubled in the 10th to set up the winning run. Moment later, Mark Belanger, who banged in all the Oriole runs, singled to end it.

OTHER GAMES

Elsewhere in the American League, Minnesota edged Oakland, 7-6, Chicago beat California, 7-1, Kansas City edged Seattle, 4-3, and Washington thrashed Boston, 9-3. New York at Cleveland was postponed because of rain.

Baltimore now leads the Eastern Division of the American League by two games with a 12-5 mark.

Buddy Bradford hit a three-run homer in the fourth and Carlos May and Luis Aparicio drove in two runs apiece to give the White Sox victory. Gary Peters was backed by a 10-hit attack as he gave up six hits for his first victory of the year.

INSIDE HOMER

Pinch-hitter Chuch Harrison cracked a one-out, bases loaded single in the ninth to carry the Royals to victory. Jerry Adair hit an inside-the-park homer in the seventh for the Royals. Don Mincher homered for the Pilots in the fourth.

The Senators were propelled to victory by three-run homers off the bats of Ken McMullen and Mike Epstein. The triumph gave former Boston slugger Ted Williams a successful managerial debut at his old home grounds—Fenway Park.

Epstein's homer, his second of the year, capped the Senators' winning five-run rally in the third inning.

Dierker, Koosman Hurl N.L. Victories

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dierker braked Houston's seven-game skid last night with a two-hit 4-0 triumph over San Diego while Koosman cut a pregame 9:00 earned run average down to size by hurling the New York Mets past Pittsburgh 2-0.

Don Sutton spotted Cincinnati three early runs, then stopped the Reds cold in pitching the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 6-3 victory in the only other National League action.

The Atlanta-San Francisco, St. Louis-Chicago and Philadelphia-Montreal games were rained out.

The Astros, humiliated by Cincinnati 14-0 Tuesday night, ended their seven-game losing streak as Dierker, 2-2, held San Diego hitless after the third inning. The Houston right-hander gave up an infield single by Ed Spiezio in the second and a single by Roberto Pena in the third, then retired 14 Padres in order.

Norm Miller doubled in the first inning and scored the only run Dierker needed on a single by Curt Blefary. A walk, singles by Miller and Joe Morgan and a balk by reliever Frank Reberger gave the Astros two more runs in the sixth. Another scored in the eighth on a bases-loaded walk to Miller.

Koosman, a 19-game winner for the Mets as a rookie last year, scattered five hits on the way to his first 1969 victory after two setbacks. The shutout lowered the left-hander's ERA to 4.41.

Cleon Jones stroked three hits, drove in one run and scored another while grabbing the N.L. batting lead with a .444 average. Jones' run-scoring single off Jim Bunning, after a double by Ken Boswell, sent the Mets ahead in the first inning. In the fourth, Jones doubled and scored on Ed Kranepool's single.

Sutton, clipped for a two-run double by Tony Perez in the first inning and a RBI single by Bob Tolan in the second, settled down to finish with a six-hitter and his first victory in three decisions. The loss snapped a three-game winning string for the Reds.

The Dodgers shot in front 4-3 with a four-run burst off Gary Nolan in the fourth and Ted Sizemore's two-run single in the eighth wrapped up their seventh victory in eight home games.

Oaks Dump Bucs, Lead Playoffs 3-0

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Gary Bradds isn't kidding when he says he's anxious to get the American Basketball Association's Western Division playoffs over with.

The former Ohio State star poured in 33 points last night to pace Oakland to a 113-107 victory over New Orleans and give the Oaks a commanding 3-0 edge in their best-of-seven series.

The Indiana Pacers overpowered Miami 119-105 last night, also taking a 3-0 series lead in the East.

Bradds, who scored 27 and 33 points in the first two games, said earlier in the week he was tired of playing seven games and tired of traveling.

"I've got a lot on my mind and just want to get the season over with," he said.

After battling to a 50-50 halftime deadlock, Oakland fell behind by five points, 83-78, at the end of three quarters but stormed to a 35-point fourth period to pull away. The Buccaneers tallied only 24 points in the final quarter.

AT THE LINE

And for the third straight time, the Oaks won the game at the free throw line. They were outscored from the field, 40-38, but hit on 37 of 54 charity tosses to 27 of 39 for the Bucs.

Warren Armstrong, who missed 11 of 18 free throws, followed Bradds in the Oakland scoring column with 25 points. Jim Eakins came through with his second straight good scoring performance with a 20-point effort.

The fourth game of the series will be played here tomorrow night.

Chi Chi Trying Out Miniature Putter

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Chi Chi Rodriquez, the quick-witted little Puerto Rican who has had the putting woes, set out in today's first round of the $100,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic armed with a new weapon.

"It's my daughter's putter," Chi Chi quipped from the putting green. He was bent almost double, his head at waist level and clutched a club with a 24-inch shaft.

Chi Chi, a 140-pounder who is far back in the money winning list this season at $9,879, hauled out the putter in practice rounds for the 72-hole test over the 7,086-yard par 70 Preston Trail Golf Club course.

"Hey look at that," he yelled after dropping in a 20-footer. "Oh, I like this," he said and did a characteristic little dance step.

The club is a standard putter, except that the shaft is only two feet long. To make his putt, he must bend far over, looking for all the world, like a man about to pick up a tiny object.

"I've seen these before," said Byron Nelson, the golfing great from another era and the man for whom this tournament is named.

"A number of guys have used them before. They're good for short putts and for fast greens. They're not so good for long putts. But these greens are pretty fast..."

Rodriguez, probably the smallest man on the tour and one of the most colorful, said he went to the club—or rather went back to it—because of his putting difficulties.

Bauer Trying To Find The 'Right' Catcher

OAKLAND — One of the prevailing press box rumors at the Oakland Coliseum a year ago involved the nearly full-time use in the final half of the season of young catcher Dave Duncan.

Contents of the gossip was that owner Charles O. Finley had ordered manager Bob Kennedy to bench the veteran Jim Pagliaroni and concentrate on giving Duncan experience. Because Duncan was one of several A's getting on-the-job training in 1968, the A's failed — barely — to land in the first division. And Kennedy was fired, presumably for following orders.

KENNEDY LEFT in such haste, it was difficult to check the rumor with him. Elsewhere around the club, the word was that Duncan had great potential and lacked only experience. And so, we were told, it was pointless not to play him.

That was last year, when Oakland seemed to concentrate on building for a pennant bid in '69. Had Duncan then become one of the solid building blocks? In the spring, the answer seemed obvious: Dave was hitting admirably and seeing the kind of action that labeled him a first stringer. So it was no surprise that he was the starting catcher on opening day.

PAGLIARONI, meanwhile, was courteously talking about helping the club in whatever small way he could. It was just swell, said Pag, being a member of a club with a shot at a division title.

If nothing else, the A's appeared deep in catching at their Arizona camp. Behind Duncan and Pag were 1968's third man, Phil Roof; left-handed-hitting Tim Talton, 29 and a one-time .300 hitter in a brief fling with the A's in Kansas City, and 22-year-old Gene Tenace, who seemed more promising than Duncan.

ROOF APPEARED doomed. He had been Alvin Dark's favorite in K.C., despite an inability to hit over .210 in two full seasons. And left-handed backstops like Talton are rare, precious big league commodities. Tenace — an Italian whose name somehow became pronounced like "tennis" in minor league ball in the Southeast — would doubtless be farmed because of his youth. And he and Talton both were shipped.

So Pag and Roof were still there behind Duncan.

MANAGER HANK Bauer was quick to give up on Duncan, though. In a week, Dave, 23, had only one hit, a game-winning banjo single. And old-timer (31) Pagliaroni was handed, for a while at least, the starting job.

Pag lacks Duncan's speed, although it's relative, and the kid's power "potential." Yet Bauer is is a pressurized, must win position that makes it difficult to give Duncan a chance to prove he won't hit .192 again as a regular. Pag, at least, has hit as much as .295 over a full big league season (Pittsburgh in '64).

PAGLIARONI, again because of experience, is a worthier handler of the young Oakland pitching staff than Duncan. But the latter probably has a stronger arm. Again, it's relative.

Roof, 28, that fellow in the bullpen, is rated the best defensively of all three. He would probably outhit Duncan for another season but would never outrun either Dave or Pag. Now there would be a race.

IF NONE OF the three exhibits anything at the bat by June, Bauer may find himself forced to play a new game behind the plate.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG

A too-high backswing is seldom the answer to additional ball speed. In fact, this "ceiling reach" most often causes women bowlers to lose their balance on the downswing. No wonder. That ball coming down from such a height would shake anyone. Keep the ball at or below shoulder level on the backswing for best results.

New Twist For Marin Swim Meet

The 1969 Marin County Athletic League swimming and diving meet which begins at Redwood High School in Larkspur tomorrow will be the same old meet with a new twist.

In past years, the meet has been used as a qualifying test for North Coast Section competition. Not so this year. They'll be going strictly for added laurels, revenge and assorted other targets.

ISSUES

The meet should be especially interesting, perhaps unofficially settling the issue of just who is the real champion of the league. Three teams tied for the regular season title with Tamalpais, Redwood and Novato all coming up with 5-1 records.

STRONG

Deployment of swimmers will tell a lot in this meet. So will the relays.

PRELIMS

Preliminaries in the remainder of the events will be held Saturday at 9 a.m. with finals getting under way at 1 p.m.

There is a Class B issue to settle too, with Tamalpais, Redwood and Terra Linda tying for the regular season title.

Time Out: Your Wife Had A Son

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Rookie Bill Hewitt became a father while playing for the Los Angeles Lakers against the Boston Celtics in last night's opening game of the championship National Basketball Association playoffs.

Word came during the second quarter that Hewitt's wife, Yvonne, had presented him with a son.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

By Associated Press

OAKLAND—Ralph McCoy, 161, Richmond, Calif., knocked out Wilfredo Hurst, 160½, Miami, Fla., 7.

SENIOR TOURNEYS

Tennis Not Just For The Young

You can talk about alienation, lack of communication, and demonstrations, but there is no generation gap among tennis buffs.

Toddlers and teeners and the over-20 set play it. And so do their grandfathers.

That is pretty much what the big tennis extravaganza for the old "kids" May 6-11 is all about. That's when the Mill Valley Tennis Club becomes the capitol of national senior tennis action with four tournaments going at the same time, two of them sanctioned as national hard-court tournaments by the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association.

AGE GROUPS

The national prestige action will be in the 65 and 60 tournaments while the club also holds it traditional 45 and 55 tournaments.

Ted Wellman of Kentfield, all of 66, will be one of the entrants in the national meet. He may not win it, but you can bet he'll be having a ball.

Wellman, a retired Standard Oil executive and president of the College of Marin board of trustees, likes to keep busy, and tennis has helped do it for him.

"I won't say it's everything for me, but it makes me feel alive," he said. "I think people have finally realized that you don't have to quit playing when you have reached 25 or 30."

SINCE 12

Wellman has been a tennis buff since the age of 12, and that amounts to 54 years of perpetual tennis.

"I played in high school," he recalls. "But I didn't play tennis in college (at Cal at Berkeley) because I felt that it was only a minor sport. I went out for swimming, crew, track and didn't do too well."

Wellman, and the rest of the entrants in the Mill Valley Tournament, are shining examples that competitive activity and tennis won't put you under.

TED WELLMAN

PERPETUATING

"You can keep playing for a long, long time," he said. "Tennis perpetuates itself. The more you play, the longer you will be able to play. A prime example was, of course, King Gustav of Sweden who played until he was 87.

"Gardner Malloy is 55 and he plays with the young amateurs at Wimbledon," he added.

Wellman didn't burn up the tennis tour in his earlier playing days, although he did win the Pacific Northwest doubles title back in 1933 in Canada. But he has loved every minute of it.

PLAY HARD

"You'll see that at the tournament," he said. "You'll see all of them, keeping on. Their joints may be a little stiff, they may be patched up with sore elbows, but they're playing and playing hard."

Clippers, 4 Other Teams In State Soccer Tourney

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The California Clippers and four international soccer teams will play in a tournament in four California cities in May.

Also in the tournament announced here yesterday are America of Mexico City, Dukla of Czechoslovakia, West Bromwich Albion of England and Setubal of Portugal.

The Clippers will meet America on May 2 in the Los Angeles Coliseum and two days later in San Jose's Spartan Stadium.

On May 18, Dukla will play West Bromwich in Stanford Stadium while Setubal plays the Clippers in Fresno the same day.

Two doubleheaders will climax the action. The Clippers play West Bromwich and Setubal meets Dukla May 23 in Los Angeles. Dukla plays the Clippers and Setubal meets West Bromwich May 25 at Stanford.

Two final games, not a part of the tournament, will be between the Clippers and Frioentina of Italy in San Francisco's Kezar Stadium May 30 and June 1.

'For Sale' Sign Out For New York Jets

NEW YORK (UPI) — The "For Sale" sign is definitely up for the New York Jets, and Madison Square Garden is among prospective buyers.

Irving Mitchell Felt, chairman of the Garden Corporation, said yesterday that conversations have been in progress with the management of the Super Bowl champions, but that the talks "are still indefinite and rather nebulous. If it could be worked out on a corporative basis, I think it would be fine."

The present ownership of the Jets, headed by Phil Iselin, have not set a price on their Joe Namath-led property, but estimates run as high and higher than $20 million. The Philadelphia Eagles commanded over $16 million in their recent forced sale.

The Garden, which owns the Knickerbockers and the Rangers in basketball and hockey, would have to reach a complicated agreement to gain control of the American Football League franchise, since pro football by-laws preclude ownership of a team by a corporation.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

Weak Opposition Can Enable Declarer To Assume Victory

Strong opponents make life interesting, but it's very comfortable to play against weak opponents. You can usually tell what they're doing. You know that they would like to beat you, but you also know that certain plays are beyond them.

FORCES KING

West opened the six of spades, and East put up the ten to force out South's king. Declarer quite properly led a club to dummy's jack and then continued the clubs, forcing out the ace.

Now West led the jack of spades, and South had to guess who held the ace. If West were a weak player he wouldn't have the nerve to lead the jack of spades from such a holding as A-J-9. South could comfortably play low from the dummy against a weak opponent, relying on East to have the ace.

If South had done so in this case the spades would have blocked. The defenders would take two spades, one club and one diamond. But since West was a strong player there was reason to fear that he might hold the ace of spades.

WRONG GUESS

South guessed wrong, playing dummy's queen of spades. After taking the ace East felt sure he could defeat the contract by returning his last spade, but he could afford to try for bigger game since South could have only eight tricks at most. East therefore blandly returned another club.

South reasoned that East had started with only two spades. Now South would still make the contract with a little luck in diamonds, so he tried a finesse with the jack of diamonds.

TAKES KING

East took the king of diamonds and produced his other spade. Now the defenders collected a penalty of 200 points. If East had returned his third spade earlier, South would have escaped with a penalty of 100 points since he had eight tricks without the diamond finesse.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1-no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ A 10 4
♥ J 10 7 3
♦ K 3
♣ 9 7 3 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention, asking partner to bid a major suit of four or more cards.

If partner bids two hearts, you will raise to three hearts; if he bids anything else, you will bid 2-no-trump.

Lazy Old Soul

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — Mrs. Barbara Stone, celebrating her 100th birthday in Glasgow, said she had one complaint: "My relatives do too much for me. They are making me a lazy old soul."

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, April 24, the 114th day of 1969 with 251 to follow.

The moon is in its first quarter. The morning stars are Venus, Saturn and Mars. The evening stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1704, the first American newspaper to be printed on a regular basis — The Boston News-Letter—was published by John and Duncan Campbell.

In 1877, Northern rule of the South following the Civil War ended when President Rutherford Hayes ordered federal troops out of New Orleans.

In 1967, Soviet cosmonaut Vladirmir Kamarov was killed when the re-entry parachute snarled following an orbital space trip.

A thought for the day: British clergymen John Tillotson said, "They who are in the highest places, and have the most power, have the least liberty, because they are the most observed."

Lincoln Bank Stockholders Vote Merger

Lincoln National Bank stockholders have voted to merge with Commonwealth National Bank of San Francisco.

Earlier this week the proposed merger was approved by Commonwealth stockholders. The agreement provides for a cash transaction at $21 per share of Lincoln National stock on 87,500 outstanding shares, or a total of $1,837,500.

Lincoln National's resources at Dec. 31 were reported at $7.6 million. Commonwealth's resources at the same date were $63.9 million. Lincoln National has its headquarters in Santa Rosa and a branch office in San Rafael. Commonwealth has three offices in San Francisco and one in Pleasant Hill, Contra Costa County.

The agreement still requires the approval of the U.S Comptroller of the Currency. If this is received, the merged organization will take the Commonwealth name.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Annuity Investment Has Best Income Guarantees

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I've got toi retire soon and am wondering how best to use my savings to supplement Social Security. Is there any risk in buying an immediate annuity? — A.R.

A. If you have no heirs to consider, a straight life annuity will provide maximum monthly income guaranteed for life. Because income is fixed it is vulnerable to inflationary pressures, but insurance companies are beginning to offer variable income contracts.

Q. I bought Guerdon Industries at 46; it's now trading much lower. I also hold Gulf and Western at 60. Should I buy more, sell or wait for recovery in these two? — J. E.

A. As you probably know, Guerdon is controlled by City Investing through the latter's recent purchase of about 51 per cent of Guerdon's stock. Whether CNV is planning an ultimate merger is as yet undecided.

Guerdon acquisitions are expected to boost sales to around $150 million for fiscal 1969, ending April 30, and earnings are estimated at $1.30 a share. A year ago, 76 cents a share was reported on sales of $83.3 million. I'd hold for recovery — and longer if Guerdon is not merged into City Investing.

Gulf and Western I would not sacrifice at this time if you can afford to retain your shares.

No one really knows how the conglomerates as a group will fare under federal investigation of their acquisition policies. I'd use further buying power to diversify with some less volatile blue chips.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

Marin County Planning: Some Specific Lacks

Important issues in Marin County's planning — or lack of it — got little or no attention in last week's emotion-packed hearing on County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker. Now that tempers have subsided a bit, the issues will bear examination.

First off, it should be emphasized that these conditions did not originate with Zucker. However, he must bear responsibility for taking no corrective measure in the three years he has been planning director.

Let's cite some specifics:

ITEM ONE: Reed School District's financial bind is due in part to the high cost of busing pupils to school. Most of the pupils live within walking distance of a school, yet must be bussed for safety's sake because Tiburon subdivisions — approved by the county before Tiburon incorporated — are nearly all dead-end affairs with single access via Tiburon Boulevard. To get to a school a few blocks from home, a child must traverse the heavily traveled boulevard.

In San Rafael, each subdivision plan is reviewed by the fire department, among others, for adequacy of access. There is still no such provision in the county.

ITEM TWO: In 1961, a committee of Novato citizens, appointed by the city council, drew up a report calling for more commercial zoning in the heart of Novato and its elimination in neighborhoods, to concentrate business for orderly city growth.

The proposal was thrown out at the insistence of the county planning department, which then was hired to draw up a master plan. It did not deliver the completed plan until late 1967. Meanwhile, a diffusion of small shopping centers had blighted Novato's commercial growth. These centers were approved in the plan the county finally delivered after a five-year delay.

ITEM THREE: Efforts to lure industry into areas zoned for it by the county have failed almost completely. The planning department denies it has discouraged them. Yet San Rafael has been highly successful in attracting industry to Northgate Industrial Park, which is under strict planning controls.

ITEM FOUR: Last year, the county public works department got embroiled with homeowners in Oak Manor and Greenbrae who had blocked drainage with driveway ramps. It forced removal of the ramps. But nothing has been done about the lack of county controls on driveway elevations and on curbs and gutters which brought the problem into being.

ITEM FIVE: Several new ordinances were pushed through recently to abate ark and houseboat nuisances in Richardson Bay. But the county still lacks a plan for Richardson Bay with the necessary ordinances to implement it. Because of county dilatoriness on this plan, running back some years, $70,000 spent by Mill Valley on a municipal yacht harbor may turn out to be money thrown down a dry hole.

ITEM SIX: Although the planning department is currently exercised about logging in West Marin, it has never come forth with an ordinance to control logging throughout the county — despite the very evident and much-remarked existence of thousands of acres of timberlands.

ITEM SEVEN: Hundreds of submerged acres along Marin County's shores are ready to be developed without any control if the temporary authority of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission should lapse. The county has on its books no plan for control of these tidelands, no ordinance spelling out their use.

The list could go on and on.

Do these items indicate planning, or lack of it? Do they indicate conservation, or lack of it?

Land planning is an attempt to shape the future by control of present developments. Its very essence is carefully spelled-out policies, implemented by ordinances. Yet the Marin County Planning Department, which is costing $387,716 this year, to great extent lacks these necessities, thus leaving the future to be shaped largely by the momentary whims of the planning commission or director.

"If you people would just lower your voices . . .!"

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Two Despoiling Marin County

Isn't it interesting that our two champions of property rights and "progress" on the board of supervisors are following their past performances in despoiling Marin County.

San Rafael, with wall to wall gasoline stations, some with huge revolving signs yet, and a once-marina, now an excuse for a shopping center (Montecito), are only two of the monuments to the former members of the San Rafael City Council, Mr. (John F.) McInnis and Mr. (Louis H.) Baar. Oh yes, how could I forget to mention Scenic Avenue, San Rafael style, with its mud slides caused by unadorned duplex horrors approved by our champions over the objections of the planning commission, and the local residents who have to live with and pay for these horrors.

Are you as ready to accept the irreversible as are McInnis (insurance) and Mr. Baar (real estate), who now can plan for the whole county? Yesterday, San Rafael, today, Marin County; tomorrow, who knows?

What is love of America? The American dream, or is it privileges of some real estate interests, insurance agents, irresponsible builders and developers, etc., to get their ($), leaving a trampled county as a legacy. Haven't you had enough of political flim-flam?

JOHN E. CASCONE
San Rafael.

(Editor's note: Just to keep the record straight: Louis H. Baar was not on the San Rafael City Council when the former yacht harbor property was sold for development of Montecito Shopping Center.)

Drunken Driving Laws Unfair

I don't believe in drunk driving; let that be an established fact. But I am very disturbed at the fact a state, national and news media campaign is making a person who has had a few drinks, a drunk driver. This is just what is happening — causing people to lose their jobs, because of no license; causing marriages to break up because of no finances, etc., etc.

Your paper states March 30, "Drunk Driving Arrests Climb." On April 2 an article states 26 arrested in February on drunk driving. Some "kook" named David McAusland of San Anselmo wrote in March 13 that he is quite "disturbed" that the judges aren't stripping all people who drive with some drinks of their license to make a living. Today you have to have a license (auto license) to even breathe.

I always thought there was justice for all? Through this "reign of terror" by Mr. Reagan's hatchet-man Gordon C. Luce (state secretary for business and transportation) people are dragged into jail and told to take a test to see how much alcohol they have consumed. If they refuse you lose your license automatically. There is not right of appeal. This is no affording one protection under the constitution.

JACK ANTHONY
Mill Valley.

Parents Owe Police Support

If and when any of my sons come home complaining of police brutality in San Rafael, I am afraid my first concern will be for the welfare of the policeman. I simply cannot believe police brutality exists and I would like to believe juvenile crimes don't exist, however, each night the paper proved troubles brought on by juveniles to be quite evident.

We have been privileged to live in three areas of San Rafael where Sgt. Carl Selby of the San Rafael Police Department was also a homeowner and a father. As a good father he was also interested in all the children of the neighborhood and for which all of us as parents were most grateful. He is still well liked and respected by these children who are now young adults and who still appreciate him for the good policeman that he is.

I am sure if as parents we would be more supportive of the police it would have the same effect on the students who would then show respect for the rights and property of others and not be found always on the wrong side of the law.

Up With Zucker; Down With Baar

Happiness is having a planning director who knows what he's doing, isn't easily intimidated and has loyal supporters who will speak out in his defense.

And now, how do we go about recalling Bud Baar before he's up to any more mischief?

MARQUIS CHILDS

Two Gentlemen From Illinois Dramatize Republican Division

WASHINGTON — No one has put it so bluntly, but whether the Republican party can contain both Charles H. Percy and Everett McKinley Dirksen is the unanswered question troubling many loyal party members. By a curious coincidence the two senators from Illinois dramatize opposing poles of opinion on a great many issues.

They are perfectly type-cast for their respective roles. Dirksen is the bravura orator of the past who has made a national reputation as a character actor radiating the noble virtues and the homely humor of another day. At the same time he is a virtuoso wheeler dealer, who knew how to play President Lyndon Johnson's game and still kept a strong hold on the political-business complex of his home state.

Percy is a self-made man whose fortune has given him the independence to pursue a career in public life and thereby satisfy his concience which was not content with a money success. Much younger in appearance than his 49 years, he has consistently goaded his party into taking positions that dismay the conservative middle mass. They resent him as an interloper, a newcomer, without the comfortable antecedents of a Dirksen.

CURRENTLY it is Percy's opposition to the Nixon administration's stand favoring deployment of an anti-ballistic missile system that is arousing the ire of the party loyalists. As the ABM is made a test of party faith, Percy is looked on as a defector who might better be outside the fold.

Percy's friends — those in the party who are with him on the ABM — see something like an organized effort to force him out and insure his defeat when he comes up for reelection in 1972. They point the finger at the Nixon communications director, Herbert Klein, accusing him of inspiring anti-Parcy stories in the fiercely hostile Chicago Tribune. Klein denies this and, given the Tribune's perspective, inspiration was hardly necessary.

THE ISSUE is, of course, larger than one of personalities or even the opinions of opposing individuals. The new Republican national chairman, Rogers Morton, put it very well in his opening speech when he said that the Republican party had to expand its horizons and attract minorities, the young and others who have long regarded the GOP as a surviving fossil.

Morton also said that he would work through the national committee to get congressional approval for the ABM. That dismayed Percy and the other Republicans in opposition, who had hoped the missile would not be projected into partisan politics.

THE QUANDARY of the Republicans as a minority party is not new. It is only rare that an incoming chairman should look so candidly at the narrow precincts over which he must preside. Since 1933 the party has controlled Congress for only two brief periods. Thanks to an enormously popular hero, the late Dwight D. Eisenhower, a Republican was president for eight years.

Mavericks, dissenters even, have found the atmosphere within the Grand Old Party chilly if not downright frigid.

Percy will continue to dissent on the ABM issue out of conscience and conviction. His hope is to persuade the president that it is possible to postpone deployment while further research into the ABM goes forward. In a recent speech he said:

"In the 1950s the United States spent more than $30 billion on bomber defenses in two systems that our military experts later admitted were obsolete and totally inadequate even before they were completed. That was $30 billion that might have been spent on better schools, on good housing, on adequate transportation, and on the hundreds of other domestic tasks pressing urgently on our society. Much of that expenditure now lies frozen, useless and forgotten in the Arctic wasteland."

That, said Percy, promises to be the fate of the ABM. If this is heresy and the policitcal line is drawn on the ABM issue, Percy becomes an outcast.

Irony Of Truong And Son Who Cannot Return

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

David Truong is a serious faced young Vietnamese man with a head of thick, black hair parted on the side, glasses with black shell rims and rather tall. He seeks political asylum in the United States because he believes to return to South Vietnam would mean at least five years in prison or death through frontline duty.

There is a compelling reason for this. David is the son of Truong Dinh Dzu, who as a peace candidate on the "White Dove" slate in South Vietnam's 1967 presidential elections won more than 800,000 votes and ran second only to President Nguyen Van Thieu.

He was among a score of political opponents of the Thieu regime rounded up some four months after the election and placed in protective custody "to insure their safety."

RELEASED and re-arrested on May 1, 1968, Dzu currently is serving a five-year prison term on charges of conduct "detrimental to the anti-Communist spirit of the people and the armed forces."

The particular irony of Dzu's plight is that his campaign platform, and presumably the main reason for his arrest, contained three important points then opposed but now advocated by Thieu — a ceasefire, negotiations with the National Liberation Front and an amnesty for the Viet Cong.

The point is illustrated in a letter written from prison this month to his son. Here are excerpts:

"I THINK with the last offensive of the Front (the Viet Cong), Nixon will be obliged to choose one option—the best would be a peace cabinet which can begin the talks.

". . . I believe that our views will eventually prevail and groups in South Vietnam will need such people who can look ahead of their times.

"I think the constitution needs to be amended. The life of a democratic opposition must be guaranteed if we ever want to end the war.

"There are absolutely no differences between Thieu's proposal for direct talks with the Viet Cong and my campaign program in 1967. Yet, it took everybody two years to realize that.

"I THINK a general amnsty will be of the greatest help to Saigon. Those non-Communist Nationalists such as myself should have a voice in the political future of South Vietnam, either within the government or as local opposition.

". . . It is a big step to take but without it there is no hope of ending the war before 1971. The presidential elections come up in 1971 and by that time the political system will be a wreck.

"Who will there be left to run?"

DZU's SON, the 23-year-old David, graduated from Stanford University last June and since has spent his time campaigning for Sen. Eugene McCarthy, lecturing, and lobbying for his father's release.

He also sees Thieu's reversed position as vindication for his father, and believes that his father soon will be, or already may have been released to take part in secret talks.

Irony In Automobile Death Of Assemblyman Alan Pattee

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The sudden death of Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee, R-Salinas, in an automobile accident marks the loss not only of a good friend, but also of an outstanding legislator who has contributed more than his share to the economic interests of his state and legislative district.

Pattee's death was ironic. He was a champion of more safety on California's highways, and a firm supporter of measures which would assist in creating avenues of travel which would be safe for the public. Yet his own death was in a highway collision.

HE PLAYED almost a lone hand, at least verbally, in his sponsorship of state-controlled gambling through a state lottery. He carried the load for horse-racing and felt no compunctions in his belief that gaming should be permitted in California, as in Nevada, although he well knew this had no chance of passing the Legislature.

In fact, his theory was that people should not be hypocritical and should do openly what they do anyhow surreptitiously.

He was an ardent worker for the interests of his constituents. He was a dairy farmer, and one of his particular interests in the Legislature was the law involving milk pricing control.

AS A MODERATE Republican, he considered the agricultural worker as well as the farmer. This led to interest in working out a system for providing agricultural workers participation in unemployment insurance. It has not as yet been accomplished.

Generally, he was on the side of the moderates in legislation, and strove to put the interests of the state in the forefront on the thousands of matters on which he cast a vote during the long years he spent as a representative. His first Legislature was in 1955.

Personally, he could be classed as one of the most highly thought-of legislators in the Assembly.

CYNIC'S CORNER — BY INTERLANDI

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

History is the only antidote to hysteria. . . . Our history is filled with strife, and once we come to understand that our greatness as a nation has grown, not out of complacency, but out of debate, disputes, and, regretably, sometimes bloodshed, we can take a more understanding look at the events which are sweeping the nation today. — Mortimer J. Adler.

In my opinion, the newspapers are equal to the courts — and sometimes ahead of the courts — in our system, in protecting the people's fundamental rights.—Robert F. Kennedy.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

April 24, 1959

After two seals were left at the Marin County Humane Society's shelter in San Rafael, Mel Morse, society manager, warned residents against picking up baby seals at beaches.

An $8 million boating and commercial area on Richardson Bay, adjacent to Commodore Air Service was envisioned in a plant by Lt. Col. Thomas E. Nowell of Mill Valley and George Kappas.

20 YEARS AGO

April 24, 1949

Angel Island was opened to the public in a special outing sponsored by a citizen group from San Francisco that wanted San Francisco to buy the island for a recreation center.

The Civil Air Patrol reported it had enough applicants to form a squadron in Marin.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A BEGGAR STOOD in front of St. Louis' most fashionable hotel holding out a hat in each hand. The doorman said, "I don't want to chase you, mister, but what's the idea of two hats?" The beggar winked, and confided, "Business has been so good, I decided to open a branch office."

A Westchester golf club admitted a passionate, if hopeless player named Putney, who began his first round with a slice into a clubhouse window, followed by a vicious low hook that caught the president's wife squarely in her derriere. "What do you think we ought to do now?" whispered the flustered Mr. Putney to his caddy. "Well," said the caddy, "if we climb through this hedge here, we can catch a bus back to town."

"A man ought to feel what he's saying — I never heard a man yell 'ouch' without enthusiasm."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Generating The Bridge Gap At Entrance To Kent Woodlands

There seems to be something about a bridge that makes people want to orate.

At the wide wooden bridge at the College of Marin the other day, a starry-eyed girl came up and suggested:

"They should do as they do it in Europe — let the streams branch out and make the land more valuable." The coed said she is Sherry Walther of Lucas Valley and is interested in flood control.

Goateed Les Zuvier reminisced, saying, "I used to swim here when I was five. I was born here." Then he grew quite serious and remarked, "Why can't they think first of the fish which we can eat, then flood control?"

Other students questioned college planning director Dale Fleming: "What about making the channel deeper?" And, "What are the chances of foliating the area when you have completed this work?"

Twice students yelled out, "Talk louder!"

Twice Fleming, apparently over 30, said he was talking as loud as he was made to talk and went right on calmly explaining what had happened in the creek's history —before and after the Corps of Engineers.

SOME BRIDGES, probably too narrow, see no rallies. For example, there is an arched, green footbridge a short way down the stream which, at most, gets a few lovers who stop to hold hands or each other in addition to its regular foot traffic. It's quite romantic except for the bits of paper, cans and bottles in the creek.

Mrs. Jones made no claim to being an orator but was more interested in pointing out a brown mark on a culvert in Tamalpais Creek which she said was last winter's high water mark.

WE GOT ANOTHER telephone call from Mary Chinn Patrick of Kentfield, who is still running her crusade to find another name for Marinite. Herlatest is Marinthian.

She said that Boojum, a black animal with white paws and a white shirtfront under his chin, sometimes sleeps on the lawn. The other day at about 6 a.m., she let the cat into the house with what she thought to be a leaf on his tail.

As he entered the door, he flicked his tail and off flew a snail, leaving a slathery mark behind. We told the lady, who seemed awfully nice, that there was just nothing we could do.

ART BUCHWALD

Professors Show Great Minds, High Courage In Campus Riots

One of the things that impresses people about the student demonstrations is the strong stand that some members of the faculty are taking on the issues.

I was on the campus of Northamnesty University and ran into a professor who was trying to stop his nose from bleeding. His clothes were torn up and he was walking with a pronounced limp.

"What happened, professor?" I asked, as I helped him search for his glasses.

"The militant students just took over my office and threw me down the stairs."

"Why, that's terrible," I said.

"FROM MY POINT of view it is, but I think we have to look at it from their point of view. Why did they throw me down the stairs? Where have we, as faculty, failed them?"

"Are you going to press charges?"

"On the contrary. If I pressed charges, I would only be playing into the hands of the repressive forces outside the university who would like nothing better than to see the students arrested for assault."

"But they did assault you?"

"YES. I HAVE to admit I was surprised about that. But there was one heartening note. As they threw me down the stairs, one of the students yelled, 'It isn't you, professor. It's the system.'"

"That must have made you feel better."

"As I was tumbling down, the thought did occur to me that at least there was nothing personal in it."

"Say, professor, isn't that the philosophy building going up in flames?"

"I BELIEVE it is. Now, why did they have to go and set fire to the philosophy building?"

"I was going to ask you that."

"I'm not quite sure, because I haven't seen any of the students since they threw me down the stairs. My guess is that it probably has to do with something the administration and the students are at odds about."

"But that's a terrible thing to do."

"I DON'T THINK we should make judgments until all facts are in. I would say burning down a philosophy building could be interpreted as an unlawful act. At the same time, there are moments when an unlawful act can bring about just reforms."

"But the books, the records, the papers are all going up in smoke. Shouldn't we at least call the fire department?"

"I don't believe the fire department should be called until the faculty has met and voted on what course of action should be taken. There are times when a fire department can only inflame a situation. We should also hear from the students who started the fire and get their side of it. After all, they have as much stake in the university as anyone else, and if they don't want a philosophy building, we should at least listen to their arguments."

"I NEVER THOUGHT of it that way," I admitted. "Professor, I know you can't see very well without your glasses, but I believe the militant students over at the quadrangle are building a scaffold. They wouldn't hang anyone, would they?"

"They haven't before," the professor said. "But it's quite possible that this is their way of seeking a confrontation with the establishment."

As we were talking, a group of students rushed up and grabbed the professor. "We got one here," the ringleader shouted. "Get the rope."

"Don't worry professor," I shouted as I was pushed away by the mob. "I'll get the police."

"I wish you wouldn't," he said calmly, as the students led him toward the scaffold. "If we don't let the students try new methods of activism, they'll never know for themselves which ones work and which ones are counterproductive."

Petaluma Democrats Will Gather Sunday

Sonoma County Democrats will gather Sunday at 2 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Barlas, 195 Bailey Avenue, Petaluma, for a cocktail, swimming and jazz party.

Entertainment will feature the Walter Oster Jazz Trio. Oster, a music teacher, instructs a jazz course at Sonoma State College. John F. Shea, chairman of the Sonoma County Democratic Central Committee, describes the event as also an opportunity to discuss party issues.

Students Win Stocks As Prizes In Contest

Four Marin high school students yesterday received shares of stock and a savings deposit as prizes for their entries in the 14th annual Invest In America competition.

Top prize in the county went to Pamela Williams, a 17-year-old senior at San Domenico School for Girls in Sleepy Hollow. She received one share of common stock of Southern Pacific Co. at the award luncheon at the Woodlands restaurant, Kentfield.

The awards were presented by Kimball Palm, vice president of Brush Slocumb and Co., at the luncheon sponsored by the Ross Valley Kiwanis Club and the Northern California Industry-Education Council. The competition consisted of essays on investment.

REAGAN TAX FOES STRESS INFLATION

State Bonds Pinch Hits School Building; Post Urges Mandatory Tax Withholding

Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post warned that inflation has forced interest rates so high that California is unable to sell any of its bonds at the 5 per cent maximum allowed by law. (Other Sacramento stories, page 30.)

As a result, there soon will be no money to build schools or university and state college facilities or go ahead with the California Water Project he told a joint legislative committee today.

Post said $276.9 million is needed in the next 15 months to meet existing construction contracts — and he proposed a financing plan that immediately drew administration opposition.

And he recommended the governor adopt mandatory withholding of state personal income taxes — a tax collection method that brings in more than the current system.

Reagan insists on giving Californians the tax rebate and is adamantly opposed to compulsory withholding, proposing his own voluntary plan instead. It

Seven-Cent Letter Postage Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Richard M. Nixon today asked Congress to boost the price for mailing a first class letter to 7 cents. Post cards, and second and third class mail would also be raised in an effort to slash the nation's postal deficit.

In a message to Congress, Nixon said his proposals would reduce the record $1.2 billion 1970 postal deficit by more than $600 million.

The President said the only alternative to the rate increases would be to add $600 million "to the already considerable burden of our taxpayers."

Nixon proposed:

Raising the rate for first class letters and post cards 1 cents to 7 and 6 cents, respectively, effective July 1, 1969. The 10-cent air mail letter rate would remain unchanged.

Second class mail, newspapers and magazines circulating outside the county in which they are published, would be raised by 12 per cent July 1, 1970. This would be in addition to the 8 per cent increase scheduled to take effect next Jan. 1.

Third class mail, used by direct advertisers for so-called junk mail —would be increased by 16 per cent effective Jan. 1, 1970. The minimum single piece third class rate would go up 1 cent July 1. Bulk rates for third class mail are scheduled to be increased on July 1.

Faced with the "unhappy fact" of a record deficit, Nixon noted the Post office had been able to trim its $7.5 billion fiscal 1970 budget by only $140 million.

While a comprehensive review aimed at modernizing the Post Office is under way, Nixon said, "It is essential that financial pressures should not impair or reduce available services."

Nixon said Postmaster General Winton M. Blount had implemented some reforms but specific proposals requiring congressional action will be sent to Congress within the next 45 days.

The across-the-board increases, if adopted, will have

Inflation Outracing Workers' Paychecks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department reported today that last month's biggest rise in living costs in 18 years wiped out large pay gains of some 45 million workers, but a department spokesman insisted that the fires of inflation will start cooling.

The Bay area, already one of the most expensive places in the nation to live, got even more costly during the past four months.

Charles Roumasset, regional director of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said the cost of living in the San Francisco Metropolitan area was 5.1 per cent higher than in April 1968; he said the consumer price index rose 1.7 per cent since December.

Roumasset said goods and services costing $10 in 1957-59 now cost $12.89.

The March rise of eight-tenths of 1 per cent in consumer prices, nationwide, showed a continuing inflationary psychology on the part of the American people, said Asst. Commissioner Arnold Chase of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The price hikes pushed the Labor Department's consumer price index to 125.6, meaning it cost $12.56 last month for every $10 worth of typical living expenses in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

Chase said he is confident that fiscal and monetary restraints previously imposed by the government, including the 10 per cent federal income tax surcharge, will soon show a slowing effect on the nation's sharpest price rise since the Korean War.

"No fuel has been added to the fire," Chase said. "The fire will just have to burn itself out and I am confident it will do so."

A White House source said earlier that the Nixon administration is giving no consideration whatever to any type of wage-price controls, such as the government imposed in 1951 to halt a wartime inflationary spiral.

The bureau's price report for March said food increased four-

Hamilton Not Closing, Air Force Holds

Marinites Study Impact; Airport Takeover Urged

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

Military officials at Hamilton Air Force Base today said the closure of two major headquarters and the combat center at the base does not foreshadow the entire elimination of the base.

Novato area business and government leaders, meanwhile, expressed hopes that the base — a major prop of North Marin's economy—would remain.

A former member of the Marin County Aviation Commission, however, predicted that the closures were the first step in a complete phasing out of the base and urged the county to take steps to turn Hamilton into a major civilian airport.

Defense Secretary Melvin Laird announced at the Pentagon today that the combat center and the headquarters of the Fourth Air Force and the North American Air Defense Command's Western Region would be deactivated by September.

The Independent-Journal reported the expected closings yesterday.

The Hamilton closings were among 36 across the country which Laird said would save $95 million annually.

The annual payroll of the personnel affected at Hamilton is $5.7 million, $4 million military and $1.7 million civilian. Hamilton officials stressed, however, that some of the affected personnel would stay at Hamilton.

Personnel being reassigned to other installations will start leaving the Base after August 15.

At Hamilton, the closings will affect 637 military and 204 civilian personnel, some of whom will be assigned to other units at Hamilton, but most of whom will be transferred.

Air Force officials said the civilian employees will be offered employment elsewhere.

Hamilton officials said the base's home unit, the 78th Fighter Wing, its component units — including the Convair F106 Delta Dart — equipped 84th Fighter Interceptor Squadron — and other organizations at the base will remain.

"This definitely does not mean the Defense Department intends to eliminate Hamilton," one official said.

Ben Ostlind, former Marin aviation commissioner and long an advocate of civilian use of Hamilton, said of the closings: "I am convinced the base is being slowed down to a halt and units pulled out one at a time. The Air Force will not keep

Lodge Urges Practical Troop Talks

PARIS (AP) — The United States today urged North Vietnam to join in practical steps immediately to begin withdrawing outside forces of both sides from South Vietnam.

Speaking at the 14th enlarged session of the Vietnam peace talks, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge declared that this could start a series of events to end the war. He said he saw "no good reason why that process should not begin soon."

North Vietnam representative Xuan Thuy, however, replied that the only foreign troops in South Vietnam were those of the United States and its allies and what is needed is their withdrawal.

Thuy's statement seemed to rebuff, at least for the present, Lodge's appeal to end "historical" exchanges and get down to practical problems.

Tran Buu Kiem, representative of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front, also continued to press a hard-line policy. He insisted that the way to end the war was for the United States to withdraw its forces and stop clinging to the present Saigon administration.

"If the United States refuses to follow this trend," Kiem said, "and instead continues to intensify its war of aggression, it will sustain still heavier losses."

Thuy denied at the four-hour and 50-minute session that his government was trying to drive the United States into a corner by insisting on the unilateral withdrawal of U.S. forces.

South Vietnam's Pham Dang Lam told his adversaries that the Saigon government would take a sympathetica attitude toward the Vietnamese who are now bearing arms against it.

"The government of the republic of Vietnam," he added, "only demands that they abandon violence in order, along with other citizens, that they may participate in the democratic political life within the legal and constitutional framework and in a spirit of great national unity and national reconciliation."

This appeared to be in line with previous statements that

Unruh Not In Favor Of Sirhan Death

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Assembly Democratic Leader Jesse M. Unruh, a close friend of the slain Robert F. Kennedy, said today he does not think Sirhan Bishara Sirhan should be put to death for Kennedy's assassination. (Other Sirhan stories, photo, page 10.)

"I personally would have preferred that the jury decide to put Sirhan away for the rest of his life rather than to send him to the gas chamber," added Unruh in a statement.

It was the former state Assembly speaker's first comment on the Sirhan trial except from the witness stand. Unruh was near Kennedy's side last June 6 when the New York senator and presidential candidate was shot to death.

Unruh said today, "I mean to imply no criticism of the jury when I say now that I disagree with the jury on the final verdict for the death sentence for Sirhan.

"To close out the career of Robert Francis Kennedy by exacting the life of another human being — sane or insane, mad killer or demented exhibitionist — is not the last chapter that ought to be written in the brilliant public record of a gentleman who bore hate for no man . . ."

Cornell Moves To End Campus Strife

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cornell University faculty has reversed its earlier decision and quashed disorder charges against three Negro students, but the Ithaca, N.Y., campus hasn't yet returned to normal.

The situation was the same today at City College of New York where classes remained closed. However, two Washington, D. C., universities and Princeton University resumed classes while protests continued at some other schools.

On another major unrest front today, Harvard President Nathan M. Pusey broke public silence on the three-week-old turmoil on his Cambridge, Mass., campus and told more than 800 Business School students that "disruption and coercion has absolutely no place on this campus or any campus."

The decision late yesterday at Cornell, a reversal of a previous stand by the faculty, was denounced by some professors as a surrender to intimidation. But James A. Perkins, president of the Ivy League school, declared: "My optimism for the immediate and long range future of Cornell has enormously increased."

However, a number of classes were suspended again today to permit discussion of the issues raised by the five days of campus turmoil.

Perkins said the university should now try to find out "how black and white brothers and sisters are to work out in dignity and equality their respective values and missions."

Dr. Allan P. Sindler, chairman of the school's government department, submitted his resignation following the faculty vote, which he described as "a complete capitulation to coercion."

Students Out In Hayakawa Protest

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI)—Two students were expelled from the University of Colorado today for taking part in a demonstration against S. I. Hayakawa, acting president of San Francisco State College.

The expulsion, effective immediately, was upheld today by a Colorado University Appeal Committee consisting of three deans.

The two, John Buttny, 31, of Durham, N.H., and Brian McQuerrey, 25, of Boulder, had remained in school pending the decision of the appeals committee.

Blockbusting Suit Filed In Baltimore

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department filed its first suit today under the anti-blockbusting provisions of the 1968 Civil Rights Act, charging a Baltimore real estate company with discriminating against Negroes.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said the civil suit moved for an injunction to order Baltimore's Castle Realty Co. to "take such affirmative steps as may be necessary and appropriate to correct the effects of past unlawful practices."

The complaint, filed in U.S. District Court in Baltimore, marked the second blockbusting case taken up by the Justice Department under the Nixon administration.

The first came in Chicago March 28 when the government entered a suit, brought by a group of Negro homeowners, as a "friend of the court."

Blockbusting is the practice whereby speculators create a panic situation in a white community disturbed by the entry of Negroes, thereby inducing homeowners to sell at far below actual value. The homes are then resold to Negroes at prices above actual value with the speculator often realizing a huge profit from the deal.

Named in the Baltimore suit were Allen S. Mintzes and his wife, Elaine, who jointly own and operate the real estate company.

The government accused them of "inducing and attempting to induce persons to sell dwellings by representations regarding the entry and prospective entry into the neighborhood of persons of a particular race or color."

ON WATCH IN JERUSALEM — Israeli soldiers man rooftop posts as their countrymen watch past the walls of the old city in celebration of Israel's Independence Day. Heavy security prevented any incidents yesterday, although nearby Lebanon was rocked by violent pro-Palestine rioting. (UPI Radiophoto)

Lebanon Riots Kill 16 Over Palestine Issue

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A new clash broke out between Palestinians and troops in Lebanon today and four persons were reported killed despite a state of emergency designed to keep the nation calm.

Several thousand Palestinian refugees, protesting restrictions on Arab guerrillas operating in Lebanon against Israel, broke through a cordon of troops in the southern town of Tyre and attacked a police station.

Twelve persons were killed and 62 were wounded in scattered clashes yesterday. The imposition of a state of emergency was accompanied by curfews in Beirut and five other major towns.

One witness said the Palestinians burned a Lebanese flag at the police station before being driven back to Tyre's Rashidien refugee camp. The camp holds 10,000 Palestinians uprooted from homes in Israel.

Strict military censorship has been imposed under the state of emergency laws. All security forces were placed under the command of the army chief, Gen. Emile Bustani.

In the north of the country armored cars sealed off the Christian village of Zhorta near Tripoli for fear of clashes between Christians and Moslems.

In Beirut's Palestinian quarter many people defied the curfew to carry on normal business. Police dispersed gatherings of more than two or three but there was no violence.

Premier Rashid Karami considered resigning but was persuaded by cabinet colleagues to remain in office, government sources reported. He made a dramatic midnight appeal for national unity and pledged the government would take all necessary measures to maintain law and order.

The premier said the entire country supports the Palestinian cause and noted that the government approved a new conscription law last night.

Lebanon's population is about half Christian and half Moslem, and the government generally has tried to steer clear of involvement in the Middle East fighting.

In line with this, it has tried to prevent Palestinian commandos from using Lebanon as a base for operations against Israel, but in reprisal for an Arab attack on a Israeli El Al airliner at Athens last December, Israeli commandos attacked Beirut International Airport and destroyed 13 Lebanese planes.

B52s Pound Reds In Heaviest Raids

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers made their heaviest raids of the Vietnam war last night near the Cambodian border, dropping more than 2,000 tons of bombs along a 30-mile stretch northwest of Saigon, the U.S. Command reported.

The targets of the giant Stratofortresses were enemy bases in the Viet Cong's War Zone C, where the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have built a network of camouflaged roads and infiltration routes on which to move supplies and troops from Cambodia into Vietnam. Some of the bombing was within a mile and a half of the border.

Meanwhile, the Viet Cong offensive dwindled to 11 rocket and mortar attacks last night, with over-all damage and casualties reported light as usual.

Ground fighting again was scattered, but in one fierce clash yesterday five miles south of the demilitarized zone, eight U.S. Marines were killed and 19 wounded by North Vietnamese troops firing heavy weapons from caves. The bodies of 14 North Vietnamese were found after the fight.

Two more U.S. helicopters were shot down yesterday, killing nine Americans and wounding three. This raised the total of U.S. helicopters reported lost in the war to 2,551.

The casualty totals last week were 216 Americans killed in action, 1,602 U.S. troops wounded, 329 government soldiers killed, 884 wounded, and 3,379 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed.

This brought the total casualties reported for the first eight weeks of the Viet Cong offensive to 2,360 Americans and 2,618 South Vietnamese killed in action, 14,321 U.S. troops and 10,207 South Vietnamese soldiers wounded, and 34,75 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed.

Detroit Loses 15 Catholic Schools

DETROIT (AP) — Acting on an investigative report citing extreme costs to run schools, Archbishop John F. Dearden announced yesterday that six Roman Catholic high schools and nine elementary schools in his archdiocese must close in June.

He said it was with "extreme regret" that he made the announcement affecting 1,600 high school and 1,800 grade school pupils. The new closing order brings to 47 the number of archdiocesan schools scheduled to shut down.

Accident Claims A Fourth Victim

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A fourth person died yesterday of injuries suffered last week when a speeding car crashed into a crowd of pedestrians and a bus at a Mission Street intersection.

Danilo Melo, 21, San Francisco, a hotel valet, never regained consciousness following the April 15 crash. He died at a local hospital.

The driver, chauffeur Robert Rivers, 32, remained in city jail in lieu of $25,000 bond. He faces a preliminary hearing May 2 on charges of manslaughter, drunk driving, driving on the wrong side of the street, and going through a stop light.

Congressional Revamping Gains Favor

WASHINGTON (AP — Speaker John W. McCormack, never known in the past to favor congressional reorganization, says he is delighted that a serious effort is under way to streamline House procedures.

Several reorganizations bills have been introduced this session, but the first serious move toward getting an acceptable measure didn't come until Tuesday when House Rules Committee Chairman William D. Colmer, D-Miss., appointed a subcommittee to come up with appropriate legislation.

McCormack, D-Mass., said in an interview:

"I have asked them to come up with a reorganization bill. I've been after them about it all along and I'm delighted that they're going to do something about it."

House sources said this is the first time the speaker has actively worked for a reorganization measure. In the past, they said, he never openly opposed such bills, but by refusing to put the prestige of his office behind reorganization efforts he virtually caused their defeat.

The subcommittee will study all reorganization proposals at its disposal, including three bills introduced this session and proposals made in the past by Republicans.

The Aid to Families with Dependent Children task force will hold its final meetings next Tuesday and on May 13. Both meetings will begin at 8 p.m. at the Civic Center.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Growth Pattern

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau says the race to the suburbs seems to be tapering off but the Negro population of cities is growing while some whites still are moving out of town.

The rate of growth in the suburbs in the 1960s has been 2.8 per cent compared with 4 per cent in the 1950s, the bureau reported yesterday.

From 1960 to 1968 the entire U.S. population rose 20 million with 14 million of the growth in suburban areas. Only one million of the suburban settlers were non-whites.

In that same period the Negro population of U.S. cities increased by almost 23 per cent while the number of city whites was off 4 per cent.

BOYS TOWN, Neb. (AP) — Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher has revisited the boyhood home he calls "a little bit of heaven."

With flags and placards and cheers the citizens of this City of Little Men — a haven for neglected, delinquent or orphan boys — greeted him as a heroic son.

Speaking to some 500 Boys Town High School students in their dining room last night, the skipper of the USS Pueblo told the boys, "Each of you is a brother to me."

Forgotten GI Ends Up Jailed

PORTERVILLE (UPI) — A Porterville soldier who said the Army forgot about him for 15 months today was lodged in the Porterville City Jail.

Pfc. Richard G. Beaty, 21, was arrested last night on charges of speeding and drunken driving. Police said he refused to take a blood alcohol test, which could result in the loss of his driver's license.

Beaty was to report to Fort Ord tomorrow to find out if the Army has decided to discharge him and pay him some 11 months back pay.

He said he was given a 30-day leave in November, 1967, and told to await orders to ship out to Vietnam, but the orders never came.

War Continues

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — The end of the Nigerian civil war is not in sight despite the reported capture yesterday of Umuahia, Biafra's provisional capital.

One high-ranking Nigerian officer said he expected five more years of fighting before federal forces subdue the Ibo tribesmen of Eastern Nigeria who seceded from the federation on May 30, 1967.

The Biafrans are expected to make their capital now in Orlu, 36 miles northwest of Umuahia. It is near the two airstrips by which they receive arms and other supplies.

Uneasy Quiet

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Scattered violence punctuated an uneasy quiet in Northern Ireland last night after the government agreed to the Roman Catholic demand for universal suffrage in local elections.

Shortly after midnight saboteurs blew up a water pumping station near Belfast airport. The blast reduced water supplies to the capital, where water already is being rationed because of two pipe explosions last week.

GOP-Dixie Union Still Has Strength

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Republican-Southern Democratic coalition, showing it can still call some legislative shots has passed a bill limiting extension of federal aid to schools for two years.

In joining the Republican, the Southern Democrats brought about the defeat of the three-year extension sought by their party leaders.

In past years, even during Democratic administrations, the Southerners formed with Republicans in a coalition to stop what they considered too liberal legislation.

House Democratic leaders found yesterday they were powerless to stop the coalition even in this time of a Republican in the White House.

Besides limiting aid extension to two years, a move supported by President Nixon, the coalition, with help from a key northern Democrat, Rep. Edith Green of Oregon, also moved another step forward in its drive to provide lump-sum grants instead of funding specified programs.

The bill, sent to the Senate floor after three days of debate would bring together four programs which now require separate applications and separate grants.

Democratic leaders, who met for several days with southern representatives had trimmed their own bill to meet demands.

But on the final roll call vote that put the Green-sponsored package over and sealed their defeat, they lost 235-184, with 60 Democrats deserting to the Republicans. Only nine Republicans supported the version backed by the Democrats.

The House then joined to give final approval to the bill 400-17.

The bill continues until fiscal 1972 the Elementary and Secondary Education Act that funnels more than $1 billion a year into school districts that have a high concentration of children from low-income families.

The bill also make funds available for library materials, experimental educational programs and aid to migrant and handicapped children. A total of $5 billion a year is authorized for the programs, but the actual money appropriated has been less than half that amount.

Rally Seeks Amnesty For State Rebels

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Amnesty is being demanded for "all students arrested in the San Francisco State College rebellion."

A scribbled demand was handed yesterday to acting president S. I. Hayakawa by a delegation of 10 demonstrators.

Hayakawa told the delegation he was "glad to receive this peaceful protest" and would prepare an answer.

The judge said the only evidence to support disciplinary action against the two was a police report that more than 400 suspects had been arrested and booked.

Nixon Pays Chief Justice Dinner Salute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren, accepting a White House salute from one-time political foe Richard M. Nixon, says he will leave his post "without malice in my heart toward anyone."

Warren, who retires in June, was hailed yesterday by the President at a black tie dinner at the White House, where champagne toasts washed down some bitter memories.

Among the 108 guests Nixon gathered to honor Warren's 50 years of public service, were the chief justice's family, friends, court colleagues, government officials and seven men often mentioned as candidates for the top seat on the Supreme Court.

Before his 1953 appointment as chief justice by the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Republican Warren was a political power in California, serving in several state offices, including three terms as governor.

In 1948 he was Dewey's vice presidential running mate.

During that time Nixon criticized Warren's political stand as too liberal. He also has attacked many of the decisions of the Supreme Court under Warren, on the same grounds.

But since winning the presidency, Nixon's relations with Warren have warmed and he asked the chief justice to administer his oath of office last Jan. 20.

school's South Campus, which they barricaded Tuesday.

Gallagher said he would meet with protest leaders today, and said he had gained one concession: "They have told me I can sleep in my own home tonight" —inside the occupied area. He spent Tuesday night off campus.

About 50 white radicals occupied Klapper Hall, adjacent to South Campus, to support the Black and Puerto Rican Student Coalition demands for greater enrollment of minority group students among the college's 20,000 undergraduates and for a separate school of black studies.

About a dozen students, led by Students for a Democratic Society, stormed the administration building at American University in Washington, D.C., and evicted the president. Eight hours later they were forced out by a band of youths led by fraternity members. There was brief scuffling but no reported injuries.

At Washington's Georgetown University, 30 SDS members ended at 3:15 a.m. a takeover of the Institute of Sino-Soviet Studies after the administration gave them 15 minutes to clear the building or it would enforce a court restraining order. During their five-hour protest, the students smashed furniture, broke windows and ripped up files.

They demanded abolition of the institute, the Reserve Officers Training Corps program, the Naval Logistics Research Laboratory and the Human Resources Office and sought open enrollment for Negroes.

SDS members at Princeton blocked the entrance to the Institute for Defense Analyses, which does Defense Department research, but left after three hours when police arrived. In several scuffles between students, the dean of students was knocked on the ground. Classes, however, were being held today.

Meanwhile, Columbia University marked the anniversary of last spring's major disorders with a peaceful rally by whites to support black student demands for a larger role in reviewing applications from blacks.

At other campuses:

Cambridge — Officials at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology promised to look into MIT's link with defense projects. Defense Department figures show MIT led all universities in fiscal 1967 with $92.4 million allocated for military work.

Syracuse, N.Y.—Hundreds of students boycotted classes to protest an increase in tuition. No incidents were reported.

At Fordham, a Roman Catholic school, 100 students remained in the outer office of the college president to demand abolition of ROTC. Rev. Michael Walsh said a court injunction would be served on them today.

The sit-in at Queensborough awaited a decision by a state Supreme Court justice on whether to grant a school application for a restraining order. The protest is aimed at the refusal to rehire a leftwing English professor. President Kurt Schmeller, who has refused to meet with the protesters, fired three professors for joining the sit-in.

The Queens College sit-in appeared to be losing support, and its organizers, the Ad hoc Committee to End Political Suppression, said "other action is planned."

Atlanta, Ga.—The board chairman of Morehouse College said the trustees consider null and void two concessions they granted students who imprisoned them last week. But student government leaders has already decided to repudiate the entire pact, which was signed with about 100 students of the school's 1,000.

Lafayette, Ind.—Students called off a boycott of Purdue University after President Frederick L. Hovde said he would ask legislators for more state funds. The week-old protest was aimed at scheduled tuition increases.

tenths of 1 per cent, housing nine-tenths, clothing eight-tenths, transportation 1.9 per cent, and medical care eight-tenths.

The two largest single factors were a further increase in home mortgage interest rates, up 3.5 per cent last month and 10 per cent higher over the past nine months, and a 6 per cent rise in used car prices which followed a 6.5 per cent jump in February.

Living costs rose 1.5 per cent fort he first quarter of this year, the steepest climb of any calendar quarter in some 13 years.

But Chase said other economic indicators showed that the nation's economic rate is slowing, which should bring a corresponding slackening in price increases.

There has been a general expectation of price increases on the part of the public; this inflationary psychology prompts them to buy things before prices go up, "and in turn helps bring about more price increases," Chase said.

The bureau also reported a substantial rise in wholesale prices of food and industrial raw materials. The wholesale price index went up five-tenths of 1 per cent in March, to 111.7, and preliminary April figures indicate a further rise of two-tenths, the bureau said.

The rise in living costs included substantial rises in property taxes, ranging from 1.5 per cent to as much as 33 per cent in some cities, but Chase said "they are supposed to be deflationary" although reflected in the consumer price index.

Retail gasoline prices went up 1 cent per gallon or more in many cities and there were increases in air fares, intercity bus and fail fares that, combined with the used car price hikes, contributed to the big jump in transportation costs.

Sausalito Man To Face Charges

A Sausalito man, who was declared insane and has spent several months in a state mental hospital, has returned and will face charges of burglarizing a Mill Valley doctor's office on Dec. 28.

A preliminary hearing for Daniel Heber Lightsey, 32, was set yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for Tuesday.

Office Burgled

An electric typewriter and a tape recorder were taken from an office in the Community Mental Health Center Tuesday, sheriff's deputies said today, but the tape recorder later was found by a deputy in brush behind the center.

Air Force Explains Removals At Hamilton

Hamilton as a flying base for long."

He urged Marin officials to "get something going out there," adding: "We should work with the military . . . for a joint air traffic pattern. Once they say yes to that, it will not take long to get commitments from the necessary people to get the financing to make a go as a major airport.

"I do not want them to leave suddenly. I just want them to give us time enough to pick up the ball. It is our only hope for a major airport in the county."

Other civic and business leaders were optimistic that the base would remain. Richard Nave, president of the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau and a member of the aviation commission, said, "We have gone through this before. Of course, any decrease in the number of personnel in Hamilton, which is our number one industry, is not good for our economy . . . (but) I feel that Hamilton is going to be there for a long time. Other units will be sent to take their place to keep Hamilton going."

In its announcement, the Air Force said there is no planned movement of replacement units into Hamilton but officials added that many functions already there will be beefed up. No firm figures were available, however.

The combat center building at the base will be placed in a "housekeeping status" pending future requirements, the air force said. The equipment of the affected organizations will be redistributed to other sites, or fill authorized requirements in the Air Force, Army or Navy or other federal requirements, an Air Force statement said.

J. Wayne Womack, former Novato Mayor and a present member of the Novato City Council, said the cutback would have some effect on the area's economy "but it should not be major because of the terrific housing shortage at this time."

He added, "I hate to see them go, but I feel there will be a replacement for the Fourth Air Force with another operation."

George Barnwell, president of the Novato Chamber of Commerce, said Novato and Marin County will feel the impact of a reduction in Hamilton's payroll, but he added that reductions at the base had been rumored for some time.

Barnwell said increased efforts should be made to work out joint civilian use of the base.

The Fourth Air Force headquarters was activated at Hamilton in 1946 when it was moved from San Francisco. It was responsible for the air defense of the entire western United States. The unit was deactivated from 1960 to 1966 when the 28th Air Division at Hamilton served the same functions.

The Western Norad Region was activated at Hamilton when the Fourth Air Force was reactivated on April 1, 1966. The headquarters was responsible for the aerospace defense of the 11 western states and the two western Canadian provinces.

Air Force spokesmen said the functions currently handled by the affected units at Hamilton will be transferred to headquarters of the Tenth Air Force at Richards-Gebaur Air Force Base near Kansas City. The Central NORAD Region currently headquartered at Richards-Gebaur will become the Western NORAD Region.

Other commands at Hamilton include the Western Communications region, the Western Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Center, the Sixth Air Force Reserve Region, the 349th Military Airlift Wing, the 41st Rescue and Recovery Squadron, and the Aerospace Defense Command's Noncommissioned Officers Academy.

The Air Force announced earlier this year that the 349th would be transferred to Travis Air Force Base in July.

The base also has small units of the Military Airlift Command, the Tactical Air Command and the Air Force auditor General's office.

Army Maj. Gen. James R. Winn, commander of the Western NORAD Region, and Air Force Maj. Gen. Robert W. Burns, Fourth Air Force commander, said in a joint statement today:

"The realignment is part of a phased modernization of the nation's air defense system and the remaining radar and command and control system in the conitnental United States will provide the necessary effective coverage of the nation's vital peripheral zone."

The Air Force said the deactivations across the nation are part of an "extensive reorganization of NORAD's ground environment and command and control structure designed to achieve more survivability and to provide an effective, modernized follow-in system."

The announcement added: "This reorganization is part of the Department of Defense decision, reported last year, to begin a phased modernization of the air defense system.

"The concept is to phase down to a smaller and less costly system, while taking advantage of technical advances, improve operational concepts and the integration of Federal Aviation Administration facilities."

TAX

Posts' report is expected to be cited by Democrats and Republicans in the legislature seeking to kill or revise Reagan's plan.

Finance Director Caspar Weinberger, speaking for the administration, rejected withholding. "I disagree with it strongly," he said. "It is not a solution."

Weinberger said, "there is a danger we may overplay the seriousness" of the bond problem, and said it was "temporary" — caused only by inflation.

Post warned that "if the state is unable to market its water bonds or issue bond anticipation notes or obtain some other sources of financing, then the State Water Project will come to a halt this fall."

Alan Browne, a vice president of the Bank of America, told the committee that "the effect on California of a halt in the construction program would be catastrophic."

Issuing of bond anticipation notes — short term bonds — was another solution advanced by Post. Others included boosting the maximum interest rate and issuing revenue bonds that could be repaid with revenues from state projects.

He also said the average life of current bond could be reduced, allowing their sale at somewhat lower interest rates.

Later, the legislature moved ahead with a partial solution. The Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee approved a package of legislation by Sen. Gordon Cologne, R-Indio, to raise from 5 to 6 per cent the interest rate the state is allowed to pay.

individual members of the Viet Cong could participate in future elections if they renounced the use of force and did not label themselves as Communists.

The U.S. representative said the talks had spent 13 weeks going into the history of the Vietnam conflict and that it is now time to begin serious negotiations.

"Let us, therefore, now get down to the task of bringing the war in Vietnam to an end," he said. "Let us seek practical solutions to practical problems."

Lodge repeated that the United States is "prepared to begin the withdrawal of U.S. forces from South Vietnam simultaneously with the external forces on your side."

the effect of making those who use the postal service most bear the costs more adequately, the President said.

Blount told reporters at a White House briefing that in 1792 when Benjamin Franklin was the nation's first postmaster general, it also cost 6 cents — but to mail just one sheet of paper 30 miles — by pony express or stage coach.

The rates declined through the 19th century to reach a low of 2 cents for a half ounce in 1883 and 2 cents for one ounce in 1885.

The rate went to 5 cents in 1963 and to 6 cents at the beginning of last year for first class mail. Other classes have been raised by varying amounts.

Petition Decries Speeding Traffic

Laurel Grove Avenue in Kentfield is becoming a "hazardous speedway" and should be controlled by arterial stop signs at Cypress Avenue and Mann Drive, according to a petition filed yesterday.

A petition, with 105 signatures, was submitted to the Marin County Board of Supervisors by E. J. Hennessy of 107 Laurel Grove Avenue.

"Many automobiles attain rates of 40 and 55 miles per hour on the stretch between Fay Drive and Palm Avenue," said Hennessy. "It is the contention of the petitioners that arterial stop signs must be installed northwest bound and southeast bound in the area of Cypress and Mann."

In the past three years, said Hennessy, he has had to call an ambulance three times because of traffic injuries.

Music Room Looted Of Stereo Speakers

The room, in the Fine Arts Building, was apparently entered in late afternoon.

Ecumenical Housing Group Elects Slate

Douglas P. Ferguson, Mill Valley attorney, was elected last night as president of the Ecumenical Association for Housing in Marin.

Directors of the nonprofit corporation, meeting at the Civic Center, adopted bylaws and set annual dues at $25 per member.

Vice president, Mrs. L. L. Schaeffer of Mill Valley Community Church; secretary, Edwin Weed of St. Stephens Church of Belvedere; treasurer, Robert Macgowan of Redwood National Bank; members at large, Lawrence Livingston Jr. of Marin Fellowship of Unitarians, Rev. Francis Geddes of First Congregational Church of San Rafael and Elmo Cerruti of St. Sebastians Church of Greenbrae.

Westminster Presbyterian Church of Tiburon and St. Anselm's Church of San Anselmo joined the association last night to bring total membership to 23.

Martin Mackey, executive director, reported that the association has applied for funds from various foundations to support sponsors of low-income housing.

One such sponsor is the First Congregational Church in Los Ranchitos, which is planning a housing project on church property at North San Pedro Road and Merrydale Road. The board of supervisors last week approved rezoning of the church property from agricultural to apartment zoning, with a density of 19 units per acre.

"Our role is to serve as a catalyst for such sponsors of housing," said Ferguson. "Our role is to give professional advice, short term financial assistance to sponsors, and to encourage smaller housing projects that may not come under federal housing aid."

Mother, Young Children Slain

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A mother and her two young daughters were shot to death today and police took their father into custody after he pointed a rifle at himself.

Police officials identified the victims as Mrs. Sadako McQuiston, 37, and her daughters, Lillian, 11, and Ana, 10.

Court records showed that the Japanese-born Mrs. McQuiston filed yesterday for divorce from her husband, Albert, 35.

Officers said McQuiston, a truck driver, and neighbors called police to the family home early today. Seven squad cars and some 15 policemen arrived and flushed McQuiston from the house with tear gas.

Warning On Pill Use By Students

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A clinical toxicologist has warned that use of barbiturate pills in San Francisco public schools has become a "virtual epidemic" which police say may be fueled by the theft of 250,000 pills from a warehouse.

"It gives them a cheap drunk," said Dr. Richard Rappolt Sr. "Under the influence of these pills, the children become quite bold. Their inhibitions are lowered, and they say and do things they wouldn't normally do—such as steal cars or commit burglaries."

He said the pills, seconal, nembutal and tuinal, are prescribed by doctors as sleeping pills.

Vandalism Reported To Office Building

Vandalism totaling $200 to the Del Prado building, 880 Las Gallinas Avenue, San Rafael, has been reported by Leon Wachter of San Diego, part owner of the building, police said.

Wachter reported yesterday that several light fixtures were torn off the building and flood lamps destroyed Friday.

Seeking Rentals

Switchboard of Marin is seeking rooms, apartments and homes in the $50 to $150 range to assist persons who call Switchboard in search of housing, officials of the information service have reported. Persons who can add to the Switchboard's available housing file may contact the service in San Rafael.

Big Profit On Land By Reagan Pals

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A group of aides and former aides to Gov. Ronald Reagan is reselling 2,000 acres of undeveloped Sierra foothill land for $1.5 million — a profit of about 50 per cent.

"We're very, very pleased," said the spokesman for the group, Curtis C. Patrick of Los Angeles. "We made a real, fair profit."

The sale was reported today by Martin Salditch of the Riverside Press and Enterprise and confirmed by Patrick in a telephone interview.

Patrick is the former Reagan assistant who arranged the purchase of the land in 1967. It is being sold now to a Los Angeles investment group of physicians. The sale is in escrow and should become final by July 1.

The land is in Nevada County about 50 miles northeast of Sacramento.

Although Reagan was not in on the purchase and resale, he sometimes went to the ranch to ride horses.

Patrick has resigned from the governor's staff since the purchase was made. Other former Reagan aides who were part of the purchase group were Philip M. Battaglia, Richard Quinn, Mrs. Lee Holt and Lyn Nofziger. They formed the Grass Valley Land Co. under Patrick. The firm now is being dissolved, he said.

Present Reagan aides who were members of the group are Arthur F. VanCourt, Reagan's travel secretary and security guard, and Charles P. Tyson, a special assistant in the governor's office.

Windshield Broken

Albert William Gannon, a teacher at San Rafael Military Academy, reported yesterday someone had thrown a bottle through the windshield of his truck while it was parked near the academy, police said. Damage was $150.

The three-hour course will be conducted by the Marin County Heart Association, he said.

In attendance at the main fire station will be the Novato firemen and police, Hamilton Air Force Base emergency personnel, base hospital staff members and the Marinwood Fire Department, according to Kidder. The exact date of the course has not yet been set, he said.

The Novato Fire District Board Also:

Couple Hurt In Collision Of Cars

A San Rafael couple was treated at Marin General Hospital last night following a collision between their car and one driven by Ernest E. Adnerson, 66, of Redwood Drive, Woodacre on Second Street at the intersection with the Highway 101 onramp, San Rafael.

Paul Gagnon, 62, of 11 Bret Avenue, the driver was treated for a back strain and broken rib, while Dorothy Gagnon, 58, was treated for multiple bruises and a broken rib, hospital officials said.

Meeting Not Held

The Kentfield Fire District board did not meet last night for lack of a quorum, Fire Chief Kenneth Kamp said. The next meeting, to review the proposed 1969-70 budget, will be at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the firehouse.

San Rafael Sewer Pact Worked Out

Members of the San Rafael City Council and San Rafael Sanitation District board agreed informally last night on settlement of jurisdictional problems.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini said a proposal was made for the city to take over operation of sewer lines while the sanitation district would take control of the pumping station and build a new one.

The plan will be presented at a city council meeting for approval in the near future, Bettini said.

The mayor said the city's sewer operation has been muddled in the past because of overlapping ownership of street lines.

Earlier, the district board met and agreed to an engineering study on relocation of the pumping station along Francisco Boulevard.

Under consideration is a site at Second and Irwin streets, where the city expects to obtain land from the state Division of Highways.

Directors requested that Dominic Selmi of Dan Coleman and Associates be invited to attend their next meeting at 5 p.m. May 14 at city hall to discuss the proposed study and fee.

Special Meeting

The Petaluma Planning Commission will meet in special session at 8 a.m. tomorrow at city hall to consider the final map for the Foothill Manor subdivision on South McDowell Boulevard and site designs for duplexes planned by Norman Rollins on Cherry Street and Magnoli Avenue and for a proposed triplex planned by Wes Gehrke at 424 Seventh Street.

The man, Jimmie L. Johnson, suffered spinal injuries and a fractured jaw in a head-on collision.

$17,000 In Bookstore Funds Urged For Needy Collegians

By FRANK FARRARA

Marin Junior College District trustees will be faced tonight with an urgent request to free $17,000 in estimated student bookstore profits to aid needy students on an emergency basis.

The cry to help students in need of immediate funds, sometimes angry and sometimes loud, but always persistent, came last night at a meeting of a special committee on financial aid to students.

There was a tense moment when student Del Mar Jackson, said he had been insulted by acting president Louis H. Herkenhoff and called Herkenhoff a 12-letter name.

"I'm going to slay the — out of you," Jackson said as he arose from his chair and faced the seated Herkenhoff.

"I didn't insult you," Herkenhoff replied.

Faculty member Noel Nelson, a committee member rose from his chair, as did Trustee Charles W. Gray, a spectator, and the incident passed.

Charles Sizemore, a counselor and committee member, urged the group to decide the issue in a constructive, positive way."

Educators "learn to use the word game and how to confuse people, and people who don't relate get up and get mad," he noted.

A co-ed criticized the reaction to Jackson's outburst saying that when there was talk about students starving, there was no reaction, but upon hearing a few words: "You all freak out."

Through the long discussion, including reports of hungry students and students sleeping in cars for lack of funds, the issue boiled down to seeking immediate aid.

Student O'Herrow Marshall, a committee member, moved that the committee recommend that the board restore to the student fund the percentage of bookstore profits, taken from the fund last fall.

Business Mgr. Norman Bird explained that there would be about $17,000 involved, $14,000 previously anticipated profit and $3,000 in additional profit.

Trustee Robert E. Oliver suggested that the committee could ask for the additional $3,000 tonight, and consider the $14,000, which the district has already allocated in its budget, at next Wednesday's committee session.

(The board will meet at 8 p.m. in Room G-1 of the physical education plant.)

Trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy wanted to wait until after next Wednesday's session before bringing a recommendation to the board.

She said she wanted to make sure that the committee's recommendation would be effective, and meet the student needs.

The vote to bring the recommendation to the board tonight was 3-2 with Sizemore and students Marshall and Bill Acosta for it, and Oliver and Mrs. Deedy opposing.

Student Michael McGinn contended the students were vehement because the board "isn't flexible." He suggested that "in light of the human need and the importance of the problem" the board dip into its reserve fund."

Sizemore charged that the committee was "organized against the students, otherwise the students wouldn't have to fight so hard."

Students shouldn't have to fight," he said. "We're fighting each other over some pennies, all of us."

Money has to be used for life and the committee "has to consider the entire community including students," Sizemore asserted.

He said he wasn't opposed to the work-study program, but that "work-study alone" wasn't financial aid, and that the needs of the students relate to attending school, not "to personal luxury."

Committee members talked about the need for food housing, transportation, and medical assistance and books, and Herkenhoff said local tax money couldn't be used for student aid.

Charles Herndon, financial aids officer, reported that 290 students have received financial assistance, and the committee agreed one of its goals is to find funds for the 1969-70 college year.

One student said when students have "to live in cars for three or four months," next to $50,000 homes in Kent Woodlands "that's bad."

Student John Turner admittedly taking a "revolutionary posture" said the college "now serving the white middle class" has to meet the needs of the black community. He asked why the college couldn't provide funds for "a brother starving. Until you provide financial assistance to him, he's starving."

Students said with the college spending $19,000 for signs, there should be money for student aid. "We just want the money," one girl said. "We have left ourselves vulnerable and placed out trust to the committee. It's up to you to figure out how to get the money."

Acosta, who contended that students weren't being listened to, asked why students have to resort to saying or else."

McGinn said that some students need immediate financial aid or they will have to drop out of college.

Students also charged the non-student members of the committee were being evasive. Mrs. Deedy said it wasn't a matter of being evasive, but that the financial problems were extremely complex.

Sizemore said as "first as a man and as a black man" he "resented the kind of treatment I'm getting here tonight," and said he was "confronted with a kind of racism."

He said he wouldn't be an accessory "to destroying students or acceding to my own destruction."

One woman said she couldn't conceive of anyone starving in California, and advised speakers to avoid "straight Students for a Democratic Society rantings." She was met with some hoots.

Marshall said the push for student aid wasn't only for black students, but all needy students. The bookstore profits should "be given back to students and dispersed to the financial aid program," he said.

Harry Gilbert, vice president of Associated Students, suggested that the college turn over the bookstore to the students, so the profits could be used for financial aid.

"We can't make the mistakes made on other campuses around the country," Sizemore concluded.

There also was some comment that the cafeteria could become a student operation and profits used for financial aid.

All agreed that any emergency funds would only be the start of meeting the problem, and that other sources of funds will be sought to meet needs next year and beyond.

Defense Sprays Hearing Slated

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, announced yesterday his consumers subcommittee will conduct public hearings next month to warn the public about chemical sprays sold for self-defense.

The sprays are similar to the chemicals Mace used by law enforcement agencies for riot control, Moss said. But he said the hearings, scheduled for May 21, would consider public use.

"I want to bring to the attention of the American public the dangers of buying and relying upon these chemical sprays," Moss said.

Water Panel, Seeger Clash On Bay's Fate

Seeger reported to the board he had received a communication from former supervisor Peter H. Behr of Citizens to Save San Francisco Bay asking for support for bay controls

He asked for board authorization to write a letter to local legislators asking that a bill to preserve the bay be passed or the life of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission be extended.

"Is this really our province?" asked Jordan L. Martinelli Jr.

"It's a community interest thing," Seeger replied.

"I think they're going a little too far," said Dr. L. L. Stanley, pointing out only a few birds live on the marshlands they're trying to save. The land is needed of people, Stanley maintained.

Martinelli pointed out that people own the marsh property and are paying taxes on it but can't develop it.

Chairman Robert G. Anderson and Stanley agreed that development of the marshland could benefit the water district because those people would have to have water.

"I think we should soft-pedal this," said Stanley firmly.

William A. Marcus, attempting to stop the unusual exchange, pointed out the directors were not against BCDC, but may be against its principles, a clarification that brought a low roar from other directors who quickly decided Seeger could write a letter, without a formal board position.

The Marin Municipal Water District board also:

VEHICLES — Agreed to buy a total of $37,868 worth of heavy automotive equipment from three firms, Marin Dodge, De-Long Chevrolet and S and C Motor Co. of San Francisco.

BEACON HILL—Accepted the low bid of A. Herb Saxton of San Rafael for $2,400 to clear and excavate for a Beacon Hill tank off Waldo Grade.

RELOCATION — Approved the low bid of Soiland Co. of Novato for $11,655, about $3,500 under the engineer's estimate, for relocation of a water main in conjunction with widening Magnolia Avenue in Larkspur.

SWIG TANK — Accepted the bid of Pacific Wood Tank Co. of Healdsburg for $4,445 to build a 50,000 gallon tank on property owned by Melvin Swig.

DISASTER — Agreed to apply for $20,000 in federal disaster funds to make repairs in a slide area near the Bon Tempe Treatment Plant.

PUMPS, TANKS — Received the 1969 pump and tank report and learned that of 145 pumps three do not meet district standards and of 129 tanks, nine are below standard. Seeger said some of them would be brought up to standard this year.

PIPELINES — Approved pipeline extensions for Pacific Coast Holdings Management Corp. for the El Marioneor office building near the Civic Center for $16,291, and Charles Paganini on San Pedro Road near Loch Lomond Yacht Harbor at $20,472, with all costs to be borne by developers.

BENEFITS — Amended a district ordinance to permit the district to pay full cost of health benefits for directors, attorneys and auditors, to conform with a state law passed in 1959.

MEETING — Adjourned to 1:30 p.m. May 12 at the district office instead of May 14 because Seeger will be out of town.

Dispenser Looted

Petaluma police reported yesterday that thieves has pried open a soft drink machine Tuesday night and had taken $3.50 in change at Ray Howard's Phillips 66 service station, Fourth and B streets.

Water District Ends Marin Insurance Ties

After 40 years with local firms, Marin Municipal Water District directors yesterday agreed to buy its liability insurance for the next three years from a San Francisco firm offering a lower price.

Independent Insurance Agents Association of Marin, with whom the district has dealt for 40 years, presented a proposal from Minto and Wilkie Insurance Agency Inc. of San Rafael for $54,710.

The district's bill for liability insurance this year is expected to be $48,635.

James Weider, representing the Marin group, said the reason for the premium increase is that "the existing carrier knows the district policy regarding handling of claims . . . because of the number of incidents which you wish processed as claims."

David Oliver of the San Francisco firm said claims handling policies had been included in the specifications.

Weider also argued that Harbor Insurance Co. did not rate as high as previously required by the district. Oliver replied that among the firm's customers is the state Department of Water Resources, the Los Angeles water utility and other major water firms.

Weider persisted, "I would recommend checking on Harbor Insurance Co." before deciding.

William R. Seeger, general manager of the water district, said he had faith in the James company and pointed out "they are putting their reputation on the line."

Director Jordan L. Martinelli Jr., commented, "If we accept a bid and give away $7,000, we'd be open to question."

Weider maintained the premium cost was secondary to the service provided by the local firms, but board chairman Robert G. Anderson said that to him buying insurance is like buying a bunch of pipe.

Driectors agreed some time ago to seek bids on the open market. Previously, the district had left it up to the independent agents group to seek bids among themselves and come up with a package.

Lighting On Agenda

The Fairfax Design Review board will meet at 10 a.m. Monday at Pacific Gas and Electric Co., San Rafael, to discuss proposed street lighting fixtures for the city's underground utility district.

India Will Buy French Missiles

NEW DELHI — Teh Indian government has signed a multi-million-dollar deal with a French firm to manufacture ground-to-air and air-to-air missiles, it was revealed yesterday.

The French firm's bid was accepted because the terms were better than British firms could offer to the Indian Defense Ministry.

Informed sources said India had decided to buy French missiles, since the armed forces found Russian missiles not very effective.

The leading daily Hindu said that Russian surface-to-air missiles had failed to intercept Pakistan Air Force planes near Delhi in the 1965 war.

Midwest Flood Loss Set At $100 Million

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Damage in part of the Midwestern flood zone was placed at more than $100 million yesterday as Illinois and Iowa braced for the approaching crest of the Mississippi River.

The flood threat appeared to be over for Minnesota and Wisconsin, and officials were optimistic that damage in Illinois and Iowa would be minimal because of flood preparations.

The Army Corps of Engineers said damage for northern Iowa, eastern North Dakota, western Wisconsin and all but the southwestern edge of Minnesota was $109.4 million. They added that $7.5 million for emergency dike construction prevented an additional $145-million loss in these areas.

The Army engineers' estimate included $40 million in farm losses, $29 million in transportation losses, $16 million in flood preparations and cleanup and $24 million in urban damages.

Marijuana Suspect To Juvenile Court

The case of Pamela Ann Sickles, 18, of Portola Valley, accused of marijuana possession, has been referred to Marin Juvenile Court, it was reported yesterday in municipal court.

Viet Veteran Reveals He Tried Stockade Suicide

FORT ORD (UPI)—A young combat veteran told an Army court-martial board yesterday he attempted suicide because "I couldn't take any more" of the stockade at the San Francisco Presidio.

Pvt. Richard L. Gentile, 20, of Hampton, Va., is among 14 GI prisoners on trial for mutiny as the result of a sit-in demonstration at the stockade by 27 inmates last Oct. 14.

Gentile was confined to the stockade one day before the demonstration for participating in a San Francisco peace march, despite an order that all Presidio soldiers were restricted to the post that day.

The witness said he became a "complete pacifist" after serving one year in Vietnam as a machinegunner. He said he participated in the peace march because he felt "I had a constitutional right to exercise freedom of assembly."

Gentile showed each of the five members of the court a red scar running from his wrist to the crook of his elbow which he said was the result of a suicide attempt.

Gentile, the son of a career Air Force noncommissioned officer, said he considered the Presidio stockade commander, Capt. Robert Lamont, "a very poor officer."

"If Lamont were doing a good job he would have taken the list of grievances and said he would look into them and try to change the things that were wrong," Gentile said.

The Bering Sea and Strait were named after explorer Vitus J. Bering.

Racism Seminar Times Announced

A seminar on "White Racism and Black Protest will be conducted at 7:30 p.m. Friday and 9 p.m. Saturday at the Marin Unitarian Fellowship, 240 Channing Way, San Rafael.

Previous announcements reported had given other starting times.

Cuts Seen For Pentagon By ABM Foe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington says Congress may cut Pentagon spending across the board unless the Senate Armed Services Committee defers deployment of President Nixon's Safeguard missile defense system.

The Missouri Democrat spoke out yesterday as the committee completed two days of public hearings proposal to protect U.S. missile sites.

Symington said that in the past 22 years he had never seen the committee reject a single proposed weapons system.

"If on this particular system we can't just once show this should be deferred, I predict that the Senate will recommend —and very possibly the House also—a major across-the-board cut" in the $80 billion Pentagon budget, Symington said. He exempted the $400 million in missile defense research which he believes should continue.

HEARING RESULTS

Symington said the hearings had bolstered his position opposing Safeguard, but Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., saw the sessions as strengthening the proposal. Eight witnesses appeared.

"All eight have some respect for it," Stennis said. "All eight argue it's the most advanced system we have despite its deficiencies."

To delay deployment, Stennis said, would "burn up precious time" needed to developing a defense against a possible Soviet threat in the mid-1970s.

Stennis also challenged Symington's contention the committee has always rubber-stamped Pentagon requests for new weapons systems. He noted some funds were blocked for the controversial TFX fighter-bomber and the Nike-Hercules, one of the first antimissile systems.

SYSTEM DROPPED

"The overall system Nike-Ajax was deployed and abandoned," Symington retorted. "Nike-Hercules was deployed and should be abandoned."

There will be three or four weeks of closed hearing before the committee gets down to voting on the military procurement authorization bill, first of four with Safeguard funds. The measure probably won't get to the full Senate until mid-June at the earliest.

Home Burgled

Estes John Smyrni of 20 Loma Linda Road, San Rafael, reported yesterday his house had been burglarized sometime during the day. Missing were a television and a set of flatware valued at a total of $350, police said. Entry was gained by kicking in a door.

SIRHAN'S NEXT HOME?—If Sirhan B. Sirhan is brought to San Quentin, this is the type of Death Row cell he will occupy while awaiting execution for the murder of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. (AP Wirephoto)

DEATH ROW QUESTION

Sirhan May Not Be Held In San Quentin

If Sirhan B. Sirhan is brought to San Quentin Prison, he will be jailed separately from other condemned inmates, but visible to them through a screen.

What makes Sirhan's trip to San Quentin uncertain, however, is a bill by Assemblyman Carlos J. Moorhead, R-Glendale, which would enable the state Department of Corrections to confine prisoners under sentence to the gas chamber at other facilities than San Quentin.

A hearin on the bill, which contains an urgency clause, was held yesterday in Sacramento before the Assembly Criminal Procedures Committee. Raymond K. Procunier, director of the Department of Corrections, testified that Sirhan would be taken to the State Medical Facility at Vacaville, bypassing San Quentin until the execution, if the bill passed the Legislature and were signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Committee members greeted the bill coolly, however, with Asssemblyman W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, saying, "I think Sirhan should be treated just the way we treat every other prisoner."

Sirhan is to appear again in Los Angeles Superior Court May 14 for motions on a new trial and formal sentencing. He was sentenced to die by a jury yesterday for the murder of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

If Sirhan is brought to San Quentin, he will be placed in a four-by-nine-foot cell in an isolation area at the end of one of the two condemned units at the prison, according to Associate Warden James W. L. Park. The isolation area consists of six cells, but three will be screened from Sirhan and the other two will be locked.

From his location, Sirhan will look down the corridor through another screen at the 30 cells occupied by other condemned inmates.

Warden Louis S. Nelson said Sirhan would receive no privileges. Like other Death Row inmates, he will be permitted exercise outside his cell.

At Vacaville, meanwhile, three cells, one containing a shower, are scheduled to be prepared for Sirhan's use. The unit will be screened from other prisoners.

Newton Parole Plea Is Denied

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Huey Newton, co-founder of the Black Panthers and now serving a two to 15 year prison term for the fatal shooting of a policeman, yesterday was denied his application for parole by the California Adult Authority.

Newton, 26, was convicted last Sept. 8 of voluntary manslaughter in the death of Oakland policeman John Frey, 23, who was shot with his own pistol after he stopped Newton for a routine traffic violation.

He has been serving his time at Los Padres Correctional Institution in Southern California.

Newton will not be eligible to apply again for parole until April 1970.

Jurors 'Don't Buy' Sirhan Psychiatrists' Testimony

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The jury believed Sirhan Bishara Sirhan's mind was impaired, says juror George Stitzel, but not to a degree to affect its verdict—death in the gas chamber for the assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

What of the month-long testimony from psychiatrists and psychologists as the defense tried to prove Sirhan lacked the mental capacity to form a mature and meaningful plot against Kennedy?

"It stunk—I don't buy that stuff," said Albert N. Federico, another juror. He expressed his view to newsmen after the verdict was announced in court yesterday.

Stitzel, 57, a pressroom foreman at the Los Angeles Times, was asked: What was the overriding consideration that made him vote the death penalty?

"The gravity of the crime," he told newsmen. "The cold-blooded murder of an individual. A planned murder."

Did he believe the jury would have decreed death if the victim had not been Kennedy, a candidate for president? "I think we would . . . as long as it was this cold-blooded, heinous crime."

Other jurors said the same thing.

Also in Los Angeles, one of the five persons Sirhan wounded said of the young Arab sentenced to die in California's gas chamber: "Death is too good for him."

Ira Goldstein, 20, said after the jury's verdict yesterday "It would be better for him to stay in jail for good and know why he's there." He said he expected the death penalty, however, in the case.

William Weisel, 31, another of those wounded in the attack, said the death penalty was appropriate.

In Jordan, the death sentence was viewed as unjust but the only thing to be expected from the United States, a spokesman for the Palestinian guerrilla organization Al Fatah said today.

Many Jordanians expressed the same sentiment when told that a California jury had recommended that Sirhan die in the gas chamber. There was sorrow for the young Arab and bitterness toward the United States but little surprise.

"How else would you expect the Americans to treat the Palestinians?" said a university student.

Stiffer Penalties On Bay Pollution

I-J Special Report

NAPA — Tough new penalties against water polluters, including court action to bar a violating public agency from granting building permits and from annexing new areas, were adopted yesterday by the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board.

"For years we've gone just so far, and could go no further," said director Sidney S. Lippow of Martinez. "Without teeth, you can do nothing," he said, adding that some violating public agencies even have declined to show up at board meetings to report what they were doing to stop polluting the bay.

Under previous policy, all the board could do is issue a cease and desist order against polluters, but the possibility of contempt of court was the only penalty in that procedure.

Under the new policy adopted yesterday in the Napa City Hall, the board will certify cease and desist orders to the appropriate district attorney "whenever it finds that a discharger is not proceeding with due diligence."

If a district attorney failed to heed the board's request that he take court action, the board then could turn the matter over to the attorney general for legal steps.

Strong objections to the new penalties were voiced by the City and County of San Francisco, but no one else opposed them.

City Engineer Robert C. Levy testified he was "somewhat fearful" of the language of the new policy, declaring it would "stop the normal economic life of a city." His fears were confirmed when the board told him that San Francisco could be barred from issuing a building permit for a high-rise if it were subjected to the new panalty.

(San Francisco was ranked number 1 on the priority list of violators in the nine-county region in 1968 by the control board staff.)

"The city is committed to cleaning up the bay," said Levy, "but there may be some disagreements timingwise and standardwise"

Director Edward A. Teresi of San Jose assured Levy that the board was not going "to sit here and take no action while a city goes on its merry way."

Levy also objected unsuccessfully to the new penalty policy's provision that a violator would be negligent if it failed to submit a progress report to the regional board within 45 days of a date required by a cease and desist order. Under the San Francisco Board of Supervisors' committee system, he said, it is "very difficult" to act within 45 days.

But Lippow shot back that "the way San Francisco wants to operate is their business — let them change their committee meetings. We have got to have guidelines to force your committees to meet and act," Lippow argued.

"I think we feel we're not progressing fast enough," said chairman William C. Weber of San Mateo, "but I don't think we're going to bring the city (San Francisco) to a standstill at all.

"All we can do is request the district attorney to act. Hopefully, this will be changed by the Legislature." He favored empowering the board to act on its own without having to go through a district attorney.

The board's executive officer, Fred H. Dierker, noted that about 30 districts and cities are under cease and desist orders against dumping polluted water into the bay. In Marin, orders have been issued against the Novato Sanitary District and the Bolinas Community Public Utility District.

The new penalty policy also provided that a violator may be found negligent if it misses any deadline in a cease and desist order by 90 days, or if it "significantly increases" the amount of waste flow.

Another penalty, a fine of $100,000 a month against polluters, is being considered by the Legislature.

San Quentin Promises Pollution Halt

I-J Special Report

NAPA — San Quentin Prison, a prominent bay polluter for several years, promised yesterday to do something about its mess by the end of this year.

And the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board promised to take the state to court if the new treatment facilities are not in operation at the prison by Jan. 1, 1970.

The regional board has been prodding the state to stop pollution form the prison's sewage and industrial wastes, but with no luck. The prison consistently has violated the board's standards on floating sewage, water discoloration, odors, grease, settleable matter and disinfection, the board's staff reported yesterday.

The regional board voted three years ago to have the prison submit a time schedule by January, 1968, for meeting water quality standards. The board later granted the prison additional time to evaluate a 1967 study of sewage problems throughout the county.

The state Department of General Services, the prison's engineering consultant, has agreed to replace some treatment and pumping facilities at the prison, the board's staff reported yesterday. Also, secondary treatment facilities will be built next year "should experience prove these items necessary," the state advised the board.

Also scheduled by the end of the year at the prison is an extension of the discharge pipe to ensure that wastes will be submerged, the staff reported.

If the prison were not a state agency, the regional board's staff report noted, "we would have recommended adoption of a cease and desist order, especially since the prison was one of the top 14 violators of requirements since 1968." The act that created the regional board, however, does not allow it to issue orders against state agencies.

The county's master plan for sewerage, the staff said, anticipates eventual abandonment of the prison's sewage treatment plant. Instead, the prison wastes would be treated by a larger plant also serving adjacent sanitary districts.

The resolution adopted unanimously by the board declared that "failure by the prison to take any step in accordance with this schedule will be cause for the board to take other apporpriate remedies."

The schedule called for completion of plans by June 15, award of construction contracts by July 15, completion of construction by Dec. 15, and demonstration of compliance with the board's standards by March 15, 1970.

A report from the San Rafael Sanitation District on its progress in meeting board standards was postponed to the board's next meeting on May 22.

Burglary Case Sent To Juvenile Court

The case of Anthony Robert Battaglia, 19, of San Rafael has been referred to Marin Juvenile Court, it was reported yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

He is accused of burglary and was arrested by San Rafael police who said they saw him attempting to enter a car on April 7.

Juvenile Court Refuses Weed Case

The case of James Kott, 19, of Mill Valley, accused of marijuana possession, has been refused by Marin Juvenile Court and a preliminary hearing was set yesterday for June 10 in Municipal Court.

Kott is a codefendant with Peter Bruce Winston, 22, and Gayle Cecilia Solon, 24, all of whom were arrested in a raid March 25 at the Diaz Ranch on Panoramic Highway near Mill Valley.

British Guest Speaks On Abortion Laws

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Jill Knight, conservative member of the British Parliament for three years, is a charmer.

One of the youngest of the 25 women among the 630 members, she has a sparkling personality, ready wit and quick intelligence. It is easy to understand why she was chosen from 215 candidates to represent the 75,000 people in the Edgbaston constituency in Birmingham — famous for years as that of the former prime minister Neville Chamberlain.

In private life Mrs. Knight is the wife of Montague Knight, an optometrist, and mother of 18 and 15-year-old sons. She is in the Bay Area paying a return visit to friends among the 60 outstanding American woman who made the woman-to-woman personal diplomacy tour of Russia, Hungary and Czechoslovakia last fall after stopping in London, where they entertained the women members of the British Parliament.

TUESDAY SHE was the guest at a luncheon at the Metropolitan Club in San Francisco given by Mrs. Constant M. Van Vlierden of Sausalito, one of the organizers of the tour, and another member, Mrs. Roland Pierotti of San Francisco, with 12 other members of the tour present.

Mrs. Knight spoke informally, since her visit on the West Coast is a personal and social one, but what she said was of wide interest, especially on the results of the liberal legal abortion laws in Britain after one year of operation.

A former practicing attorney, she had been invited by a group of doctors and lawyers in Chicago, Ill., to come to this country to speak on this subject.

"If you go down the road of legal abortion, you open a box of snakes!" she warned vehemently. "We have learned a disastrous lesson in Britain. The answer is not legal abortion but contraception and planned parenthood.

"MY OBJECTIONS are not religious. I think that if a women's health is in danger in pregnancy and a choice must be made, you must save the woman because of her husband and possibly other children."

Her first objection to legal abortion, she said, is that though two doctors have to agree that the danger to the mental or physical health of a pregnant woman is greater if the pregnancy is continued than if it is terminated, it is almost impossible to determine this.

Her next objection, she said, is that, "Once you make abortion legal, many women stop bothering with birth control. A study of one group showed that 75 per cent were not even trying to stop birth.

ONE REASON for this, she pointed out, is that many quite normal married women don't want another child at first, and if abortion is available will take advantage of it immediately, whereas they might not later.

And part of the problem is with doctors, Mrs. Knight explained. She said that all of the registration and other procedures with a woman who wants an abortion take so long that many doctors are saying they just don't do abortions.

"Illegal abortions have not stopped," she went on, "and what is happening is that nursing homes are set up wholly for this purpose. For $360 a woman can get an abortion. It has become a frightening business. A woman can go in in the morning and be on the train back home in a couple of hours. People are in it for the money."

The situation is so bad, Mrs. Knight said, that many women are coming in from other countries, and an attempt is being made to arrange a regular flight from Paris for this purpose.

ANOTHER BAD problem she described was that because of the number of legal abortions, hospitals are having trouble accommodating those women who need operations for other gynecological reasons.

Eighty-five per cent of abortions are done in two categories, she said, for unmarried young girls who say their lives would be ruined, and for "the over-burdened mum with too many children."

The difficulty with the unmarried young girls is that many come back for the second, third and more times wanting abortions, she said.

For the "over-burdened mum" Mrs. Knight feels the answer is sterilization, because this is available to a man or woman if they have had enough children, or if a woman has health reasons, such as a lot of bad miscarriages.

THE MOST horrifying aspect of the abortion law in Britain, Mrs. Knight charged, is the lack of a time limit for abortions.

"Either have a limit on the time you can abort or go all out for planned parenthood," she urged, citing one 26-week pregnancy aborted that almost resulted in death of a living infant.

The distinguished visitor had a few comments on women in politics.

"I'M NOT an aggressive feminist," she said. "I want to see women in politics only if they are qualified. I don't think they should be chosen because they are women, but if they are as good as men they should have a chance to be elected."

She said that in Britain women do a great deal of campaigning and helping with party fund raising that pays most of the expenses of candidates.

A candidate may legally contribute no more than 25 pounds, or about $60 to his own campaign, she said. She feels that the American system in which candidates have to spend enormous amounts of money deprives government service of highly qualified persons.

Pretty Female Motorcyclist Wins Drag Racing Trophies

By RUTH YOUNGBLOOD

HONOLULU (UPI)—An attractive blue-eyed blonde has some advice for any would-be female motorcycle drag racers, "Forget you're a girl, have guts and practice."

Miss Sharon Lee Kornyei, a trophy-winning motorcycle drag racer, is getting anxious for this summer's racing season to begin.

If any of her male colleagues had doubts about her drag racing proficiency, the 25-year-old Miss Kornyei proved by her performances that a girl "who is serious about it" is sturdy competition.

MISS KORNYEI, the first female to participate in organized drag races in Hawaii, highlighted the winter season by racing her Yamaha 180 to second place in the South Pacific Championships, beating out motorcycles in all other classes.

She has trophies from other races she participated in at Hawaii Raceway Park and a smaller motorcycle, a Yamaha 80, which she uses to get around town.

"I never thought about drag racing when I first got a bike," she said. "I needed transportation for a newspaper route, and a motorcycle was all I could afford."

Miss Kornyei said a few months later she and a friend were watching a drag race, and he commented that she was a better driver than any of the others.

"I THOUGHT, if I'm so good, why aren't I out there? That was the beginning because two weeks later, I was in my first drag race," the 1967 Labor Day Championships.

She concedes that a female drag racer probably will have rougher going than a male when she first starts racing.

"Everyone watches a girl," she said. "The pressure is greater because people are just waiting for you to make a mistake and fall.

A drag strip is no place for frills, however. While racing, she wears a helmet with racing number 23 painted on it, a leather jacket, heavy pants, gloves and boots.

MALE RACERS never have shown any hard feelings after she beat them, and she is treated with "respect and good will."

The driver, who goes as fast as 70 miles per hour over the finish line of the one-fourth mile drag strip course, said she has no time to worry.

"It's while I'm waiting in the pits that I'm nervous," she said, "but as soon as the race starts I'm too busy thinking about my reflexes and coordination."

As editor of the Hawaii Motorcycle Association's bulletin, Miss Kornyei is concerned with improving motorcyclists' image and fighting Hawaii's compulsory helmet law.

"WE WANT to combat the stereotype that some people have of a bearded guy in a denim jacket with cutoff sleeves and emblems all over it. A lot of worthy people ride motorcycles."

Miss Kornyei said the association's case asking for the repeal of the state helmet law which makes it illegal to operate a motorcycle without a helmet is pending before the Hawaiian Supreme Court.

"I wouldn't ride without a helmet," she said, "but I think it's unconstitutional to force people to wear them."

Gaily Decorated Lagoon Fleet Reeps Generous Judges Awards

By MOLLY MARIN

Echoes are heard of the opening of the Belvedere Lagoon boating season, highlighted by a large parade of gaily decorated craft circumnavigating the Belvedere Bayou on Sunday afternoon.

Judges, enchanted with the scene, were generous with awards for the decorated fleet, according to Richard Stoehrs, chairman of the day.

In the non-sail category, Lou Hymans, most beautiful, "Viking Ship;" Frank Davidson, "Alligator," most unusual. The "most disreputable" award went to Mrs. Shirley McRae, "Onassis' Christina."

The Lido fleet was voted the best fleet in decoration and participation. Honorable mentions were given to the James Levorsens and Thomas Eubanks, for their colorful jibs; the Gerald Stratfords and Charles Pattersons, for the best of Lido fleet; the Robert Abbots, "Canoeful of Indians," Dick Solinsky, children's honorable mention, "USS Peacemaker;" Gerald Jampolskys, "Wreathed FJ," Craig Patterson's surfboard.

And, surprisingly, that innocent vessel, "The Good Ship Lollipop," featuring four young girls in Shirley Temple outfits, cannot be identified. The names of the young ladies are unknown to the committee. Femmes fatales on the Lollipop?

COL. (RET.) and Mrs. Chester A. Iverson Jr. of Novato are vacationing in the Hawaiian Islands.

CAPT. RONALD D. Herzog returned to Mill Valley early this month from Vietnam and, following his marriage to June Shuler of South Carolina on April 8, has left for Fort Bliss, Tex., where the couple will live. The marriage took place at Peace Lutheran Church, in Tennessee Valley, and the reception was held at the Mill Valley home of his aunt, Mrs. Carl E. Woltmann.

Captain Herzog is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Herzog of Nokomis, Ill., and the bride is the daughter of Mrs. Cobia B. Shuler of Charleston, S.C.

Vietnamese Orphanage Survives And Grows In War Torn Village

By HORST FAAS

AN LOI, Vietnam (AP)—The Buddhist monk blew a whistle and a swarm of youngsters with shaved heads and wearing fluttering yellow pants hurried from their classrooms into slit trenches.

Without shoving or pushing, they fell in line and crouched low, heads between their arms.

"IT'S AN unusual way to run an orphanage," said Nguyen Van Su, "but we have to do our best to keep these poor children alive when the shooting starts around here."

The village 15 miles east of Saigon was carved from the jungle by Su and voluntary helpers —Buddhist monks and nuns, Catholic social workers, members of half a dozen Vietnamese sects—almost two years ago.

DESPITE THE presence of huge U.S. Army bases, a Thailand army division and Vietnamese outposts less than a mile away, the war is still being fought at the doorstep of the children's sanctuary.

"Every other day woodcutters working in our area see Viet Cong soldiers in the jungle—but we can't tell the Americans because they may start a battle here, and the war could easily spill over into the orphans' village," said Su.

He recounted how two months ago the Viet Cong ambushed a Vietnamese convoy right outside the gates of the orphans' village on Route 15.

"When four wounded soldiers dragged themselves through our gate to get medical aid from the monks, the Viet Cong fired after them. Some days later a truck full of American soldiers was blown 30 feet high on the same spot, when a Viet Cong mine exploded.

"FOR SEVERAL days American soldiers fired into the brush when they passed. Many bullets flew overhead. But we were lucky. So far only one child has been wounded."

Last week the elders of the orphans' village wrote President Nguyen Van Thieu and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front, asking both to take the site of the orphange out of their combat zones for the duration of the war. Neither has replied yet.

Now the only protection for the children is the slit trenches and large signs posted around the village reading "Please Don't shoot at the Orphans' Village." They are Vietnamese, English, Thai and Korean.

REFERRING TO these multilingual signs a Buddhist nun said, "I wish the soldiers knew that their own kids are living here, we have eight American babies, some Koreans and two Filipinos. Three French children and a German boy, all 15 years old, were left over from the French-Indochina War. Three Japanese kids were born when Japanese engineers built the power plant north of here five years ago."

Most of the 1,630 children—ranging from a few months old to 18 years of age—were orphaned by the war. Many do not know what happened to their parents. Some were brought by desperate mothers who found themselves with too many children and no means of support after their husbands were killed.

Tran Tri Tru, a 7-year-old boy, and his three younger sisters were brought here by an uncle after their parents were killed during fighting in Saigon's Gia Dinh suburb last year.

A 13-year-old girl, who looks like she is 7, wept bitterly during her first day with the other children in the orphanage. Her mother, a war widow from Saigon said she had to give up at least one of her three children because of her husband's death.

SINCE INTENSIFIED fighting resumed with this year's Viet Cong spring offensive, the population of the orphan village has grown rapidly. Often as many as 25 children are admitted in a day.

From the beginning, the village has not sought monetary help from anyone. Gifts of lumber, tin roofing, medicine or machinery are welcomed but not money.

"Money is the beginning of all corruption," Su told an American officer who asked how his soldiers could help.

The Americans have cleared some land, sent cement and lumber. Medics come over occasionally. All toys in the village were donated by Americans.

Today the daily profit of the village is a comfortable 56,000 piasters, $500. It comes from a soybean curd factory, a rice mill and the sale of handwoven mats and oil lamps made of empty C-ration cans. These pay for the 1,800 pounds of rice eaten daily.

THE VEGETABLES for the exclusively vegetarian menu are grown in the village. Su says, "The orphans' village serves humanitarian purposes only. We do not recognize divisions of religions or nationalities. We want to give love, to build the peace."

TEARS ROLL DOWN the face of 13-year-old South Vietnamese girl on her first day in the classroom at Nguyen Van Su's village for orphaned and abandoned children in the war-torn country. Not an orphan, the girl was brought to the village because there was not enough food for all the children at home. Her mother, a food peddler in Saigon, promised to visit her regularly. Her father is in the army. (AP Wirephoto)

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Teen Blames Parents For Start That Has Him Out Of 'Swim'

DEAR HELEN:

I'm a 15-year-old boy with an unusual hang-up. My problem is that I never have anything to look forward to or anything to live for.

I blame my parents because they started me off this way. Monday through Friday I go to school, do homework, household chores, and on Saturdays I help my father and sister with housework while my mother goes shopping and gets her hair done! My parents, both teachers, are kind of dead anyway. They never play tennis or golf or ski with the family, and they have set my life in an awful rut.

The real problem is that since I have nothing to look forward to, I procrastinate and daydream, so I don't finish my school work, and its wrecking my grades. I'm smart and am told I have high potential, but I don't know whether I can't study because I'm depressed or depressed because I don't study.

I know what you're going to say: Take up a sport. But how? I'm so terrible at sports that nobody will practice with me. I never really learned any games as I'm not actually interested in them, but now I realize sports and recreation are mandatory for mental and physical health.

Please give me some suggestions on how I can get myself back into the swing of things. — WASTING AWAY

DEAR W. A.

For heavens sake, get off your apathy, and stop looking at life through the small end of a funnel. You've beamed in on a phony excuse for your failure ("My parents!"), a fine dodge for a fellow who won't face the truth.

Expert counseling (or a strong re-think program on your own) might prove what I suspect: It's fear, not dead parents that keeps you home daydreaming. You won't try — sports, making friends, relating — because you are afraid of rejection, and it's easier to load the blame on your folks than say, "I'm responsible for my own life. With a little help and a lot of effort, I can learn to like myself and then others will like me too."

Perhaps your parents could provide that help if you'd ask them. Leave off the resentment and tell them the real reason for your depressions — loneliness, isn't it? — and I think your funnel vision will be cured. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am 18 years old and this married woman is 23. We worked together last summer. She told me she was going to get a divorce. I saw her a lot after hours, and then she left me to take up with a good-for-nothing.

Now I am a good friend of her husband's, and have found out he isn't what she said. I feel guilty about that affair, but I don't really want to cause her trouble. She wrote and said she was sorry for dumping me, but I think it was because she didn't want me in court for the divorce. If I tell about us, she will probably lose her three children as her husband wants to prove her an unfit mother. If I don't tell, he will hate me, and if I do, she will.

I guess you can't make up my mind for me, but if you print this letter it may be a warning to guys that they should stay away from married (but willing) women! — JERRY.

DEAR JERRY:

No, I can't make up your mind, but you might find it easier if you answer one question honestly: Which parent will do best for the kids? — H.

Pamela Toscanini Is Bride Of Gary Wayne Axthelm

St. Patrick's Church in Larkspur was the setting April 13 for the marriage of Pamela Ann Toscanini, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Toscanini of Corte Madera, and Gary Wayne Axthelm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Axthelm of Visalia.

Haven Smith of San Francisco was the bride's sole attendant. James Axthelm of San Francisco was his brother's best man. The bride's brother, Kennith Toscanini of Corte Madera, and the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Donald Mac Fadden of Petaluma, ushered.

Group Forming To Aid Handicapped

Teen-agers and young adults interested in aiding the handicapped are invited to attend a meeting tonight from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at 70 (K and L) Woodland Avenue in San Rafael. The meeting is to form the organization to be called Marin County Youth Volunteers to Help the Handicapped.

"I didn't know there was such a need in this field," said Carol Bullock, who is spearheading the formation, "until I attended Youth California Council for Retarded Children conference last November.

CAROL, who is a senior at Marin Catholic High School, hopes to attend Sonoma State and San Francisco State Colleges and receive a teaching degree in special education.

"I might change my mind, but right now I would like to work toward teaching autistic children."

An autistic child, she explained, is one who is emotionally disturbed to the extent of not speaking at all or speaking but only in an uncommunicative way.

CITING A real need in Marin County and elsewhere for such a youth organization, she said, "I know of a handicapped child who so wanted to attend a circus to which he received a free ticket but didn't go because there was no one to take him. Parents," she said, "are often times busy with other things or just may not feel like wrestling with a wheelchair, crutches or braces on a particular day. This is where we can help."

The teen-ager became interested in the handicapped when she was hired to sit for a mentally retarded child and has spent a good part of her time doing volunteer work for the mentally and physically retarded.

"There are just not enough people at the present time to help," she said.

THERE ARE many youths now who work with the handicapped in a meaningful way, she feels, but there is a need to unify, expand, exchange ideas and work toward and fulfill worthwhile projects.

Part of the letter sent to youths between the ages of 13 and 25 stated, "How does youth help? By a phone call to someone for whom the phone never rings . . . by a trip to the zoo with little kids who rarely go out of their own back yard . . . by a game of pitch and toss with a 15-year-old who has never learned to catch a ball . . . by a postcard to a girl in an institution who loves pictures but can't read . . . by understanding the needs and capabilities of the mentally and physically handicapped and sharing that understanding with others."

"We, of course, haven't begun to reach the youth in the county with the letters we sent to 250 teen-agers inviting them to the meeting," she said, "but we had to start somewhere with the names we could gather." She is hoping that anyone who is interested will attend the meeting.

MUSIC REVIEW

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

SAN FRANCISCO — A never-to-be-forgotten musical experience was the San Francisco Symphony concert last night at the Opera House because of the phenomenal artistry of Russian cellist Mstislav Rostropovich.

At the end of the Dvorak Conerto in B Minor for Violencello and Orchestra he received standing acclaim, the like of which I have seldom heard at the Opera House. Even the musicians were enthralled.

In response he finally played what is almost unheard of, an encore at the end of a concerto. He complimented the audience by playing musicians' music, the Bach Sarabande in D Minor, unaccompanied.

I have never heard such a powerful sound from a cello, and yet he could produce the most ethereal effects. I didn't know it was possible to play trills so rapidly and delicately that they were like the flutter of hummingbird wings.

A ravishing sonority resulted from each note having its maximum tonal color and beauty, and despite all the technical perfection, his music had soul and rhapsodic lyricism and well as elemental force.

The orchestra was fortunate in having Lewis as guest conductor in place of Joseph Krips, who would have conducted a different program, except for the Dvorak Concerto, had his wife not died recently in Vienna. Krips returns to his conducting chores next month.

Lewis's youthful exuberance and his rhymthmic vitality may have produced a better reading than Krips's.

It was fortunate that Lewis was available, for he has conducted the orchestra before with excellent rapport and results.

It was easier to focus on the orchestra and Lewis in the major work, the Sibelius Symphony No. 2 in D Major. Lewis brought out in turn its pastoral, introspective and sombre moods, building the finale to a wildly exultant climax that gave credence to the report that the work is accepted by the Finns themselves as the expression of their revolt against oppression and final triumph.

Money Taken

Benjamin E. Bagnas, owner of the Jack in the Box at 830 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, reported yesterday that someone between 7 and 8 a.m. smashed a rear door window, entered his restaurant and stole $341 from the safe, police said today.

Flood Peril Hangs Above The Valleys

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A serious flood threat is in cold storage in California's High Sierra in the form of a record snowpack. How bad the flooding gets depends on how good the weather is.

A long hot spring means the snow will melt quickly and flood the rivers that carry the water out of the Sierra and through the rich farmlands of the San Joaquin Valley.

Cool weather will ease the crush of the runoff.

The critical period probably will be sometime in May.

"We're going to have a lot of water," said Charles P. Sampson, state disaster officer. His office is working with various governmental agencies to minimize damage if serious flooding occurs.

$10 MILLION LOSS

Already the Kings, Tulare and Tule rivers have poured 700,000 acre-feet of water into Tulare Lake in the southern San Joaquin Valley, covering an estimated 75,000 acres of farmland. Crop loss is estimated at $10 million so far in this area, largely reclaimed lake basin land which often floods in wet years.

Many of the levees in Central Valley areas are saturated from the high river flow caused early this year by the heavy January and February storms.

Carl L. Stetson, state Water Resources Department official in Fresno, said that aside from the Tulare Lake basin "the rest of the valley is in fair shape as long as we get reasonable distribution oft he runoff."

"The rivers are running high and the levees are saturated. But barring levee failure I think we can get through all right," Stetson said.

The storms earlier this year caused up to $500 million damage and took more than 100 lives in California, mostly in the heavily populated south.

RECORD SNOWS

It was those storms that dumped record amounts of snow in the central and southern Sierra.

In some areas, the snow totally covered 20-feet-high measuring stakes for the first time in history.

The forecast runoff on the Kings and Kern rivers into the San Joaquin Valley was as much as four times the average.

Robert Miller, forecaster for the Federal State Flood Control Center in Sacramento, said the outlook has improved somewhat since March 1. Snowfall was not quite as heavy as usual in March he noted.

"The valley dried out a great deal and a lot of land started to be put into agriculture," he said, adding that farmers began to use some water for irrigation."

FARMERS HIT

Rivers are running high as experts draw down reservoirs so they will have flood storage room for snowmelt. But this causes problems for some valley farmers.

"When they keep the water high in the river, higher than in the fields, the water starts seeping in under the levees after a while," said Tony Cardoza, who farms 750 acres along the San Joaquin River near Manteca.

"I've got 400 acres under water by now and there won't be any way to drain it out until the river goes down," he said.

The damage to farmlands and the storms—delaying farm work—already is resulting in higher store prices for fruit and vegetables. Agricultural losses are estimated conservatively at $50 million statewide this year because of the weather.

Driver Hurt In 5-Car Accident

A 59-year-old Mill Valley man was reported in satifactory condition today at Marin General Hospital following a five-car accident on Fourth Street in San Rafael yesterday.

Police reported Joseph C. Brewester of 14 Manzanita Place said he blacked out in the 800 block of Fourth Street at 12:39 p.m. and regained consciousness after the accident.

Brewster's car, according to police, sideswiped a parked car owned by Angela A. Corallo of 195 Los Robles, Novato; collided with another parked car owned by Unitours of San Francisco Inc., 62 Princess Street, Sausalito, and caused a chain reaction with two other cars, owned by Dorothy V. Scottolini of 30 Bret Harte Road, San Rafael, and Jerry Gillespie of 1741 Pine Avenue, Petaluma.

Juvenile Commission Aide Cut In Budget

A full-time person to work with the Marin County Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission, included in the probation department's budget requests, has been cut by the county administrator's office, the commission learned last night.

The coordinator is being sought by the commission to plan and execute programs developed by it.

The Marin County Juvenile Justice Commission also met yesterday, reported Chairman Rex. T. Silvernale.

He said Brewer reported on the probation department activities since he became chief April 1 and noted that among priorities are proper personnel deployment and final plans for the new girls wing at Juvenile Hall. Supervisors approved preliminary plans Tuesday and authorized the department to proceed with final drawings.

Girls Want To Raise Fund To Buy Seashore Acreage

Two San Rafael High School girls head a group that wants to show how it feels about Point Reyes National Seashore by raising money toward purchase of additional acreage for the park.

The girls, Tami Patterson of Inverness and Newtza Cornelius of San Rafael, both juniors, don't expect their money-raising effort to buy any acreage, but they hope it will get the ball rolling — and perhaps help convince congressmen and senators that Marinites want the park expanded to its original projected size.

Their way of starting things was to organize two bake sales, money from which will go to the National Park Service to be used — if possible — toward addition to Point Reyes National Seashore. First sale will be held Sunday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Inverness Store; second on May 3 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Co-op of Marin in Corte Madera.

Miss Patterson described the objective as "to alert the public to the fact that there is beautiful land (the Lake Ranch) out in West Marin up for sale that is to be subdivided unless prompt action is taken by the people."

Miss Patterson urged that Marinites write Wallace Hickel, secretary of the interior, urging that the Bureau of Land Management exchange land it owns in Northern California or Oregon for Lake Ranch, to preserve the latter for enlargement of the national seashore.

She said several adults have joined the girls' effort to promote a show of public interest in Point Reyes Seashore expansion and prevention of subdivisions on the land earmarked for the park.

Plans Approved

The Cotati Planning Commission last night gave approval to plan of Commissioner Kenneth Garner to construct a 24-unit apartment house on East Cotati Avenue.

Youth Treated For Cuts From Glass Ramming

A 20-year-old San Rafael youth, who reportedly rammed his hands through glass panes while police placed him in a search position, was treated for multiple cuts at Marin General Hospital early today.

The youth, Doanld Robert Hurd of 1614 Lincoln Avenue, was then booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of disturbing the peace and malicious mischief.

Police said Hurd allegedly fought with another man at the Bermuda Palms, 737 Francisco Boulevard, and then got into his car. He allegedly tore off the open door of a car owned by William Roche of 1256 Lohrman Lane, Petaluma, narrowly missing the man with whom he had just fought, police said.

Police arrived and were told by witnesses that Hurd had a knife. As he was placed in the search position, Hurd forced his hands and arms into the panes of a door, police said.

Hurd was held on bail of $315 to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

New Organ Transplant Aid Tested

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Two Houston transplant experts removed the heart and lungs from a youth killed in a traffic accident and flew them 200 miles last night in new organ transplant chamber.

A spokesman for Wilford Hall, an Air Force hospital at San Antonio, said the donor was a 19-year old son of an Air Force master sergeant. The hospital would not disclose his name.

It was believed to be the first attempt to fly such organs from one city to another. Houston transplant surgeons have decried for some time the lack of donor organs at their hospitals and have sought ways to fly organs to the surgical team from other cities.

Flying to San Antonio from Houston's Methodist Hospital and returning were Drs. Edward B. Diethrich and John Liddicote to perform the organ removal.

"We don't have a recipient to match yet." Diethrich said before he left Methodist Hospital. "We have three prospective recipients outside the hospital, but their blood types do not match."

He said he did not know if St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital here had any suitable donors.

Two sets of human hearts and lungs were tested for some time recently in the chamber but those were taken from donors at Methodist Hospital and kept there.

In the first test of human organs in the chamber for 22 hours, the lung function started to deteriorate. Adjustments were made in the chamber, and Diethrich said the second trial, which lasted 34 hours, left both the heart and lungs in "excellent" condition.

Volpe Wants Action On Supersonic Jet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Transportation Secretary John Volpe has reshuffled his department's priorities, putting two controversial airways projects ahead of—solving mass transit problems.

The former Massachusetts governor reportedly has told President Richard M. Nixon he wants administration approval for either the Supersonic Transport — SST — or an airways and airports bill before action on increasing other programs, including mass transit.

ART REVIEW

Irving Amen's Work Shows Odd Contrast

By LAURA DEVENDORF

Irving Amen has been an internationally recognized artist for some years. His etchings and woodcuts of people and literary and religious themes grace museum collections throughout the world and his credits include membership in many international art societies and inclusion in publications such as "Who's Who in American Art."

The reason for all this acclaim is only partially evident in the prints loaned by Sausalito's Shelby Galleries and shown through May 2 at the Marin Jewish Community Center, 200 North San Pedro Road in San Rafael.

The contrasts within the group are disquieting. About half the work seems old and dated, even coming closer to what has been adopted now as commercial, rather than fine art. Into this category fall most of the woodcuts, the Don Quixote series and those figures which are maudlin or otherwise obvious.

The other half, including most of the etchings, is tender, probing and convincing both visually and as character study. In other words, when Amen is good he is affecting. When he is less his work is about as unmoving and unsubtle as motel art.

Part of this is because, for a working artist, some of these prints are really ancient. It is doubly disturbing since some, especially the most recent, are excellent from their technical perfection right through to their smallest nuance of mood.

When Amen treats folksingers, students, youthful musicians and especially, young girls within their dream-drawn world at the threshold of womanhood, he is completely and gently attuned. And when he presents faces such as "Jeremiah," in strong, clean lines, he can be heroic

Amen's storytelling ability is equally acute and it threads through many scense of poverty, family gatherings, religious ceremonies and studies of the young.

Andin general, the mood is enhanced when Amen limits his tones to gray, sepia or pastel washes that do more than just outline his subjects.

There are many negatives and positives in Amen's work which seem to both question and reinforce the reasons for his success a rather strange situation for an artist who has enjoyed so much of it for so long.

The exhibit is open weekdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Homeowners To Aid Novato In Cleanup

The Lynwood Park Improvement Association board has voted to clean up that portion of South Novato Boulevard to Rowland Boulevard this weekend as its share of the cleanup campaign of the City of Novato, according to Secretary Marilyn Haskell.

The board received a report Tuesday that a car had run over seven sprinkler heads in the center islands last week. It costs the association btween $300 and $400 annually to replace these, according to Mrs. Haskell. The association is going to ask for more police patroling of the area, she said.

Red Cross Youth Project Finished

The chests, made by the industrial arts class, were filled with notebooks, rulers, compasses, chalk erasers, balls and other school supplies as well as schoolbags made by Red Cross youth.

Once emptied, the chests will be used by the refugees to make desks and other school furnishings, the chapter reported.

Tam Creek Ditch Hit; Engineers Call It Necessary

Kent Woodlands Resident Calls Flood Solution Heavy-Handed

By BRUCE COLEMAN

A Kent Woodlands resident today charged the Army Corps of Engineers with "heavy handedness" and "insensitivity" in planning of the concrete ditch to be erected for controlling floods on Tamalpais Creek.

"The thing that disturbs us is the heavy-handed style by which this new capacity is being installed," said management consultant Fred B. Graham.

Graham said the 400-foot, block-long ditch was an "insensitive and very expensive solution" and should be replaced with a more orderly and "common sensical" approach.

Watkin asked for "fresh ideas" to solve flood control problems and said the City of San Anselmo, for example, had used riprap work and had also widened narrow places in the Corte Madera Creek, thus alleviating floods.

Col. Frank C. Boerger, district engineer for the Army Corps of Engineers in San Francisco, argued that alternative plans on Tamalpais Creek have been discussed time and time again and said that, in this instance, the proposed concrete-type structure was necessary.

Boerger said that one alternative would be to evacuate residents. He also explained that there will be very little visual loss of beauty to the four families who live on the creek.

Concurring with Boerger was Donald R. Frost, head of the Marin County Public Works Department.

The four men were panelists today on the 900th KTIM Sounding Board, which will be rebroadcast at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

Work was begun by the engineers April 15 on the second phase of the Corte Madera Creek portion of the flood control project and work is to begin on the Tamalpais Creek segment as soon as utilities have been relocated.

On the day that work began, the Ad Hoc Citizens Committee to Save Tamalpais Creek marched to the Corte Madera Creek site and halted the project for an hour by standing between a tractor and a clam shell machine. The committee, headed by Marty Kent Jones of Kent Woodlands, then retreated to their first line of defense — Tamalpais Creek — where they have been picketing ever since.

Congress approved the flood control project in 1962, Boerger said and it was later approved by the Marin County Board of Supervisors, the Town of Ross, the College of Marin and the Ross Valley Flood Control District.

Boerger cited two interventions regarding the Tamalpais Creek "stub" of the plan. He said that attorney Roger Kent, also of Kent Woodlands, voiced opposition to the ditching in February 1968 and engineers, in response, designed an alternative diversionary channel to run under Woodland Road.

The difference in cost was $100,000 but this plan was scrapped because neither federal nor local funds could be obtained.

Then, this week Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., asked that the Tamalpais Creek project be delayed and Gen. William M. Glasgow of the engineers, Cranston and Boerger met in Los Angeles to discuss other proposals.

The engineers decided, with Cranston's approval that the work should go ahead, Boerger told the Independent-Journal yesterday.

Boerger also said that in an interview yesterday if Tamalpais Creek were not included in the project, there would be flooding in College park and on properties northwest of Kent Avenue.

The colonel said phase one of the overall $5 million project has been completed. Phase two— between Bon Air and College Avenue bridges — is now under way and phase three, between College Avenue and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Ross, is to begin next year.

Work on Tamalpais Creek, part of phase two, is to begin "very soon."

The Tamalpais Creek concrete channel will be 10 feet wide with 13-foot high walls and a six-foot chain link fence with green vinyl woven into it will border the stream.

The three largest trees adjacent to the channel will be preserved while smaller trees will be removed and replaced with vines, shrubs and trees.

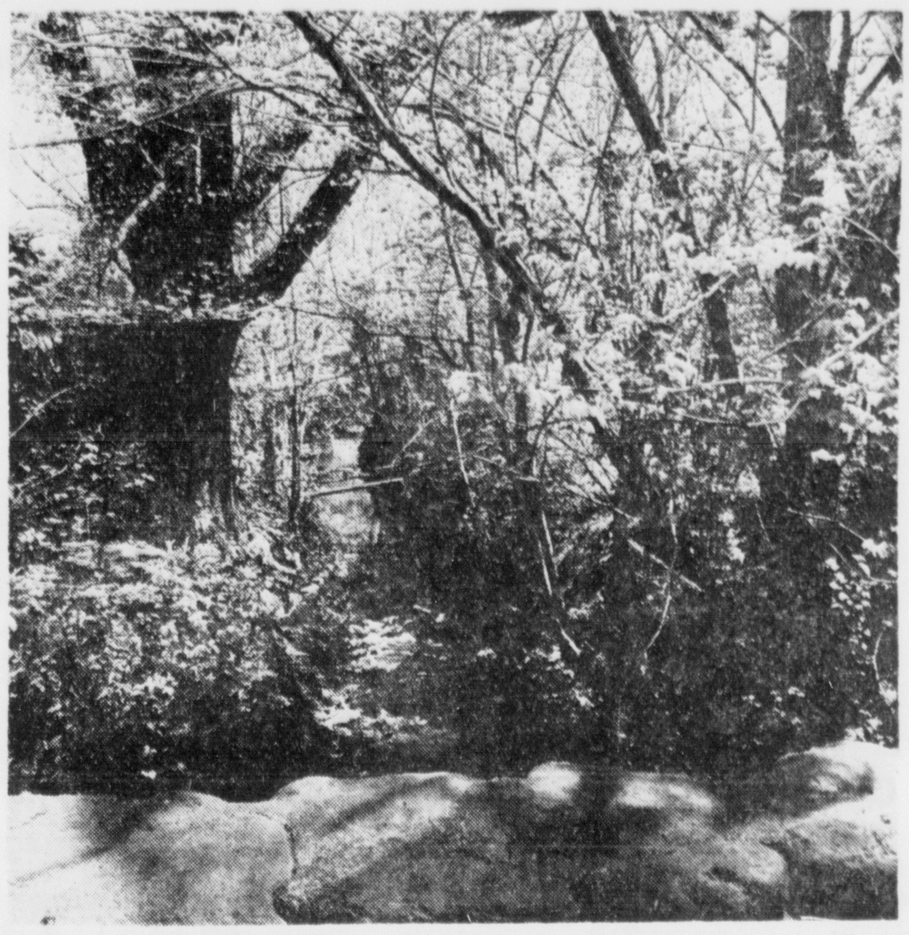
The creek will go under Kent and College avenues in a boxed culvert and join the already installed underground channel running through College of Marin land to Corte Madera Creek.

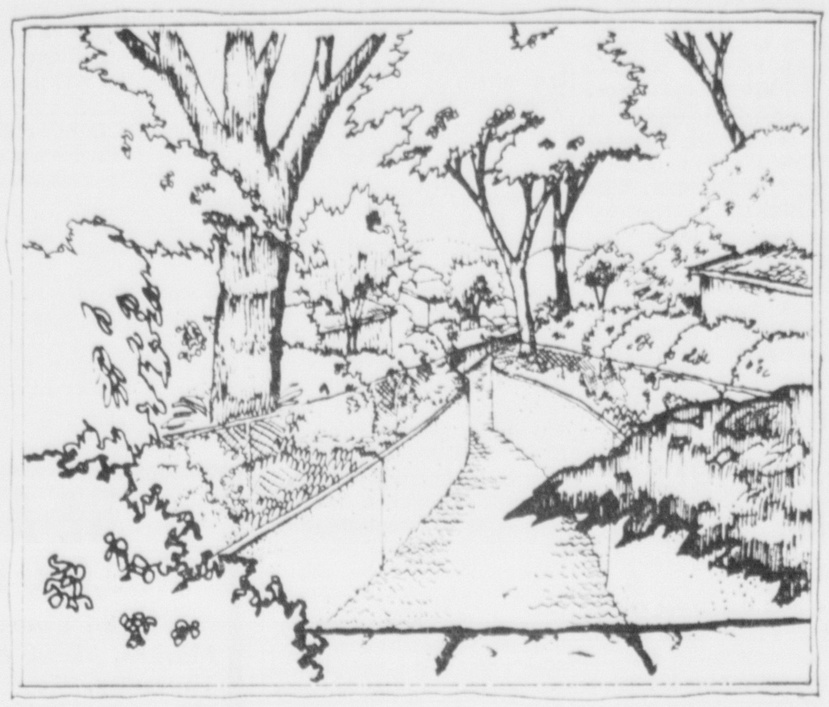
Fencing is necessary as a county safety requirement, said the colonel.

There is $196,000 in the overall project for "beautification," the colonel explained, and this is in addition to what is being spent to snake the channel back and forth to avoid cutting trees.

Both Graham and Watkin claimed that there has never been any real flooding in the Tamalpais Creek area, other than when some obstructions have temporarily jammed up one of the creek areas.

Boerger and Frost stressed that the project was necessary to avert a bad flood.





THE WILD AND THE TAMED — From the stone bridge at 100 goodhill Road in Kent Woodlands, Tamalpais Creek winds through a tiny forest of oak, elm and hawthorne trees in the photograph, (left). When the creek is tamed by 13-foot-high concrete walls, it is expected to look like the Corps of Engineers drawing (right). The large oak, (left) and two other trees will remain. Auto Stolen

A 1963 turquoise Chevrolet, license BMF 331, was reported stolen from Ernest S. Border of 20 Green Way, San Rafael, yesterday while it was parked at 56 Harbor Street, San Rafael, police said.

Camera, Binoculars Reported Missing

A camera and binoculars valued at $350 were reported missing from his home at 35 Glen Avenue, San Rafael, yesterday by Robert John Deckert Jr., police said.

Deckert said he noticed the items missing Sunday after he invited three persons he met at Muir Beach home for dinner. He did not know their full names, police said.

'Fantasies Of Love' Again Lead To Courtroom Glare

"Fantasies of love" were responsible for the generosity of an octogenarian who had been a penurious broom seller until he met two young women in the twilight of his life, an attorney claimed today.

The description of Max Bootzin was made by attorney Leroy W. Rice in his opening statements today in Marin Superior Court in a trial in which the Bootzin estate is trying to get back money and property allegedly given to two women.

The three children of Bootzin, a former Mill Valley man who died at 83 in 1966, are continuing a case he filed in 1965 against two women he said conducted a four-year campaign to gain his possessions.

The women, Charmaine Klenman and Joan Saylor, still live at the Mill Valley house which Bootzin gave to Miss Klenman.

They also own two adjoining lots, with other property and cash, the heirs are attempting to regain.

Rice, attorney for the estate, said today that Miss Klenman had "promised Bootzin that if he treated her right monetarily, she would marry him." After four years and no marriage, Bootzin decided he had been taken, Rice said.

The women met the old man when he was despondent over the death of his wife, Rice said. After their friendship flourished, "one or both of the women was present ever time Max was separated form his property," the attorney added.

He also characterized the old man as having spent most of his life selling brooms to hardware stores which netted him about $600 a year.

He was so frugal, Rice claimed, that his wife had to account to him for the small amounts of money he gave her to run the house.

Rice traced the long history of the suit for Judge Joseph G. Wison, who is hearing the trial without a jury, saying that at one time Bootzin decided to withdraw his suit after the "girls got their hooks into him again."

But the action was never withdrawn, and the women later filed a cross-complaint charging that Bootzin owed them $40,000 for such services as housekeeping and chauffeuring.

Rice also claimed that an attorney who has since been disbarred drew up an agreement where Bootzin signed over property to Miss Klenman, and that Bootzin's brother-in-law, who had always hated the old man, took part in the negotiation in order to get even.

Vincent Halliann, executor for the estate, will also testify, Rice said.

The women, who are represented by Marvin Lewis of San Francisco, exchanged looks of astonishment today as Rice described their alleged activities.

Lewis asked today that the suit be dismissed on the grounds that Bootzin had wanted it dropped and also on grounds that Hallinan at one time resigned as executor of the estate.

Judge Wilson took the motion under submission.

Wilson Promises Decision Soon On Rehiring Overweight Teacher

By MARY LEYDECKER

A Marin Superior Court judge who said he was "troubled about this case" promised yesterday to make a decision soon whether to order the Tamalpais High School District to rehire its overweight gym teacher, Elizabeth R. Blodgett.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson heard closing arguments yesterday in the suit in which Miss Blodgett askes that she be rehired because the decision to let her go was made solely on the basis of her excess weight and that this is not "cause" under the law.

A hearing officer from the state Department of Eduation conducted a hearing and upheld the district in releasing her.

Judge Wilson yesterday indicated that the hearing was conducted in a fair manner and that while he deplored newspaper advertisements and petitions signed by Redwood teachers and students which backed Kreps' decision, he doubted they affected the hearing officer.

The judge pondered, however, whether or not a school district could impose a weight requirement.

Miss Blodgett's attorney, A. Leonard Bjorklund, contended that the law protects teachers from "whims of principals who may prefer their women rounded or slim."

Richard V. Godino, county counsel who is representing the school district in the suit, added that if weight were the only issue in the case, "the hearing would have been over in an hour. All we would have done would have been to bring in a scale and put Miss Blodget on it."

Godino maintained that Miss Blodgett's weight made her ineffective as a teacher.

Miss Blodgett, who tipped the scales at 253 pounds in January 1968, but had dropped to 211 by June of last year, sat quietly in court yesterday listening to arguments about her shape and size.

After the hearing was concluded, she said that she has been unable to get a regular teaching job this year because "no one believes that overweight was the real reason I was not rehired. . . . They all say, 'what was the real reason?' . . . When I can't give any other answer, fertile minds supply reasons."

Her attorney said in court that Miss Blodgett has only been able to earn about $600 since September as a substitute teacher in districts outside Marin County.

Judge Wilson gave no date yesterday as to when he will announce his decision on what he called a unique case.

Ex-Model Held In Probe Of Hiring Slayer

NEW YORK (AP) — A former bathing suit model was arrested last night after she offered an undercover detective $10,000 to murder her 50-year-old husband, police said.

Barbara Shampain, 38, was seized at her swank Sutton Place South apartment hours after she met detective Louis Di Pasqueale—who she thought was "a tough Mafia-type"—and allegedly asked him to kill Seymour Shampain, vice president of a Manhattan textile firm, police said.

They said another detective had heard a tip that the attractive blonde was "reaching out for someone to murder her husband." Di Pasqueale called her and they met on a street corner. He said he would have been paid after Shampain's estate was settled.

Police said the 5-foot-4, 115-pound woman had suggested to the detective several places in which he could slay her husband. She was held for Criminal Court arraignment.

Angler Sought Near Hamilton

A Concord man was reported lost off the Marin shore of San Pablo Bay last night and the Coast Guard has found no trace of him today.

Peter Boyle, 46, of 3276 Fitzpatrick Drive, left at 8 a.m. yesterday to fish in the vicinity of Hamilton Air Force Base and China Camp, his wife reported to the Coast Guard. He was expected to return at 5 p.m. yesterday.

Mrs. Boyle notified the Coast Guard at 6:49 p.m. yesterday and checks with all harbors in the area failed to turn up the missing man.

Today, harbor checks were made again and a helicopter was assigned to search for Boyle from the Benicia Bridge to Angel Island, the Coast Guard said.

SACRAMENTO SUMMARY

Interest Conflict Curb To Senate

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The fate of a watered-down conflict of interest statute that still affects nearly all public officials in the state rested today with the Senate.

It could have a short future.

The Assembly approved the bill by Assemblyman Jess Unruh, D-Inglewood, yesterday by a 64-7 vote. It is designed to disclose to the public who is paying campaign expenses for public officials, and the extent of the office holder's wealth.

Much of the bill's original muscle had been taken away in the Assembly Governmental Organization Committee but Unruh still characterized it as "tough."

Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, one of two Democrats who voted against the bill, argued that it contained a provision to jail a public official who simply forgot to report his financial standing.

"It's absolutely mind boggling to me that someone will have committed a felony if he doesn't file something that is legally required," Crown said.

The original vote on the bill was 62-6 but enough legislators added their names to the roll call later in the day to bring it to 64-7.

The bill applies to all public elected and appointed officials and candidates for office as well as top grade civil service personnal and chief staff officials of the Legislature and governor's office.

It requires them to file each April 15 a statement of their financial worth and investments that exceed $10,000.

In addition, it requires that candidates for office list contributions of more than $500 before the election.

The original bill prohibited officials from acquiring any interests that amounted to more than .1 per cent of any business regulated by government agencies. This was stricken in the committee.

JOB CHIEF MOVES

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Peter Weinberger, state employment director has been chosen by Gov. Ronald Reagan to become the new state industrial relations directors. His old job is being eliminated.

Weinberger, a former San Francisco business executive, succeeds Albert C. Beeson, 61, who is resigning May 1 to return to the management consulting business.

The brother of Finance Director Caspar W. Weinberger, has been employment director since the Reagan administration took office in January 1967.

The Employment Department will be absorbed into the new Human Resources Development Department headed by Gilbert L. Sheffield, the Republican governor noted in making the announcement.

BATTLE DELAYED?

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The swirling controversy over Gov. Ronald Reagan's thoughts on a federal grant for Sacramento antipoverty forces has suddenly calmed down — but a renewal of the storm may be less than two weeks away.

Reagan's office announced last night that "by general agreement, an extension of 10 working days has been granted by the Western Regional Office of Economic Opportunity for the governor to consider the grant . . ."

The deadline for the decision on the $1.9-million grant to the Sacramento Area Economic Opportunity Council has been yesterday. As it approached, tempers flared.

On Tuesday, about 75 demonstrators caused a minor uproar in Reagan's outer office. The governor did not meet the demonstrators, as he entered and left the office through a side door.

LABOR BILL DIES

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A law which organized labor has been seeking for several years has died again in a legislative committee.

The Assembly Labor Relations Committee refused yesterday to approve a bill which would make it illegal for a company to hire a professional strikebreaker to replace an employee on strike.

The bill by Assemblyman David A. Roberti, D-Los Angeles, also would make it a misdemeanor for a person to make himself available for work as a strikebreaker professionally.

A similar bill has been introduced in previous sessions but each time has failed to get out of committee.

VOTE PETITION

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A petition drive to lower the voting age from 21 to 18 has been sanctioned by Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan.

Jordan announced yesterday he had approved circulation of petitions to qualify the question for the 1970 ballot. The sponsors of the drive need about 520,000 valid signatures by Aug. 6 to put it before voters.

PICKET BAN BILL

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill banning picketing and demonstrations in the Capitol advanced to the Assembly floor today after winning the approval of the lower house Criminal Procedure Committee.

After a heated debate, the committee yesterday endorsed on a split voice vote a measure which makes it a misdemeanor to enter either house of the legislature without authorization, disrupt legislative proceedings or picket in the Capitol.

Assemblyman Don Mulford, R-Piedmont, author of the bill, said it would prohibit demonstrations such as the one Tuesday in which 300 sign-carrying persons surged into Gov. Ronald Reagan's office to protest his anticipated veto of an antipoverty grant.

Chamber Sends Views On Taxes To Lawmakers

The Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau has gone on record as endorsing Senate Bill 35 and opposing the proposed withholding of state income tax.

Senate Bill 35 — which would repeal the authority for school districts to set tax rates beyond a maximum without a vote by the people — is now pending before the State Assembly.

The chamber's endorsement was made in letters to Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan, R-Stockton, Assemblyman Victor Veysey, R-Brawley, chairman of the Assembly Education Committee and Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The chamber registered opposition to the proposed withholding of state income tax in letters to Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, and Bagley.

"We heartily disapprove of devices, such as withholding, intended to ease the pain of payment and accelerate collection," Chamber president Richard P. Nave wrote.

State Accident Official Hurt

I-J Special Report

SONOMA — A state accident prevention inspector was injured yesterday at 12:30 p.m. when he walked through the sliding glass front door at the Bates, Evans and Fehrensen funeral home.

W. E. Stock of Santa Rosa had completed his investigation into an accidental death and walked through the door as he turned to leave. He was treated at Sonoma Valley Hospital for cuts of the head and legs.

Spokesmen at the funeral home said Stock had just ended a half-hour discussion into ways of preventing accidents caused by thoughtlessness.

Students At Coleman To Give Experiments

There will be a variety of events including a demonstration of frog dissection at the open house at 7:30 p.m. today at Coleman School in San Rafael, all in celebration of Public Schools Week.

Sixth graders in different classes will dissect frogs, hold a controlled reading demonstration and by use of a handmade computer, provide answers to bond election questions.

Fifth graders also have a computer which gives information on the stock market. Sixth grader Kathryn Derkovsky will be presented with the second prize Masonic award for her essay on Public Schools Week.

Elsewhere in Marin these open houses will be held:

Army Gives Bike Trail Connect Nod

Army officials at the Presidio of San Francisco have notified the Marin County Parks and Recreation Department that a proposed bicycle trail over Golden Gate Bridge may connect to existing military roads on both ends of the bridge.

Col. Robert E. McMahon, commanding officer at the Presidio, said the Army will permit a temporary bicycle trail to tie in with Bridge Road and Conzelman Road in Fort Baker and cross under the freeway to connect to the Sausalito lateral on the east side of Highway 101.

Colonel McMahon said the temporary access is granted with the understanding that Marin will construct a permanent bicycle route apart from military roads west of Highway 101 as soon as economically feasible.

Brian Wittenkeller, county park planner, said the route of the permanent bicycle trail will probably follow trails along the hills on the west side of Highway 101 to the Waldo Tunnel and cross over the mouth of the tunnel into Sausalito.

"However, this permanent route will require extensive field study and is subject to further consideration," said Wittenkeller.

Juvenile Court Refuses Case

The case of Gary William Clemons, 18, of Larkspur, accused of hitting a California Highway patrolman and possessing marijuana, has been refused by the Marin Juvenile Court and will be heard in adult court.

A preliminary hearing was set yesterday for May 13 in municipal court.

Clemons was arrested April 8 in Tamalpais Valley.

School Boosters Report Survey On Attitudes

Members of Your Elementary Schools Committee in San Rafael reached about two-thirds of the registered voters in its recent survey to determine voter attitudes about elementary school programs, committee chairman Paul K. McMullen has announced.

About 200 persons participated in the survey and it will be a monumental job to tabulate the findings, and when the task will be completed is uncertain, McMullen said.

The survey was undertaken after the defeat of the elementary district's $2.1 million bond proposal Feb. 18.

The committee, backing the $2.1 million measure which will be before voters again June 10, will make campaign plans at 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday at the San Rafael Schools Administration Building, Third and E Streets.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Youngster's Bladder Ailments May Smolder Hidden For Years

VAN DELLEN

Infants and children often develop bladder infections that smolder for many years unless treated properly. Girls are more susceptible, possibly because of anatomical reasons.

One authority reported that many of his young female patients are habitual bubble bath takers. The exact relationship between the two is not known, but the physician in question advises against these baths for children with proven urinary tract infection.

INFLAMMATION is not always easy to recognize. The infants may be irritable and cry whenever urinating. In addition, they hold back until the urge becomes too strong. Fever may coexist. In some there is vomiting, diarrhea, lack of appetite, or failure to gain weight.

Urinalysis is advised when these symptoms occur.

Older children are more likely to develop frequency and painful or burning urination.

Now and then, the 'urge' is so acute they cannot hold back; at night, they may wet the bed, even though previously trained. Chills, fever, abdominal pain, nausea, and vomiting may also ensue.

When the bladder is infected, the urine usually is loaded with pus cells and bacteria. The wise physician wants to know what microbe is responsible and what sulfonamide or antibiotic will kill the critter.

The latter is determined via a sensitivity test in which different drugs are applied to the causative bacteria growing in a flat dish. Then the most effective drug is prescribed.

TREATMENT IS prolonged to make sure that the infection is gone. Now and then, the medicine must be changed to eliminate all traces of the bacterial invasion.

Long-term follow-up is a must; even mild recurrences or chronic bouts can, in time, destroy vital renal tissue.

More tests also are advisable in the bladder infection returns, once in a boy; twice in a girl. Special instruments and X-rays will be needed to detect a urinary tract abnormality that is contributing to the infection (and vice versa).

PAINFUL COLLARBONE

S. T. writes: My collarbone hurts whenever I move a certain way. Could this be arthritis?

REPLY

Yes, but the pain must be at one of the ends of the bone because arthritis is a disease involving the joints. The collarbone (clavicle) joins in front with the breastbone and on the outside with the shoulder girdle. The ribs also connect with the breastbone, forming joints that are susceptible to arthritis.

GRAVEL IN BLADDER

REPLY

Certain chemicals in the urine crystalize and form solid particles the size of a grain of sand. Stone formation occurs when a number of these particles adhere. This tends to occur when urine is too acid or is concentrated or stagnant because of a partial obstruction.

ALLERGIC TO ASPIRIN

A reader writes: Can a person be sensitive to aspirin?

REPLY

Yes. Some are so sensitive they almost die after taking one tablet. This, however, is an extreme example. The most common reactions of these kinds are asthma, allergic rhinitis, and a rash.

COLD DRINKS, FEVER

A reader writes: Is it harmful to give cold drinks to a person who is running a fever due to a bad cold?

REPLY

No. Not only are cool drinks refreshing, but now and then they lower the temperature.

San Francisco's Gun Law Upheld

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The California Supreme Court yesterday ruled San Francisco's gun control law is a "valid" exercise of local police power.

The ordinance calls for registration of firearms, with a description of the gun, payment of a $1 fee and the name and address of the owner. Violation of the law carries a fine of $500 or six months in jail or both.

The court unanimously ruled against John Galvan, who said the ordinance enacted last year violated his constitutional rights to bear arms.

Tax Exemption Hike Cost Told

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top tax policy spokesman testified today that doubling the amount of the personal income tax exemption to $1,200 would cost the government $17 billion in lost revenue.

The law now permits a taxpayer to claim a $600 exemption for himself and each of his dependents.

Testifying before the House Ways and Means Committee on the administration's broad array of tax reform proposals, Edwin S. Cohen, assistant secretary of the Treasury for tax policy, said it is obvious that the bulk of tax revenues must come from middle income taxpayers because they are the largest group in the population.

Brundage Still Waiting For Olympic Medals

CHICAGO (AP) — President Avery Brundage of the International Olympic Committee, demanding return of all Alpine skiing medals because they were tainted with commercialism in the 1968 Winter Games at Grenoble, France, was caught in a ground swell today.

Earl Walters, president of the U.S. Ski Association, implied in Salt Lake City that the trail of commercialism leads throughout the entire Olympic program.

"You could probably eliminate all Olympic competitors on one score or another by sticking strictly to the rules," said Walters.

"The big difference between the skiers and other Olympic participants is that skiers make a little less effort to conceal it than some of the others.

"The truth of the matter is that all athletes in all Olympic sports are receiving financial aid from one source or another, even if its just from their grandmother, in order to prepare themselves for Olympic competition.

"There really isn't that much difference between government subsidy and industry subsidy."

Walters said he didn't think Brundage would be able to get the medals returned and that his attempt will "just create more problems."

Brundage said he has asked the Federation International du Ski (FIS) to reclaim Alpine ski medals won in Grenoble a year ago.

"It is obvious that Alpine skiing has not been properly controlled . . . and it is doubtful if it should be on the Olympic program," said the 81-year-old Chicago millionaire, IOC president since 1952.

Brundage said the future of the Olympic Winter Games will be considered by the IOC meeting in Warsaw, Poland, June 6-10.

Brundage said:

"Articles have been printed listing the payments made by ski manufacturers for Olympic medals.

"In nearly every Olympic Winter Games this sport has been surrounded by scandal and this is inevitable as long as many racers admittedly are in the employ, one way or another, of equipment manufacturers."

France's triple gold medal skier Jean-Claude Killy, said in Paris, "Let Brundage come over here himself and take the medals from me. He would have to go to my home town of Val d'Isere to get them—and I've got a lot of friends there."

Marc Holder, president of the FIS, said in Innsbruck, Austria that his organization may part with the IOC some day.

"It wouldn't surprise me," he said. "If it happens, the world ski championships would be held every two years instead of four years."

Holder suggested that Brundage deal through the Olympic associations of the various countries involved and Brundage said he intends to do so.

"I want the return of all medals won by athletes who were not properly certified under Olympic rules," he said. "The determination of that would be up to each country's association."

Manager Anselmo Has High Goals

THE OPTIMIST—For a guy who's 0-1 in the won-lost column, Manager Joe Anselmo of the semi-professional San Rafael Braves baseball club has fairly energetic ambitions.

"We'll shoot for the state championship in June and then the national title at Wichita, Kan., in August," he said over lunch, trying to digest Sunday's season opener 6-3 loss to Hatzell Radio of the East Bay.

JOE ANSELMO

You can kiss that one off as "just one of those games" because the Braves were still conducting tryouts, several regulars were missing from the lineup and the team made seven errors. Anselmo-managed teams just don't boot the ball around like that.

"We'll be in good shape this season," Joe offered. "I feel this will be the best club we have ever fielded," said the man who has managed semi-pro powerhouses here for 10 years. "I may be going out on the limb, but I'll say we will be in Wichita shooting for that $15,000 first prize."

Anselmo's Braves won the Western Baseball Association in 1967, finishing second last year and placing second twice in the state tournament in 1967-68.

The Trips Too Costly

The Braves have quit the WBA because of the high costs of travel and currently are seeking financial support from local businessmen and fans. A special "Baseball Daze" show by Marin barbershop quartets May 10 at Dominican College Auditorium in San Rafael will benefit the Braves. They'll try to raise some do-re-mi.

The 40-year-old Anselmo, who scouts for the Atlanta Braves and lives in San Hislastname, says the 1969 S.R. Braves will be "hand picked from our last three teams. We'll have several outstanding college players like Novato's Tom Corder of San Jose State, some former pros and we sincerely hope to get a few high school standouts like infielder Rick Denning of Marin Catholic and pitchers Russ Dillon of Novato and Mike Timmel of Terra Linda. I feel these kids can benefit a great deal by associating with our older, established players."

Anselmo is still conducting tryouts each Sunday in search of a few more men to complete his roster. In 10 years the popular, personable paisano's semi-pro teams have batted out a winning percentage in excess of .800 so you can bet he'll produce another winner. Maybe all the way to Wichita.

WHILE DISCUSSING the deportment of kids' groups at Candlestick Park each baseball season, Giant executive Walter Mails gave a gold star to the offspring of military personnel at the Army Presidio.

"If a kid raises his hand to go to the bathroom they send a soldier with him," hee-hawed Mails.

Sunday Fishing This Year

MARIN MUNICIPAL Water District lakes, which have been closed to fishing on Sundays in the past, will be open to anglers on Sabbaths this trout season. Instead, they'll be closed on Tuesdays this season, which opens May 3.

Nicasio lake will remain open seven days a week as in the past, the MMWD said.

TWO MARIN COUNTY high school products are going great guns for the Menlo College baseball team.

The fleet Thomas, who has been clocked at 9.9 seconds in the 100-yard dash, was the fourth draft choice of the California Angels in the free agent draft in January.

West Hits 53 Points, L.A. Wins

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Boston's John Havlicek said it the only way it could be said:

"Jerry West was fantastic and he really killed us."

Not only did the veteran star of the Los Angeles Lakers score 53 points against the defending National Basketball Association champion Celtics in their opening playoff game last night but night but he had 10 assists.

As it turned out, the Lakers needed all the West contributions to pull out a 120-118 decision and take a 1-0 lead in the best of seven title series.

NO CHANGES

"West was the difference, but with a two-point loss here in the opening game, I'm not going to change a thing," Russell said.

"It wasn't the 53 points that beat us, it was the 10 assists."

West's previous playoff high total was 52 points but not in a championship series. In eight previous seasons, the Lakers never have won the title, losing to Boston on five occasions.

A MISSION

Jerry played like a man with a mission before the 17,554 fans, hitting shots from 25 feet out and on several occasions driving in under Russell and coming back with a reverse lay-up.

"I suppose it' s one of the greatest games I've ever played," West commented. "However, there have been games when I've scored a lot fewer points and still felt I helped the team more with assists and playing defense."

Havlicek, with 37 points, paced the Celtics who led 58-56 at the half and 84-82 in a game which saw the lead change hands 21 times.

The key came with less than two minutes to play when West hit two jumpers from the side for a three point lead at 113-110. Four times the Celtics cut the margin to one, but never again went ahead.

24 FOR ELGIN

Elgin Baylor scored 24 for the Lakers while Sam Jones had 21 for the Celtics. In the rebound department, Russell collected 27 and Wilt Chamberlain 22. In their personal scoring duel, Russell got 16 points and Chamberlain 15.

"I'm sure Wilt must have intimidated some of their shooters," commented Laker Coach Bill Van Breda Kolff of the 7-foot-2 Chamberlain, who's playing his first season in Los Angeles.

Frazier Vs. Quarry Bout Set In June

The Philadelphia kid with the now-you-see-it and now-you-don't left hook has been guaranteed $250,000 to defend his heavyweight title June 23 in New York City's Madison Square Garden against Jerry Quarry.

He earned $500 a second or $48,000 for his 96-second knockout of outclassed Dave Zyglewicz in Houston Tuesday night.

ALL WORTH IT

"I have to work hard but it's all worth it," grinned the bearded Frazier yesterday as he played a fast game of cards with a fistfull of bills while awaiting announcement of his fourth title defense.

Harry Markson, president of Madison Square Garden Boxing Inc., said the 24-year-old Frazier will receive 35 per cent of the net gate receipts and 40 per cent of the ancillaries. Markson said a capacity Houston would draw in excess of $750,000.

Markson said the fight will be seen nationally on closed circuit television although it will be blacked out in New York.

SERIES FINALE

A's, Twins In Rematch

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Oakland Athletics faced the Minnesota Twins today in the last of a four-game series.

The Twins clobbered A's pitching for 13 hits yesterday in scoring a 7-6 victory. John Roseboro and Rod Carew each blasted two-run homers against loser Catfish Hunter.

Yesterday Roseboro wiped out a 5-4 Oakland lead in the sixth inning with a 390-foot blast over the right field fence, scoring Leo Cardenas, who had singled.

Carew batted in a run in the second with a sacrifice bunt and another with a single in the eighth.

2-0 LEAD

Uhlaender had four hits but dropped a deep fly to center by Dick Green in the third, allowing Sal Bando and Cater to score after they had singled.

"I kept hoping that wouldn't lose the game," Uhlaender said later. "It was my fault. I just dropped the ball. I've made other errors in the major leagues, but that's the first ball I ever remember dropping."

The win went to Jim Perry, the third Twins' pitcher. Ron Perranoski finished the final 2 1-3 innings.

Perranoski, hitless since moving from the Los Angeles Dodgers to Minnesota in 1968, led off the ninth with a single. He scored what turned out to be the winning run after Uhlaender and Carew singled off Oakland reliever John Wyatt.

Giants, Braves Try Again

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Manager Clyde King of the San Francisco Giants had his "Kiddie Korps" ready to go but rain interfered.

Beset by injuries and the need to give centerfielder Willie Mays a rest, the rookie skipper planned to start Frank Johnson, Dave Marshall and Bobby Bonds in the outfield and Willie McCovey, Don Mason, Hal Lanier and Cesar Gutierrez in the infield last night against the Atlanta Braves. Only Bonds, McCovey and Lanier are regulars.

RAIN

However, a heavy downpour forced the Giants to postpone the contest. It was only the ninth rainout for the Giants since moving to San Francisco from New York in 1958. The game will be rescheduled later in the season, probably as part of a twi-night doubleheader Sept. 16.

The teams were to try again today with Gaylord Perry (2-2) throwing against Milt Pappas (1-1).

Dierker, Koosman Hurl N.L. Victories

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dierker braked Houston's seven-game skid last night with a two-hit 4-0 triumph over San Diego while Koosman cut a pregame 9:00 earned run average down to size by hurling the New York Mets past Pittsburgh 2-0.

Don Sutton spotted Cincinnati three early runs, then stopped the Reds cold in pitching the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 6-3 victory in the only other National League action.

The Atlanta-San Francisco, St. Louis-Chicago and Philadelphia-Montreal games were rained out.

The Astros, humiliated by Cincinnati 14-0 Tuesday night, ended their seven-game losing streak as Dierker, 2-2, held San Diego hitless after the third inning. The Houston right-hander gave up an infield single by Ed Spiezio in the second and a single by Roberto Pena in the third, then retired 14 Padres in order.

Norm Miller doubled in the first inning and scored the only run Dierker needed on a single by Curt Blefary. A walk, singles by Miller and Joe Morgan and a balk by reliever Frank Reberger gave the Astros two more runs in the sixth. Another scored in the eighth on a bases-loaded walk to Miller.

Koosman, a 19-game winner for the Mets as a rookie last year, scattered five hits on the way to his first 1969 victory after two setbacks. The shutout lowered the left-hander's ERA to 4.41.

Cleon Jones stroked three hits, drove in one run and scored another while grabbing the N.L. batting lead with a .444 average. Jones' run-scoring single off Jim Bunning, after a double by Ken Boswell, sent the Mets ahead in the first inning. In the fourth, Jones doubled and scored on Ed Kranepool's single.

Sutton, clipped for a two-run double by Tony Perez in the first inning and a RBI single by Bob Tolan in the second, settled down to finish with a six-hitter and his first victory in three decisions. The loss snapped a three-game winning string for the Reds.

The Dodgers shot in front 4-3 with a four-run burst off Gary Nolan in the fourth and Ted Sizemore's two-run single in the eighth wrapped up their seventh victory in eight home games.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Orioles' Cueller Outduels McLain

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

But last night he was as hot as he's ever been and the temperature was a chilly 40 degrees.

Before only 5,432 shivering fans in Baltimore's Memorial Stadium, Cuellar held the Detroit Tigers hitless over the last 8 1-3 innings, facing the minimum of 25 batters as the Orioles outlasted the Tigers, 3-2 in 10 innings.

And the 31-year-old southpaw had to be that good, because he caught Denny McLain on one of his better nights. McLain retired 21 batters in a row before Elrod Hendricks doubled in the 10th to set up the winning run. Moment later, Mark Belanger, who banged in all the Oriole runs, singled to end it.

OTHER GAMES

Elsewhere in the American League, Minnesota edged Oakland, 7-6, Chicago beat California, 7-1, Kansas City edged Seattle, 4-3, and Washington thrashed Boston, 9-3. New York at Cleveland was postponed because of rain.

Baltimore now leads the Eastern Division of the American League by two games with a 12-5 mark.

Buddy Bradford hit a three-run homer in the fourth and Carlos May and Luis Aparicio drove in two runs apiece to give the White Sox victory. Gary Peters was backed by a 10-hit attack as he gave up six hits for his first victory of the year.

INSIDE HOMER

Pinch-hitter Chuch Harrison cracked a one-out, bases loaded single in the ninth to carry the Royals to victory. Jerry Adair hit an inside-the-park homer in the seventh for the Royals. Don Mincher homered for the Pilots in the fourth.

The Senators were propelled to victory by three-run homers off the bats of Ken McMullen and Mike Epstein. The triumph gave former Boston slugger Ted Williams a successful managerial debut at his old home grounds—Fenway Park.

Epstein's homer, his second of the year, capped the Senators' winning five-run rally in the third inning.

GO WEST, YOUNG MAN

Los Angeles superstar Jerry West finds hectic traffic trying to drive down court as he is closely pressed by Boston's Emmette Bryant in the first period of the opening game of the NBA championship playoffs in Los Angeles. West scored 53 points in a 120-118 Laker triumph. (AP Wirephoto)

Oaks Dump Bucs, Lead Playoffs 3-0

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Gary Bradds isn't kidding when he says he's anxious to get the American Basketball Association's Western Division playoffs over with.

The former Ohio State star poured in 33 points last night to pace Oakland to a 113-107 victory over New Orleans and give the Oaks a commanding 3-0 edge in their best-of-seven series.

The Indiana Pacers overpowered Miami 119-105 last night, also taking a 3-0 series lead in the East.

Bradds, who scored 27 and 33 points in the first two games, said earlier in the week he was tired of playing seven games and tired of traveling.

"I've got a lot on my mind and just want to get the season over with," he said.

After battling to a 50-50 halftime deadlock, Oakland fell behind by five points, 83-78, at the end of three quarters but stormed to a 35-point fourth period to pull away. The Buccaneers tallied only 24 points in the final quarter.

AT THE LINE

And for the third straight time, the Oaks won the game at the free throw line. They were outscored from the field, 40-38, but hit on 37 of 54 charity tosses to 27 of 39 for the Bucs.

Warren Armstrong, who missed 11 of 18 free throws, followed Bradds in the Oakland scoring column with 25 points. Jim Eakins came through with his second straight good scoring performance with a 20-point effort.

The fourth game of the series will be played here tomorrow night.

Chi Chi Trying Out Miniature Putter

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Chi Chi Rodriquez, the quick-witted little Puerto Rican who has had the putting woes, set out in today's first round of the $100,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic armed with a new weapon.

"It's my daughter's putter," Chi Chi quipped from the putting green. He was bent almost double, his head at waist level and clutched a club with a 24-inch shaft.

Chi Chi, a 140-pounder who is far back in the money winning list this season at $9,879, hauled out the putter in practice rounds for the 72-hole test over the 7,086-yard par 70 Preston Trail Golf Club course.

"Hey look at that," he yelled after dropping in a 20-footer. "Oh, I like this," he said and did a characteristic little dance step.

The club is a standard putter, except that the shaft is only two feet long. To make his putt, he must bend far over, looking for all the world, like a man about to pick up a tiny object.

"I've seen these before," said Byron Nelson, the golfing great from another era and the man for whom this tournament is named.

"A number of guys have used them before. They're good for short putts and for fast greens. They're not so good for long putts. But these greens are pretty fast..."

Rodriguez, probably the smallest man on the tour and one of the most colorful, said he went to the club—or rather went back to it—because of his putting difficulties.

Bauer Trying To Find The 'Right' Catcher

OAKLAND — One of the prevailing press box rumors at the Oakland Coliseum a year ago involved the nearly full-time use in the final half of the season of young catcher Dave Duncan.

Contents of the gossip was that owner Charles O. Finley had ordered manager Bob Kennedy to bench the veteran Jim Pagliaroni and concentrate on giving Duncan experience. Because Duncan was one of several A's getting on-the-job training in 1968, the A's failed — barely — to land in the first division. And Kennedy was fired, presumably for following orders.

KENNEDY LEFT in such haste, it was difficult to check the rumor with him. Elsewhere around the club, the word was that Duncan had great potential and lacked only experience. And so, we were told, it was pointless not to play him.

That was last year, when Oakland seemed to concentrate on building for a pennant bid in '69. Had Duncan then become one of the solid building blocks? In the spring, the answer seemed obvious: Dave was hitting admirably and seeing the kind of action that labeled him a first stringer. So it was no surprise that he was the starting catcher on opening day.

PAGLIARONI, meanwhile, was courteously talking about helping the club in whatever small way he could. It was just swell, said Pag, being a member of a club with a shot at a division title.

If nothing else, the A's appeared deep in catching at their Arizona camp. Behind Duncan and Pag were 1968's third man, Phil Roof; left-handed-hitting Tim Talton, 29 and a one-time .300 hitter in a brief fling with the A's in Kansas City, and 22-year-old Gene Tenace, who seemed more promising than Duncan.

ROOF APPEARED doomed. He had been Alvin Dark's favorite in K.C., despite an inability to hit over .210 in two full seasons. And left-handed backstops like Talton are rare, precious big league commodities. Tenace — an Italian whose name somehow became pronounced like "tennis" in minor league ball in the Southeast — would doubtless be farmed because of his youth. And he and Talton both were shipped.

So Pag and Roof were still there behind Duncan.

MANAGER HANK Bauer was quick to give up on Duncan, though. In a week, Dave, 23, had only one hit, a game-winning banjo single. And old-timer (31) Pagliaroni was handed, for a while at least, the starting job.

Pag lacks Duncan's speed, although it's relative, and the kid's power "potential." Yet Bauer is is a pressurized, must win position that makes it difficult to give Duncan a chance to prove he won't hit .192 again as a regular. Pag, at least, has hit as much as .295 over a full big league season (Pittsburgh in '64).

PAGLIARONI, again because of experience, is a worthier handler of the young Oakland pitching staff than Duncan. But the latter probably has a stronger arm. Again, it's relative.

Roof, 28, that fellow in the bullpen, is rated the best defensively of all three. He would probably outhit Duncan for another season but would never outrun either Dave or Pag. Now there would be a race.

IF NONE OF the three exhibits anything at the bat by June, Bauer may find himself forced to play a new game behind the plate.

By MARION LADEWIG

A too-high backswing is seldom the answer to additional ball speed. In fact, this "ceiling reach" most often causes women bowlers to lose their balance on the downswing. No wonder. That ball coming down from such a height would shake anyone. Keep the ball at or below shoulder level on the backswing for best results.

New Twist For Marin Swim Meet

The 1969 Marin County Athletic League swimming and diving meet which begins at Redwood High School in Larkspur tomorrow will be the same old meet with a new twist.

In past years, the meet has been used as a qualifying test for North Coast Section competition. Not so this year. They'll be going strictly for added laurels, revenge and assorted other targets.

ISSUES

The meet should be especially interesting, perhaps unofficially settling the issue of just who is the real champion of the league. Three teams tied for the regular season title with Tamalpais, Redwood and Novato all coming up with 5-1 records.

STRONG

Deployment of swimmers will tell a lot in this meet. So will the relays.

The meet officially starts tomorrow at 4 p.m. with qualifying action in diving and the 400 freestyle.

PRELIMS

Preliminaries in the remainder of the events will be held Saturday at 9 a.m. with finals getting under way at 1 p.m.

There is a Class B issue to settle too, with Tamalpais, Redwood and Terra Linda tying for the regular season title.

Time Out: Your Wife Had A Son

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Rookie Bill Hewitt became a father while playing for the Los Angeles Lakers against the Boston Celtics in last night's opening game of the championship National Basketball Association playoffs.

Word came during the second quarter that Hewitt's wife, Yvonne, had presented him with a son.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

By Associated Press

OAKLAND—Ralph McCoy, 161, Richmond, Calif., knocked out Wilfredo Hurst, 160½, Miami, Fla., 7.

LAS VEGAS, Nev.—Roger Rouse, Anaconda, Mont., stopped Ronnie Wilson, San Diego, 7, light heavyweights.

SENIOR TOURNEYS

Tennis Not Just For The Young

You can talk about alienation, lack of communication, and demonstrations, but there is no generation gap among tennis buffs.

Toddlers and teeners and the over-20 set play it. And so do their grandfathers.

That is pretty much what the big tennis extravaganza for the old "kids" May 6-11 is all about. That's when the Mill Valley Tennis Club becomes the capitol of national senior tennis action with four tournaments going at the same time, two of them sanctioned as national hard-court tournaments by the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association.

AGE GROUPS

The national prestige action will be in the 65 and 60 tournaments while the club also holds it traditional 45 and 55 tournaments.

Ted Wellman of Kentfield, all of 66, will be one of the entrants in the national meet. He may not win it, but you can bet he'll be having a ball.

Wellman, a retired Standard Oil executive and president of the College of Marin board of trustees, likes to keep busy, and tennis has helped do it for him.

"I won't say it's everything for me, but it makes me feel alive," he said. "I think people have finally realized that you don't have to quit playing when you have reached 25 or 30."

SINCE 12

Wellman has been a tennis buff since the age of 12, and that amounts to 54 years of perpetual tennis.

"I played in high school," he recalls. "But I didn't play tennis in college (at Cal at Berkeley) because I felt that it was only a minor sport. I went out for swimming, crew, track and didn't do too well."

Wellman, and the rest of the entrants in the Mill Valley Tournament, are shining examples that competitive activity and tennis won't put you under.

TED WELLMAN
Tennis veteran

PERPETUATING

"You can keep playing for a long, long time," he said. "Tennis perpetuates itself. The more you play, the longer you will be able to play. A prime example was, of course, King Gustav of Sweden who played until he was 87.

"Gardner Malloy is 55 and he plays with the young amateurs at Wimbledon," he added.

Wellman didn't burn up the tennis tour in his earlier playing days, although he did win the Pacific Northwest doubles title back in 1933 in Canada. But he has loved every minute of it.

PLAY HARD

"You'll see that at the tournament," he said. "You'll see all of them, keeping on. Their joints may be a little stiff, they may be patched up with sore elbows, but they're playing and playing hard."

Clippers, 4 Other Teams In State Soccer Tourney

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The California Clippers and four international soccer teams will play in a tournament in four California cities in May.

Also in the tournament announced here yesterday are America of Mexico City, Dukla of Czechoslovakia, West Bromwich Albion of England and Setubal of Portugal.

The Clippers will meet America on May 2 in the Los Angeles Coliseum and two days later in San Jose's Spartan Stadium.

On May 18, Dukla will play West Bromwich in Stanford Stadium while Setubal plays the Clippers in Fresno the same day.

Two doubleheaders will climax the action. The Clippers play West Bromwich and Setubal meets Dukla May 23 in Los Angeles. Dukla plays the Clippers and Setubal meets West Bromwich May 25 at Stanford.

Two final games, not a part of the tournament, will be between the Clippers and Frioentina of Italy in San Francisco's Kezar Stadium May 30 and June 1.

'For Sale' Sign Out For New York Jets

Irving Mitchell Felt, chairman of the Garden Corporation, said yesterday that conversations have been in progress with the management of the Super Bowl champions, but that the talks "are still indefinite and rather nebulous. If it could be worked out on a corporative basis, I think it would be fine."

The present ownership of the Jets, headed by Phil Iselin, have not set a price on their Joe Namath-led property, but estimates run as high and higher than $20 million. The Philadelphia Eagles commanded over $16 million in their recent forced sale.

The Garden, which owns the Knickerbockers and the Rangers in basketball and hockey, would have to reach a complicated agreement to gain control of the American Football League franchise, since pro football by-laws preclude ownership of a team by a corporation.

Weak Opposition Can Enable Declarer To Assume Victory

Strong opponents make life interesting, but it's very comfortable to play against weak opponents. You can usually tell what they're doing. You know that they would like to beat you, but you also know that certain plays are beyond them.

FORCES KING

West opened the six of spades, and East put up the ten to force out South's king. Declarer quite properly led a club to dummy's jack and then continued the clubs, forcing out the ace.

Now West led the jack of spades, and South had to guess who held the ace. If West were a weak player he wouldn't have the nerve to lead the jack of spades from such a holding as A-J-9. South could comfortably play low from the dummy against a weak opponent, relying on East to have the ace.

If South had done so in this case the spades would have blocked. The defenders would take two spades, one club and one diamond. But since West was a strong player there was reason to fear that he might hold the ace of spades.

WRONG GUESS

South guessed wrong, playing dummy's queen of spades. After taking the ace East felt sure he could defeat the contract by returning his last spade, but he could afford to try for bigger game since South could have only eight tricks at most. East therefore blandly returned another club.

South reasoned that East had started with only two spades. Now South would still make the contract with a little luck in diamonds, so he tried a finesse with the jack of diamonds.

TAKES KING

East took the king of diamonds and produced his other spade. Now the defenders collected a penalty of 200 points. If East had returned his third spade earlier, South would have escaped with a penalty of 100 points since he had eight tricks without the diamond finesse.

Lazy Old Soul

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — Mrs. Barbara Stone, celebrating her 100th birthday in Glasgow, said she had one complaint: "My relatives do too much for me. They are making me a lazy old soul."

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, April 24, the 114th day of 1969 with 251 to follow.

The moon is in its first quarter. The morning stars are Venus, Saturn and Mars. The evening stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1704, the first American newspaper to be printed on a regular basis — The Boston News-Letter—was published by John and Duncan Campbell.

In 1877, Northern rule of the South following the Civil War ended when President Rutherford Hayes ordered federal troops out of New Orleans.

In 1967, Soviet cosmonaut Vladirmir Kamarov was killed when the re-entry parachute snarled following an orbital space trip.

A thought for the day: British clergymen John Tillotson said, "They who are in the highest places, and have the most power, have the least liberty, because they are the most observed."

Lincoln Bank Stockholders Vote Merger

Lincoln National Bank stockholders have voted to merge with Commonwealth National Bank of San Francisco.

Earlier this week the proposed merger was approved by Commonwealth stockholders. The agreement provides for a cash transaction at $21 per share of Lincoln National stock on 87,500 outstanding shares, or a total of $1,837,500.

Lincoln National's resources at Dec. 31 were reported at $7.6 million. Commonwealth's resources at the same date were $63.9 million. Lincoln National has its headquarters in Santa Rosa and a branch office in San Rafael. Commonwealth has three offices in San Francisco and one in Pleasant Hill, Contra Costa County.

The agreement still requires the approval of the U.S Comptroller of the Currency. If this is received, the merged organization will take the Commonwealth name.

Earnings, Peace Talk Brighten Board Scene

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks edged higher today in moderate trading.

Traders took encouragement from the steady flow of bright corporate earnings for the first quarter and reports that the allies made major concessions at the Paris peace conference on Vietnam in an effort to achieve a breakthrough.

The UPI stock market indicator was up 0.27 per cent on 1,551 issues traded. Of these, 693 advanced and 595 declined.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Annuity Investment Has Best Income Guarantees

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I've got to retire soon and am wondering how best to use my savings to supplement Social Security. Is there any risk in buying an immediate annuity? — A.R.

A. If you have no heirs to consider, a straight life annuity will provide maximum monthly income guaranteed for life. Because income is fixed it is vulnerable to inflationary pressures, but insurance companies are beginning to offer variable income contracts.

Q. I bought Guerdon Industries at 46; it's now trading much lower. I also hold Gulf and Western at 60. Should I buy more, sell or wait for recovery in these two? — J. E.

A. As you probably know, Guerdon is controlled by City Investing through the latter's recent purchase of about 51 per cent of Guerdon's stock. Whether CNV is planning an ultimate merger is as yet undecided.

Guerdon acquisitions are expected to boost sales to around $150 million for fiscal 1969, ending April 30, and earnings are estimated at $1.30 a share. A year ago, 76 cents a share was reported on sales of $83.3 million. I'd hold for recovery — and longer if Guerdon is not merged into City Investing.

Gulf and Western I would not sacrifice at this time if you can afford to retain your shares.

No one really knows how the conglomerates as a group will fare under federal investigation of their acquisition policies. I'd use further buying power to diversify with some less volatile blue chips.

Marin County Planning: Some Specific Lacks

Important issues in Marin County's planning — or lack of it — got little or no attention in last week's emotion-packed hearing on County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker. Now that tempers have subsided a bit, the issues will bear examination.

First off, it should be emphasized that these conditions did not originate with Zucker. However, he must bear responsibility for taking no corrective measure in the three years he has been planning director.

Let's cite some specifics:

ITEM ONE: Reed School District's financial bind is due in part to the high cost of busing pupils to school. Most of the pupils live within walking distance of a school, yet must be bussed for safety's sake because Tiburon subdivisions — approved by the county before Tiburon incorporated — are nearly all dead-end affairs with single access via Tiburon Boulevard. To get to a school a few blocks from home, a child must traverse the heavily traveled boulevard.

In San Rafael, each subdivision plan is reviewed by the fire department, among others, for adequacy of access. There is still no such provision in the county.

ITEM TWO: In 1961, a committee of Novato citizens, appointed by the city council, drew up a report calling for more commercial zoning in the heart of Novato and its elimination in neighborhoods, to concentrate business for orderly city growth.

The proposal was thrown out at the insistence of the county planning department, which then was hired to draw up a master plan. It did not deliver the completed plan until late 1967. Meanwhile, a diffusion of small shopping centers had blighted Novato's commercial growth. These centers were approved in the plan the county finally delivered after a five-year delay.

ITEM THREE: Efforts to lure industry into areas zoned for it by the county have failed almost completely. The planning department denies it has discouraged them. Yet San Rafael has been highly successful in attracting industry to Northgate Industrial Park, which is under strict planning controls.

ITEM FOUR: Last year, the county public works department got embroiled with homeowners in Oak Manor and Greenbrae who had blocked drainage with driveway ramps. It forced removal of the ramps. But nothing has been done about the lack of county controls on driveway elevations and on curbs and gutters which brought the problem into being.

ITEM FIVE: Several new ordinances were pushed through recently to abate ark and houseboat nuisances in Richardson Bay. But the county still lacks a plan for Richardson Bay with the necessary ordinances to implement it. Because of county dilatoriness on this plan, running back some years, $70,000 spent by Mill Valley on a municipal yacht harbor may turn out to be money thrown down a dry hole.

ITEM SIX: Although the planning department is currently exercised about logging in West Marin, it has never come forth with an ordinance to control logging throughout the county — despite the very evident and much-remarked existence of thousands of acres of timberlands.

ITEM SEVEN: Hundreds of submerged acres along Marin County's shores are ready to be developed without any control if the temporary authority of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission should lapse. The county has on its books no plan for control of these tidelands, no ordinance spelling out their use.

The list could go on and on.

Do these items indicate planning, or lack of it? Do they indicate conservation, or lack of it?

Land planning is an attempt to shape the future by control of present developments. Its very essence is carefully spelled-out policies, implemented by ordinances. Yet the Marin County Planning Department, which is costing $387,716 this year, to great extent lacks these necessities, thus leaving the future to be shaped largely by the momentary whims of the planning commission or director.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Irony In Automobile Death Of Assemblyman Alan Pattee

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The sudden death of Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee, R-Salinas, in an automobile accident marks the loss not only of a good friend, but also of an outstanding legislator who has contributed more than his share to the economic interests of his state and legislative district.

Pattee's death was ironic. He was a champion of more safety on California's highways, and a firm supporter of measures which would assist in creating avenues of travel which would be safe for the public. Yet his own death was in a highway collision.

HE PLAYED almost a lone hand, at least verbally, in his sponsorship of state-controlled gambling through a state lottery. He carried the load for horse-racing and felt no compunctions in his belief that gaming should be permitted in California, as in Nevada, although he well knew this had no chance of passing the Legislature.

In fact, his theory was that people should not be hypocritical and should do openly what they do anyhow surreptitiously.

He was an ardent worker for the interests of his constituents. He was a dairy farmer, and one of his particular interests in the Legislature was the law involving milk pricing control.

AS A MODERATE Republican, he considered the agricultural worker as well as the farmer. This led to interest in working out a system for providing agricultural workers participation in unemployment insurance. It has not as yet been accomplished.

Generally, he was on the side of the moderates in legislation, and strove to put the interests of the state in the forefront on the thousands of matters on which he cast a vote during the long years he spent as a representative. His first Legislature was in 1955.

Personally, he could be classed as one of the most highly thought-of legislators in the Assembly.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

History is the only antidote to hysteria. . . . Our history is filled with strife, and once we come to understand that our greatness as a nation has grown, not out of complacency, but out of debate, disputes, and, regretably, sometimes bloodshed, we can take a more understanding look at the events which are sweeping the nation today. — Mortimer J. Adler.

In my opinion, the newspapers are equal to the courts — and sometimes ahead of the courts — in our system, in protecting the people's fundamental rights.—Robert F. Kennedy.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Two Despoiling Marin County

Isn't it interesting that our two champions of property rights and "progress" on the board of supervisors are following their past performances in despoiling Marin County.

San Rafael, with wall to wall gasoline stations, some with huge revolving signs yet, and a once-marina, now an excuse for a shopping center (Montecito), are only two of the monuments to the former members of the San Rafael City Council, Mr. (John F.) McInnis and Mr. (Louis H.) Baar. Oh yes, how could I forget to mention Scenic Avenue, San Rafael style, with its mud slides caused by unadorned duplex horrors approved by our champions over the objections of the planning commission, and the local residents who have to live with and pay for these horrors.

Are you as ready to accept the irreversible as are McInnis (insurance) and Mr. Baar (real estate), who now can plan for the whole county? Yesterday, San Rafael, today, Marin County; tomorrow, who knows?

What is love of America? The American dream, or is it privileges of some real estate interests, insurance agents, irresponsible builders and developers, etc., to get their ($), leaving a trampled county as a legacy. Haven't you had enough of political flim-flam?

JOHN E. CASCONE
San Rafael.

(Editor's note: Just to keep the record straight: Louis H. Baar was not on the San Rafael City Council when the former yacht harbor property was sold for development of Montecito Shopping Center.)

Drunken Driving Laws Unfair

I don't believe in drunk driving; let that be an established fact. But I am very disturbed at the fact a state, national and news media campaign is making a person who has had a few drinks, a drunk driver. This is just what is happening — causing people to lose their jobs, because of no license; causing marriages to break up because of no finances, etc., etc.

Your paper states March 30, "Drunk Driving Arrests Climb." On April 2 an article states 26 arrested in February on drunk driving. Some "kook" named David McAusland of San Anselmo wrote in March 13 that he is quite "disturbed" that the judges aren't stripping all people who drive with some drinks of their license to make a living. Today you have to have a license (auto license) to even breathe.

I always thought there was justice for all? Through this "reign of terror" by Mr. Reagan's hatchet-man Gordon C. Luce (state secretary for business and transportation) people are dragged into jail and told to take a test to see how much alcohol they have consumed. If they refuse you lose your license automatically. There is not right of appeal. This is no affording one protection under the constitution.

Parents Owe Police Support

If and when any of my sons come home complaining of police brutality in San Rafael, I am afraid my first concern will be for the welfare of the policeman. I simply cannot believe police brutality exists and I would like to believe juvenile crimes don't exist, however, each night the paper proved troubles brought on by juveniles to be quite evident.

We have been privileged to live in three areas of San Rafael where Sgt. Carl Selby of the San Rafael Police Department was also a homeowner and a father. As a good father he was also interested in all the children of the neighborhood and for which all of us as parents were most grateful. He is still well liked and respected by these children who are now young adults and who still appreciate him for the good policeman that he is.

I am sure if as parents we would be more supportive of the police it would have the same effect on the students who would then show respect for the rights and property of others and not be found always on the wrong side of the law.

Up With Zucker; Down With Baar

Happiness is having a planning director who knows what he's doing, isn't easily intimidated and has loyal supporters who will speak out in his defense.

And now, how do we go about recalling Bud Baar before he's up to any more mischief?

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

April 24, 1959

After two seals were left at the Marin County Humane Society's shelter in San Rafael, Mel Morse, society manager, warned residents against picking up baby seals at beaches.

An $8 million boating and commercial area on Richardson Bay, adjacent to Commodore Air Service was envisioned in a plant by Lt. Col. Thomas E. Nowell of Mill Valley and George Kappas.

20 YEARS AGO

April 24, 1949

Angel Island was opened to the public in a special outing sponsored by a citizen group from San Francisco that wanted San Francisco to buy the island for a recreation center.

The Civil Air Patrol reported it had enough applicants to form a squadron in Marin.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A BEGGAR STOOD in front of St. Louis' most fashionable hotel holding out a hat in each hand. The doorman said, "I don't want to chase you, mister, but what's the idea of two hats?" The beggar winked, and confided, "Business has been so good, I decided to open a branch office."

A Westchester golf club admitted a passionate, if hopeless player named Putney, who began his first round with a slice into a clubhouse window, followed by a vicious low hook that caught the president's wife squarely in her derriere. "What do you think we ought to do now?" whispered the flustered Mr. Putney to his caddy. "Well," said the caddy, "if we climb through this hedge here, we can catch a bus back to town."

MARQUIS CHILDS

Two Gentlemen From Illinois Dramatize Republican Division

WASHINGTON — No one has put it so bluntly, but whether the Republican party can contain both Charles H. Percy and Everett McKinley Dirksen is the unanswered question troubling many loyal party members. By a curious coincidence the two senators from Illinois dramatize opposing poles of opinion on a great many issues.

They are perfectly type-cast for their respective roles. Dirksen is the bravura orator of the past who has made a national reputation as a character actor radiating the noble virtues and the homely humor of another day. At the same time he is a virtuoso wheeler dealer, who knew how to play President Lyndon Johnson's game and still kept a strong hold on the political-business complex of his home state.

Percy is a self-made man whose fortune has given him the independence to pursue a career in public life and thereby satisfy his concience which was not content with a money success. Much younger in appearance than his 49 years, he has consistently goaded his party into taking positions that dismay the conservative middle mass. They resent him as an interloper, a newcomer, without the comfortable antecedents of a Dirksen.

CURRENTLY it is Percy's opposition to the Nixon administration's stand favoring deployment of an anti-ballistic missile system that is arousing the ire of the party loyalists. As the ABM is made a test of party faith, Percy is looked on as a defector who might better be outside the fold.

Percy's friends — those in the party who are with him on the ABM — see something like an organized effort to force him out and insure his defeat when he comes up for reelection in 1972. They point the finger at the Nixon communications director, Herbert Klein, accusing him of inspiring anti-Parcy stories in the fiercely hostile Chicago Tribune. Klein denies this and, given the Tribune's perspective, inspiration was hardly necessary.

THE ISSUE is, of course, larger than one of personalities or even the opinions of opposing individuals. The new Republican national chairman, Rogers Morton, put it very well in his opening speech when he said that the Republican party had to expand its horizons and attract minorities, the young and others who have long regarded the GOP as a surviving fossil.

Morton also said that he would work through the national committee to get congressional approval for the ABM. That dismayed Percy and the other Republicans in opposition, who had hoped the missile would not be projected into partisan politics.

THE QUANDARY of the Republicans as a minority party is not new. It is only rare that an incoming chairman should look so candidly at the narrow precincts over which he must preside. Since 1933 the party has controlled Congress for only two brief periods. Thanks to an enormously popular hero, the late Dwight D. Eisenhower, a Republican was president for eight years.

Mavericks, dissenters even, have found the atmosphere within the Grand Old Party chilly if not downright frigid.

Percy will continue to dissent on the ABM issue out of conscience and conviction. His hope is to persuade the president that it is possible to postpone deployment while further research into the ABM goes forward. In a recent speech he said:

"In the 1950s the United States spent more than $30 billion on bomber defenses in two systems that our military experts later admitted were obsolete and totally inadequate even before they were completed. That was $30 billion that might have been spent on better schools, on good housing, on adequate transportation, and on the hundreds of other domestic tasks pressing urgently on our society. Much of that expenditure now lies frozen, useless and forgotten in the Arctic wasteland."

That, said Percy, promises to be the fate of the ABM. If this is heresy and the policitcal line is drawn on the ABM issue, Percy becomes an outcast.

IN LANDS ABROAD

Irony Of Truong And Son Who Cannot Return

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

David Truong is a serious faced young Vietnamese man with a head of thick, black hair parted on the side, glasses with black shell rims and rather tall. He seeks political asylum in the United States because he believes to return to South Vietnam would mean at least five years in prison or death through frontline duty.

There is a compelling reason for this. David is the son of Truong Dinh Dzu, who as a peace candidate on the "White Dove" slate in South Vietnam's 1967 presidential elections won more than 800,000 votes and ran second only to President Nguyen Van Thieu.

He was among a score of political opponents of the Thieu regime rounded up some four months after the election and placed in protective custody "to insure their safety."

RELEASED and re-arrested on May 1, 1968, Dzu currently is serving a five-year prison term on charges of conduct "detrimental to the anti-Communist spirit of the people and the armed forces."

The particular irony of Dzu's plight is that his campaign platform, and presumably the main reason for his arrest, contained three important points then opposed but now advocated by Thieu—a ceasefire, negotiations with the National Liberation Front and an amnesty for the Viet Cong.

The point is illustrated in a letter written from prison this month to his son. Here are excerpts:

"I THINK with the last offensive of the Front (the Viet Cong), Nixon will be obliged to choose one option—the best - would be a peace cabinet which can begin the talks.

". . . I believe that our views will eventually prevail and groups in South Vietnam will need such people who can look ahead of their times.

"I think the constitution needs to be amended. The life of a democratic opposition must be guaranteed if we ever want to end the war.

"There are absolutely no differences between Thieu's proposal for direct talks with the Viet Cong and my campaign program in 1967. Yet, it took everybody two years to realize that.

"I THINK a general amnsty will be of the greatest help to Saigon. Those non-Communist Nationalists such as myself should have a voice in the political future of South Vietnam, either within the government or as local opposition.

". . . It is a big step to take but without it there is no hope of ending the war before 1971. The presidential elections come up in 1971 and by that time the political system will be a wreck.

"Who will there be left to run?"

DZU'S SON, the 23-year-old David, graduated from Stanford University last June and since has spent his time campaigning for Sen. Eugene McCarthy, lecturing, and lobbying for his father's release.

He also sees Thieu's reversed position as vindication for his father, and believes that his father soon will be, or already may have been released to take part in secret talks.

"A man ought to feel what he's saying — I never heard a man yell 'ouch' without enthusiasm."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Generating The Bridge Gap At Entrance To Kent Woodlands

There seems to be something about a bridge that makes people want to orate.

At the wide wooden bridge at the College of Marin the other day, a starry-eyed girl came up and suggested:

"They should do as they do it in Europe — let the streams branch out and make the land more valuable." The coed said she is Sherry Walther of Lucas Valley and is interested in flood control.

Goateed Les Zuvier reminisced, saying, "I used to swim here when I was five. I was born here." Then he grew quite serious and remarked, "Why can't they think first of the fish which we can eat, then flood control?"

Other students questioned college planning director Dale Fleming: "What about making the channel deeper?" And, "What are the chances of foliating the area when you have completed this work?"

Twice students yelled out, "Talk louder!"

Twice Fleming, apparently over 30, said he was talking as loud as he was made to talk and went right on calmly explaining what had happened in the creek's history —before and after the Corps of Engineers.

SOME BRIDGES, probably too narrow, see no rallies. For example, there is an arched, green footbridge a short way down the stream which, at most, gets a few lovers who stop to hold hands or each other in addition to its regular foot traffic. It's quite romantic except for the bits of paper, cans and bottles in the creek.

Mrs. Jones made no claim to being an orator but was more interested in pointing out a brown mark on a culvert in Tamalpais Creek which she said was last winter's high water mark.

WE GOT ANOTHER telephone call from Mary Chinn Patrick of Kentfield, who is still running her crusade to find another name for Marinite. Herlatest is Marinthian.

She said that Boojum, a black animal with white paws and a white shirtfront under his chin, sometimes sleeps on the lawn. The other day at about 6 a.m., she let the cat into the house with what she thought to be a leaf on his tail.

As he entered the door, he flicked his tail and off flew a snail, leaving a slathery mark behind. We told the lady, who seemed awfully nice, that there was just nothing we could do.

ART BUCHWALD

Professors Show Great Minds, High Courage In Campus Riots

One of the things that impresses people about the student demonstrations is the strong stand that some members of the faculty are taking on the issues.

I was on the campus of Northamnesty University and ran into a professor who was trying to stop his nose from bleeding. His clothes were torn up and he was walking with a pronounced limp.

"What happened, professor?" I asked, as I helped him search for his glasses.

"The militant students just took over my office and threw me down the stairs."

"Why, that's terrible," I said.

"FROM MY POINT of view it is, but I think we have to look at it from their point of view. Why did they throw me down the stairs? Where have we, as faculty, failed them?"

"Are you going to press charges?"

"On the contrary. If I pressed charges, I would only be playing into the hands of the repressive forces outside the university who would like nothing better than to see the students arrested for assault."

"But they did assault you?"

"YES. I HAVE to admit I was surprised about that. But there was one heartening note. As they threw me down the stairs, one of the students yelled, 'It isn't you, professor. It's the system.'"

"That must have made you feel better."

"As I was tumbling down, the thought did occur to me that at least there was nothing personal in it."

"Say, professor, isn't that the philosophy building going up in flames?"

"I BELIEVE it is. Now, why did they have to go and set fire to the philosophy building?"

"I was going to ask you that."

"I'm not quite sure, because I haven't seen any of the students since they threw me down the stairs. My guess is that it probably has to do with something the administration and the students are at odds about."

"But that's a terrible thing to do."

"I DON'T THINK we should make judgments until all facts are in. I would say burning down a philosophy building could be interpreted as an unlawful act. At the same time, there are moments when an unlawful act can bring about just reforms."

"But the books, the records, the papers are all going up in smoke. Shouldn't we at least call the fire department?"

"I don't believe the fire department should be called until the faculty has met and voted on what course of action should be taken. There are times when a fire department can only inflame a situation. We should also hear from the students who started the fire and get their side of it. After all, they have as much stake in the university as anyone else, and if they don't want a philosophy building, we should at least listen to their arguments."

"I NEVER THOUGHT of it that way," I admitted. "Professor, I know you can't see very well without your glasses, but I believe the militant students over at the quadrangle are building a scaffold. They wouldn't hang anyone, would they?"

"They haven't before," the professor said. "But it's quite possible that this is their way of seeking a confrontation with the establishment."

As we were talking, a group of students rushed up and grabbed the professor. "We got one here," the ringleader shouted. "Get the rope."

"Don't worry professor," I shouted as I was pushed away by the mob. "I'll get the police."

"I wish you wouldn't," he said calmly, as the students led him toward the scaffold. "If we don't let the students try new methods of activism, they'll never know for themselves which ones work and which ones are counterproductive."

Petaluma Democrats Will Gather Sunday

Sonoma County Democrats will gather Sunday at 2 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Barlas, 195 Bailey Avenue, Petaluma, for a cocktail, swimming and jazz party.

Entertainment will feature the Walter Oster Jazz Trio. Oster, a music teacher, instructs a jazz course at Sonoma State College. John F. Shea, chairman of the Sonoma County Democratic Central Committee, describes the event as also an opportunity to discuss party issues.

Students Win Stocks As Prizes In Contest

Four Marin high school students yesterday received shares of stock and a savings deposit as prizes for their entries in the 14th annual Invest In America competition.

Top prize in the county went to Pamela Williams, a 17-year-old senior at San Domenico School for Girls in Sleepy Hollow. She received one share of common stock of Southern Pacific Co. at the award luncheon at the Woodlands restaurant, Kentfield.

The awards were presented by Kimball Palm, vice president of Brush Slocumb and Co., at the luncheon sponsored by the Ross Valley Kiwanis Club and the Northern California Industry-Education Council. The competition consisted of essays on investment.
